STATE AND NATIONAL BANK STATEMENTS

Quotations in this department are given per share, not per cent, except for stocks of Canadian Institutions, and are as near as possible for the closing day of the month preceding date of issue. though often are nominal. An asterisk (*) denotes sales.

Figures of deposits, capital and profits for the national banks are from the Comptroller's last call; for all other institutions they are the latest obtainable, direct returns being procured by us where no periodic statements are required. For the Clearing House banks of New York, Philadelphia and Boston, deposits are taken from the latest weekly statement.

REVIEW OF OCTOBER—COMMERCIAL AND FINANCIAL EVENTS.

October was the month before the Presidential election, set for Tuesday, Nov. 8, and as the day for that event came nearer it exercised an increasingly disturbing effect upon general trade, unquestionably lessening activity even if it did not cause an actual setback. The Presidential campaign became very heated as the month progressed, and charges and counter-charges were flung with great vehemence by the adherents of the two political parties against each other. The Democrats, under the leadership of Franklin D. Roosevelt, charged President Hoover and his Administration as incompetent and as directly responsible for the unparalleled depression in trade with which the country has been inflicted, and insisted, accordingly, that no revival in trade could be depended upon unless the Republicans were ousted from power. The Republicans in turn urged that the Democrats could not be trusted, that they were wedded to radical and unsound doctrines, that the Democratic party was committed to a policy of tariff revision, that this meant removal of protection from the working classes and also meant lowering the standard of living, and that at all events President Hoover ought to be allowed to carry to completion his policies for the restoration of business activity and prosperity, inasmuch as these policies had been unquestionably constructive, whereas the policies advocated and advanced by Mr. Roosevelt and the Democrats were indubitably destructive. President Hoover himself, in an address on Monday, Oct. 31, did not hesitate to declare that a Democratic victory would "bring disaster to the fireside of your home," and that it would "destroy the very foundations of our American system."

Both President Hoover and Mr. Roosevelt conducted their campaigns with great energy, making trips all over the country, and both being accorded most enthusiastic receptions wherever they went, and wherever they spoke and proclaimed their views, and there appeared every reason for thinking that the aggressive way in which Mr. Hoover defended and enlarged upon the acts of his Administration gained for him the support of many wavering adherents in his own party who had been luke-warm or indifferent because of the unfortunate and sad condition of trade, though whether he also made votes for himself in the opposition party remains for the election to determine. One thing was certain, namely, that new confidence was infused into the Republicans by President Hoover's aggressive action, and they no longer proceeded as if their case was hopeless, as assumed by many of them during the earlier stages of the campaign. In the meantime Governor Roosevelt pushed his campaign with equal vigor and determination, and indicated unqualified confidence in the outcome. This confidence appeared to be shared by the betting fraternity, as the odds in his favor increased from 2½ to 1 to 5 to 1 by the end of October.

The deterrent effect upon trade became increasingly apparent as the political controversy grew in intensity and bitterness. In this state of things a large mass of the general public stood by in positive bewilderment, and furthermore, as is always the case when a great political uncertainty is involved, no one was inclined to venture upon new commitments so long as the outcome remained undetermined. Enterprise, accordingly, was held in abeyance. The prevailing disposition was to think that in general the course of industry had definitely turned the corner with the advent of the second half of the year, and that the trend would continue upward even if the recovery then inaugurated made little further progress for the time being. There were not lacking indications to confirm this view, though there was also evidence of slackening in some trades that had given the earliest manifestations of returning activity—the textile trades, for instance, which were inclined to lessen their speed of recovery. Lumber production also showed a falling off again, as noted further below, and building operations continued on a very reduced scale. Car loadings began to run a little larger from week to week, though still making decidedly unfavorable comparisons with 1931, with the result that for three successive weeks the American Railway Association, namely, for the week ending Oct. 1, the week ending Oct. 8, and the week ending Oct. 15, was able to report that loading of revenue freight had reached the highest figures for any week in the year 1932, though in the week ending Oct. 22 there came a falling off again, and in all cases there were heavy losses as compared with the corresponding weeks of 1931, and still heavier losses as compared with 1930. For the week ending Oct. 1 the loading of revenue freight on all the roads of the United States reached 622,075 cars; in the week ending Oct. 8 there was an increase to 625,636 cars; in the week ending Oct. 15 to 650,578 cars, followed by a falling off to 642,173 cars in the week ending Oct. 22. The same weeks of 1931 the loadings tapered down from 777,712 cars to 769,673 cars, and in the corresponding weeks of 1930 from 971,255 cars to 959,492 cars. The production of electricity by the electric light and power industry of the United States also showed slight increases from week to week, though running well behind all the years immediately preceding back to 1929. The output in kilowatt hours increased from 1,499,459,000 in the week ending Oct. 1 to 1,533,028,000 in the week ending Oct. 29. In 1931 the output for the different weeks was irregular, but was 1,645,587,000 units in the week ending Oct. 1 and 1,651,792,000 in the week ending Oct. 29; in 1930 the amounts were 1,711,123,000 in the first week and 1,741,295,000 in the last week, and in 1929, 1,819,276,000 in the first week and 1,815,749,000 in the last week of the month. The production of coal is perhaps an even better indication of the state of trade activity, and here we find that the amount of bituminous coal mined was 6,790,000 tons in the week ending Oct. 1; 7,255,000 tons in the week ending Oct. 8; 7,888,000 tons in the week ending Oct. 15, and 7,800,000 tons in the week ending Oct. 22. In 1931 the quantity mined was 7,860,000 tons in the week ending Oct. 3; 7,848,000 tons in the week ending Oct. 10; 8,148,000 tons in the week ending Oct. 17, and 8,144,000 tons in the week ending Oct. 24. The close approach here to the 1931 output attracts attention. Then, also, steel production, while, as in all the other cases, remaining at a very low ebb, recorded slightly expanding activity, with the mills of the United States engaged to 20% of capacity at the close of the month as against 17½% at the opening of the month. Nevertheless, the political campaign exercised a retarding effect on trade, and the tendency to recovery in trade and business as a whole was arrested, even if not actually reversed.

As it happened, some decidedly distressing events, of a highly important character, occurred which suggested the possibility of a slowing down in the process of recovery entirely independent of the outcome of the political campaign. In this we allude to a new breakdown in the course of commodity values, and in particular the collapse in wheat prices, to the lowest figures recorded in centuries, and the renewed decline in the market value of cotton, the one the chief money crop of the West and the other the chief money crop of the South. This obviously was no small matter, since it meant further distress to the agricultural classes of the country, already reduced to dire extremity. This breakdown in commodity values attracted the more attention inasmuch as the change for the better in the general industrial situation, inaugurated during the second half of the year, appeared to have had its origin very largely in the recovery which then occurred in wheat and cotton, and which certainly was greatly aided by such recovery. The depth to which the price of wheat in the markets of the world fell during October was the sensational feature of the month, and it had bearings away beyond the limits of the United States, extending in its ramifications to many other parts of the world. It was obviously a matter of vital concern to Argentina and Australia, as well as to the United States and Canada, and likewise to the surplus grain producing countries of Central Europe.

The Breakdown of the Pound Sterling.

Another most unfortunate development, and also of wide concern, was the complete collapse in the value of the pound sterling in the foreign exchange market. This last, affecting the financial prestige of one of the great countries of the world, whose financial standing has always been preeminently high, could not be viewed with unconcern even in the United States, though the disposition in Great Britain itself was to treat the depreciation with complete indifference, if one may judge of public comment on the subject. Thus the financial editor of the "Times" of London was quoted as saying: "The so-called fall of the pound is of no importance," adding, "the only really important fact is that the old gold standard has ceased to exist owing to about three-quarters of the gold supplies being cornered by a few countries." Bearing in mind that cable transfers on London had tumbled badly on several different occasions during the month, and had touched $3.27¼ on Oct. 26, the lowest figure since Dec. 8 1931, against $3.46 1/16 on Oct. 8, thus showing a decline of 19c. in the brief space of less than three weeks, this seemed a light way of dismissing a serious matter, though it may have been merely a reflection of the British habit of putting a brave face on things in times of stress and trouble. The month's fluctuations in the rate of sterling, and the causes underlying the same or assigned for them, are discussed at length in our review of the foreign exchange market in the closing paragraphs of this article.

The Drop in Wheat Prices to the Lowest Level Reached in Centuries—Other Grain Prices Also Lower—The Distress of the Farming Classes.

It is hardly possible to exaggerate the importance and significance of the further great drop in the price of wheat. On Wednesday, Oct. 26, the price of the December option for wheat in Chicago tumbled to 44⅛c., and it might be added that on Monday, Oct. 31, the price went still lower, touching 43⅛c., and reached the lowest level recorded in 340 years. The "Wall Street Journal" for Wednesday, Oct. 26, in noting the break on that day, observed that world wheat prices had sagged on that day to the lowest levels that have prevailed since 1592, when English farmers received only 50c. a bushel for their wheat. In the Liverpool grain pit the price on Oct. 26 was only slightly more than that figure. Never in the history of the United States, it was pointed out, had prices been so low as the figure reached in the Chicago pit on Oct. 26. Wheat in Canada's chief market sold down to 46c. for the December option on Oct. 26, the smallest price in the history of that 27-year old exchange. In January 1895 (37 years ago) wheat in the Chicago market had sold down to 48⅞c. The periods of business stress in 1907 and 1921 passed without that record having been disturbed. On Oct. 5 1931, however, wheat culminated a sustained downward movement, with the bottom price of 44⅝c. A rally to 73c. followed in the autumn of that year, but the market failed to hold that gain. On July 16 1932, under the pressure of hedging of winter wheat, a large spring wheat crop, and generally favorable world prospects, wheat slumped to 44¼c. (for the July option), and that price was again reached on July 18. It was also remarked that the decline within the past few weeks had put the American market within 2c. of world shipping competition for the first time in 23 months, and the hope was expressed that much of the surplus wheat in this country would be exported shortly, thus improving the statistical position. The chief immediate unsettling factor in the break on Oct. 26 was official announcement that a plan for a Government bonus to wheat growers in Canada had been dropped. The previous week (Oct. 19) Premier Bennett had told the Dominion House of Commons that the Canadian Government was considering proposals to grant a bonus of 5c. a bushel to prairie wheat growers. But on Tuesday, Oct. 25, Mr. Bennett made it plain to the House of Commons that the Dominion was not in a position to pay a wheat bonus the present year. Associated Press advices from Chicago, Oct. 26, observed that not only had the bonus policy of the Canadian Government on wheat been discontinued, but Government-sponsored buying support for the wheat market had also apparently been withdrawn, and Canadian prices were left to shift for themselves.

The 1932 wheat crop of the United States as a whole is much below that of 1931, notwithstanding that the spring wheat yield is considerably better than that of 1931, when it was almost a complete failure. The 1932 winter wheat crop, on the other hand, is much below the exceptional yield of 1931, and, accordingly, the total of all wheat for 1932 in the United States is 712,000,000 bushels against 894,000,000 bushels in 1931 (according to the crop report of the United States Department of Agriculture, made public on Oct. 10) a decrease, it will be observed, of 182,000,000 bushels. On the other hand, the Canadian crop is one of the largest ever raised in the Dominion, it being estimated at 467,150,000 bushels against only 304,144,000 bushels in 1931, and comparing with 420,672,000 bushels in 1930 and 304,520,000 bushels in 1929, and Chicago dispatches said that the fixed determination of Canada to sell her wheat crop in world markets at any price was given by economists in the grain trade as the reason behind the crash of wheat values to the lowest levels in history. It is well known that Canada always follows the practice of getting its big surplus out of the country as soon as possible, and Canadian exports have latterly been running heavy while those of the United States remained light. In that respect the Dominion has pursued a policy quite in contrast with that of the United States. When our Federal Farm Board was engaged in buying up vast supplies of wheat, in sight of the whole world, Canada quietly disposed of her large surplus. She appears to be pursuing the same policy now. And it should not be forgotten that under the Ottawa agreement Canada is to have a preference of 6c. a bushel on wheat going to Great Britain as compared with grain coming from the United States and other foreign countries. In addition to all this it was proposed, as already noted, to grant a bonus of 5c. a bushel to prairie wheat growers, but which scheme had to be abandoned because of the financial condition of the Dominion Government.

After the break in wheat prices on Oct. 25 and Oct. 26, on which latter day the December option for wheat in Chicago had touched 44⅛c. as against 54⅜c. on Oct. 4, there were only occasional feeble rallies, and on Oct. 29 an even lower depth was reached, when sales occurred at 43⅞c., while on Monday, Oct. 31, there was a further dip to 43⅛c., though the close for the day was 44c., which compares with an opening price of 53½c. on Oct. 1. In the May wheat option at Chicago a low of 48⅝c. was reached on Oct. 31 against 59⅝c. on Oct. 4, with the close Oct. 31 at 49½c. against the opening price on Oct. 1 of 58½c. At Winnipeg greater steadiness developed. The December wheat option touched 46c. on Oct. 26, and this compared with a high figure for the month of 51⅞c., but on Oct. 31 there was a further drop to 44¾c. though the close on that day for the Winnipeg December option was 46⅛c., which compared with the opening price of 51⅝c. on Oct. 1. All the other leading grains also suffered further severe declines during October, adding to the distress of the Western agricultural communities. In these instances the low figures of the month were reached on Oct. 26, with a moderate upward reaction thereafter. The December option for corn in Chicago sold down from 28¼c. a bushel Oct. 4 to 23⅞c. Oct. 26, with the close Oct. 31 at 24½c., which compares with an opening price on Oct. 1 of 27⅝c. In the case of oats, the December option at Chicago sold down to 14¾c. Oct. 26 from 17⅜c. Oct. 1, and closed Oct. 31 at 15⅜c.

As indicating the depth of the depression in grain prices and the hardships it is working, some striking news dispatches came from various parts of the world. Thus Canadian press advices from Calgary, Oct. 26, stated that wheat was being sold for $9 a ton, while the prevailing price for sawdust was $10 a ton, so the solicitor for a Calgary district farmer told the master in chambers there on that day. According to Associated Press advices from Des Moines, Iowa, Oct. 9, prices for corn were so low (farmers being offered at that time only 13 or 14c. a bushel, and further declines occurring later in the month), and the harvest so plentiful that many Iowa farmers were considering the use of corn for fuel. In the case of oats Chicago advices Oct. 9 stated that prices of oats were down to levels that represented only about 7 to 10c. a bushel to the farmers who grow the grain.

Secretary of Agriculture Hyde Modifies Restrictions on Trading on Chicago Board of Trade in Grain Futures—Governing Long and Short Position.

The Secretary of Agriculture, Arthur M. Hyde, announced on Oct. 22 that he had abolished, effective Oct. 24, the requirement that reports be made to the Grain Futures Administration on trades by individuals on grain exchanges which involve more than 500,000 bushels. The "United States Daily" of Oct. 25, in referring to the matter, said:

Their reports form a large part of the basis on which the Grain Futures Administration has regulated the grain exchanges, according to information given at the Department. They were eliminated by Secretary Hyde to determine whether or not the contention is true that they keep traders out of the market, narrowing the scope of trading and lowering grain prices, according to a statement by the Secretary announcing his action. Mr. Hyde added that the Chicago Board of Trade had taken action to prevent undue short selling.

Secretary Hyde's statement announcing suspension of the report requirement as of Oct. 24, follows in full text:

It has long been the contention of the grain exchanges and of the grain dealers that the regulations of the Grain Futures Administration requiring reports of trades in excess of 500,000 bushels by individual traders have resulted in narrowing the market and lowering the prices of grains. Grain dealers are now almost unanimous in saying that a modification of this regulation would result in larger purchasing and broader commodity markets.

While there can be no absolute assurance that such modification will result in immediately higher prices, there is widely held opinion that broader markets will finally result in better prices to the farmers.

In view of those representations and of the fact that prices of wheat, corn and oats are ruinously low, I am persuaded to test the truth of such views and have directed that on and after Monday, Oct. 24 1932, the requirement that the long and short position of individual accounts be waived.

This modification is conditioned on the fact that the Chicago Board of Trade has by resolution of its board of directors undertaken to prevent harmful short selling. This modification shall remain in effect until notice of hearing on the reinstatement of the regulations shall have been given or until undue price fluctuations or price levels occur which indicate manipulation of the market.

Chicago Board of Trade to Call for Confidential Reports from Members on Short Interest in Grain.

According to the Chicago "Journal of Commerce" of Oct. 27, the Business Conduct Committee of the Chicago Board of Trade served notice to members that reports on excessive short interest in grain would be required. Forms for use in reporting such holdings were mailed to members of the Exchange on Oct. 26, said the paper quoted, which added:

This action follows the recent removal of Federal restrictions which required reports to the Grain Futures Administration of open interests of 500,000 bushels or more. It is understood that the Board of Trade requirements will set the limits at similar figure.

The ruling is in accordance with the agreement with the Grain Futures Administration that upon lifting of Government restrictions the Exchange would take steps to prevent excessive short selling. Daily reports are scheduled to be made beginning Friday, Oct. 28. A statement accompanying the form said:

"In accordance with a resolution adopted by the Board of Directors at a special meeting on Thursday, Oct. 20 1932, the Business Conduct Committee has been charged with the duty of prohibiting all harmful speculative short selling. The attached form is sent to you as a part of the necessary procedure which the Business Conduct Committee will be obliged to follow in order that they may have proper supervision over the short interest in the grain market.

"These reports will be absolutely confidential and the names of individuals as expressed by code numbers or letters will not be disclosed to the Business Conduct Committee unless the short lines of individuals exceed such limits as are set from time to time by the directors for the guidance of the Committee and these become a menace to the market. Information, without disclosure of identity, will, of course, be available to the Business Conduct Committee."

Pound Sterling Drop Affects Grain—Withdrawal of Support Reflected in Chicago Prices.

Associated Press accounts from Chicago, Oct. 24, stated:

Shaken by the collapse of British exchange to the lowest point since England went off the gold standard, wheat, corn and rye to-day reached new bottom records.

Apparent withdrawal of British Government support for sterling rates had an unsettling effect on grain values, and proved more than a counterbalance for any stimulating effects of removal by the United States Department of Agriculture of certain restrictions against future delivery dealings. Crop news both from Argentina and Australia was bearish, and export demand for North American wheat was another disappointment.

Although Canada was offering near-by shipments of wheat at prices lower than those of any other country, Argentina was reported offering for deferred shipment at prices well under those of Canada.

Hog Prices at 36-Year Low—Weaker Pork Markets Held Cause of Slump.

Hogs sold down to a 36-year low in Chicago on Oct. 31, when the market continued its long sinking spell. Top price was $3.30 on 180-270-pound weights which ranged down to $3.25. A few heavies and plainer kinds sold downward to $3 and below. The declines were attributed mainly to weakened pork markets as receipts were lighter. It is true, however, the Chicago advices said, that slightly smaller receipts had been counterbalanced by direct country buying of packers.

Course of Coffee and Sugar Prices—Coffee Suffers a Sharp Reduction on the Ending of the Brazilian Revolution and the Opening of Brazilian Ports to Export Shipments—Sugar Prices Also Weaken at the Close of the Month.

As was to be expected, the ending of the Brazilian revolution and the opening of the port of Santos to export shipments brought a big decline in the price of coffee, especially of the Brazilian grades. Washington advices, Oct. 14, stated that, according to a report to the Department of Commerce, the Brazilian Federal Government had repealed the decree closing the port of Santos, and Associated Press advices from Rio de Janeiro stated that the first coffee permitted to leave the Sao Paulo port of Santos since it had been blockaded by the Navy had been taken aboard the Munson liner "Western World" on that day. It loaded 50,000 sacks —132 pounds each—for New York. It was stated that the "Western World" was the first ship to enter the port for coffee since the revolt began on July 9. News of this first shipment from the port of Santos resulted in extensive liquidation of coffee futures on the New York Coffee and Sugar Exchange on Oct. 13. Prices for Santos contracts closed at declines of 26 to 39 points for the day. These declines compared with a maximum drop of 200 points when the Brazilian rebellion ended. The remaining quantity of 38,500 bags of the October allotment of 62,500 bags of Farm Board coffee were sold on Oct. 4 at prices ranging from 10.56c. to 11.65c., according to announcement by the Grain Stabilization Corporation. These prices compared with 11½c. to 15c. per pound paid for the 24,000 bags of the October allotment sold on Sept. 30 and 14.27c. to 14.52c. for the September allotment of 62,500 bags. The coffee cost the Farm Board the equivalent of about 8c. in wheat. No. 7 Rio for spot delivery was quoted at 8¼c. Oct. 31 against a nominal price of 10c bid on Sept. 28. This compared with 8¾c. bid Aug. 31; 8¼c. July 30; 7⅞c. on June 30; 8½c. May 31; 7¾@7⅞c. April 30; 7¼c. Mar. 31; 7¼c. Feb. 29; 7⅛c. Jan. 30; also with 7@7¼c. Dec. 31; 6½@6⅝c. Nov. 30; 5¾@6c. Oct. 31; 5½c. Sept. 30; 5½@5¾c. Aug. 31; 5⅞@6c. July 31; 6⅞@7c. June 30; 6⅝c. May 29; 6½@6¾c. April 30; 5½c. March 31; 5½@5⅝c. Feb. 28; 6¾c. Jan. 31, all in the year 1931, and with 7¼@7½c. Dec. 31 1930. No. 7 Santos Oct. 31 was quoted at 10¼c. There was no quotation Sept. 30 for this grade, but earlier in September the price was 14c. bid. This compares with 12⅝c. Aug. 31; 10¼c. July 30; 9⅛@9⅝c. June 30; 9¾@10c. May 31; 9c. bid April 30; 8½c. bid March 31; 8½c. Feb. 29; 8⅝c. Jan. 30. It also compares with 8@8¼c. Dec. 31; 7¼@7½c. Nov. 30; 7¼c. bid Oct. 31; 6⅞@7c. Sept. 30; 6⅝@6⅞c. Aug. 31; 7½@7⅞c. July 31; 8½@9c. June 30; 8½@8¾c. May 29, and the same figures for April 30; 7¾@8c. March 31; 7¾@8c. Feb. 28; 8¾@9c. Jan. 31, all in the year 1931, and with 8¾@9¼c. Dec. 31 1930, and 11¼c. Oct 31 1930.

Sugar prices moved upward the first half of the month but suffered a setback the latter half. Cuban raw sugar at the end of September had sold at the equivalent of 1.14c. c.i.f. On Oct. 13 sales were made at 1.20c., the high price for the year. After that, however, there were successive declines and on Oct. 28 sales were made at the equivalent of 1.06c., 1.05c. and 1.04c. c.i.f. The wholesale price of refined sugar here in New York City was reduced by the leading refineries on Oct. 3 from 4.25c. to 4.15c., but marked up again to 4.25c. at the close of business on Oct. 15. Havana advices Oct. 17 stated that the conference scheduled for that day between President Machado and the directors of the Sugar Institute, the official body controlling the sugar industry, at which the figures for the 1933 sugar crop were to be decided had been indefinitely postponed according to the President of the Institute. The advices said that while no official statement was forthcoming as to the reason for the delay, information obtained in sugar circles indicated that it resulted from dissension over what disposition should be made of the 700,000 ton pool. The Sugar Institute recommended that the crop be limited to 2,000,000 tons, thus permitting liquidation of the pool as well as of the 300,000 tons of segregated sugar which must be disposed of yearly under the Chadbourne Plan. Some producers headed by Dr. Orestes Ferrara, Secretary of State who several days previously came out in an editorial against this plan desired to see the mill owners authorized to grind 2,700,000 tons and to hold the 700,000 tons over until next year.

The Renewed Break in the Market Price of Cotton—The Course of Textiles—Cotton Goods Less Active, but Rayon at Capacity Output.

The renewed break in the price of cotton was hardly less disturbing than the collapse in wheat and grain, and was part of the distressing decline in the market values of leading commodities which was such a noteworthy feature of the month. Export shipments of the staple continued to run well ahead of those for the previous year and home consumption of cotton was also well maintained, but disappointment was felt because the Agricultural Bureau at Washington in its monthly report at the beginning of October did not show a further reduction in the estimated prospective yield of the growing crop, though nevertheless forecasting a very short crop as compared with the crop grown in 1931. The Department in its report made public on Saturday, Oct. 8, put the yield at 11,425,000 bales as against 11,310,000 bales the estimate a month earlier. This was nevertheless a decline of over 5½ million bales as compared with the actual harvest the previous season at 17,096,000 bales, but the estimate was about 300,000 bales larger than the average of private estimates, and proved quite a bombshell to those in the trade who had predicted that the figures would be under 11,000,000 bales. Selling started before the report appeared and increased in volume afterward, the net setback in cotton futures running from 43 to 47 points. Spot cotton here in New York was marked down on that day from 7.05c. to 6.65c. and with larger or smaller fluctuations from day to day touched 6.20c. on Oct. 24 and after a rally to 6.45c. on Oct. 27, dropped to 6.15c. Oct. 31, which compared with 7.25c. on Sept. 30 and 9c on Sept. 7, and 9.20c. Aug. 29, registering a decline of over 3c a pound or $15 a bale. With the raw material thus suffering such a great shrinkage, prices of cloth naturally also moved downward causing a decidedly unsettled state of the cotton goods market. Print cloths at Fall River for 28 in. 64 x 60 were marked down on Oct. 11 from 3c. a yard to 2⅞c, and further reduced to 2¾c. Oct. 17 and to 2⅝c. Oct. 28. The price of 27 in. 64 x 60 was reduced during the month from 2⅞c. to 2½c., and of 30-in. 40x30 7 oz. Osanburgs from 5¾c. to 5¼c. However, the statistical position continued very encouraging, even though the decline in prices proved an unsettling influence, causing general quietude, which was further accentuated by the Presidential campaign, though with no apprehension apparently of a relapse to the disorganized condition of all the textile industries before the great change for the better in these trades which occurred with the advent of the second half of the year. Mill stocks of carded cotton cloth at the end of September were reported on Oct. 13 by the Association of Cotton Textile Merchants of New York at less than three weeks of current production. Stocks were down 23.5% for the month of September to 160,121,000 yards, a new low record. Billings during the month were 334,242,000 yards or 117.3% of production which totalled 284,956,000 yards. Sales for the month were 292,410,000 yards or 102.6% of production. Unfilled yardage was 444,028,000 yards, a greater back log, it was stated, than at the same date in the boom year of 1929, when the figure was 438,952,000 yards; stocks then were 185,000,000 yards more than at the present date. The Census Bureau in its report issued Oct. 14, showed that cotton consumed by the mills of the United States during September 1932, had amounted to 491,655 bales of lint and 61,308 bales of linters, compared with 464,335 bales of lint and 64,269 bales of linters in September 1931.

Accounts from Europe also were highly encouraging. According to Associated Press advices from Manchester, England, Oct. 11 the British Cotton industry was operating under a torrent of orders, part of them released by the settlement of the weavers' strike and the remainder inspired by fears that the spinners will quit work. The Associated Press advices also said:

Indian shippers have been heavy buyers this week. For the last fortnight spinning mills have experienced demands for yarn similar to those of the 1929 boom. Sales were doubled. Order books have reached the 1930 level. Meanwhile the position of the spinning section, which concerns 200,000 workers, approaches daily nearer to a crisis. Notice of 8½% wage cuts was posted Monday, effective in seven days. Thus far neither side has made any move, publicly at least, toward resuming negotiations.

Then also the Polish cotton spinning mills using American cotton were reported to be operating on full single-shift basis during the early part of September, according to a report received from Assistant Trade Commissioner Gilbert Redfern at Warsaw. Under date of Oct. 24 the Department stated:

Demand for cotton yarn is said to be fairly good so that in spite of the increased activity of the spinning mills stocks of yarn are still regarded as low. Although no improvement was reported in the demand for piece goods it is expected by many cotton goods merchants that a better demand is in prospect owing to the low stocks in the hands of mills and wholesalers.

Raw silk prices suffered a further reaction due both to lower prices in Japan and further depreciation in the Japanese yen. Here in New York Japanese double extra 13-15 deniers were quoted at $1.55@$1.60 Oct. 31 against $1.75@$1.80, Sept. 30, $2@$2.05, Aug. 31; $1.40@$1.45, July 30; $1.12½@$1.17½, June 30; $1.10@$1.15, May 31; $1.35@$1.40, April 30; $1.50@$1.55, Mar. 31; $1.67½@$1.70, Feb. 29; $1.87½@$1.90, Jan. 30; $1.85@$1.90, Dec. 31 1931; $2.20@$2.25, on Nov. 30 and also on Oct. 31 1931, and comparing with $4.70@$4.75 on Jan. 31 1930. In the 20-22 deniers, Japanese crack double extra were quoted at $1.45@$1.50, Oct. 31 against $1.60@$1.65, Sept. 30; $2.00@$2.05, Aug. 31; $1.45@$1.50, July 30; $1.17½@$1.22½, June 30; $1.10@$1.15, May 31; $1.32½@$1.37½, April 30; $1.42½@$1.47½, March 31; $1.70@$1.80, Feb. 29; $1.95@$2.00, Jan. 30; $1.85@$1.90, Dec. 31 1931; $2.30@$2.32½, Nov. 30; $2.10@$2.15, Oct. 31 1931, and comparing with $4.60@$4.65, on Jan. 31 1930.

In rayons the activity previously noted continued and in fact rayon output reached capacity limits. The rayon yarn producing industry produced at the rate of 100% of capacity in October against 90% in September, according to the "Textile Organon," published by Tubize Chatillon Corporation. No slackening in demand is apparent at the present time, it is added. The volume of rayon shipments in October showed little diminution from the high rates of September, while prices are strong.

Crude rubber prices evinced a weakening tendency due in part to the decline in the pound sterling which found little reflection in the London price. Ribbed smoked sheets for spot delivery Oct. 31 were quoted at 3½c. asked against 3⅝c. bid and 3 11/16c. asked Sept. 30; 4⅜c. Aug. 31; 3 3/16c. asked July 30; 2 9/16c. bid and 2 11/16c. asked June 30; 2 11-16c. bid and 2¾c. asked May 31; 3 1-16c. asked April 30; 3 1-16c. bid and 3 3-16c. asked March 31; 3⅝@3 11-16c. Cotton Crop Loans Liberalized by Department of Agriculture—Cotton to Be Accepted as Collateral on Basis of Nine Cents a Pound.

The Department of Agriculture on Oct. 5 announced a plan for extending crop-production loans in cotton States by accepting the staple as collateral on the basis of 9 cents a pound on middling seven-eighths inch. In "certain areas," the department will allow 9½ cents a pound on middling seven-eighth-inch cotton. The announcement in behalf of the Department of Agriculture was given out as follows by Henry S. Clarke, Director of the 1932 Crop Production Loans Office, according to the "United States Daily":

At the request of a large number of Senators and Congressmen, cooperative associations, and individuals in the cotton-growing States, the Secretary of Agriculture has agreed to liberalize the terms of the crop production loans in these States for the relief of the distressed cotton farmers. The plan will ease the burden of repayment of such loans and should result in improving the cotton market.

The purpose of this plan is to encourage the storage of cotton, relieving the pressure on the market and assisting the farmers to care for their families during the coming Winter.

Cotton will be accepted as collateral for crop production loans of 1932 and unpaid balances on loans made prior to 1932 on the basis of 9 cents per pound middling ⅞ inch. Borrowers who wish to take advantage of the collateral plan will be required to deliver their cotton to the cotton co-operative associations or to Federal bonded warehouses.

When delivered to the latter, cotton must be insured and warehouse receipts will be required to be delivered to authorized field agents of the Secretary or to the regional collection office on sufficient cotton to collateralize the loan at the price above mentioned rather than on the quantity required at current market prices. In certain areas the basis will be 9½ cents per pound on middling ⅞-inch cotton.

Differentials will be prepared to provide premiums for staple longer than ⅞ inch and grades better than middling and likewise discounts for short staple and lower grades. All cotton deposited as collateral must be graded by Federal licensed classers.

All cotton so collateralized must be accompanied by an agreement signed by the borrower whereby he reserves the right of selling such cotton at any time prior to March 1 1933, and authorizes the Secretary to sell same in his discretion at any time subsequent to that date.

Receipts Required.

Warehouse receipts will be required on sufficient cotton to cover the amount of the loan together with storage and insurance charges and any advance which may be made for picking and ginning expenses. When the cotton is finally sold the borrower will be credited with the proceeds of the sale. In the event that the proceeds are not sufficient to pay the full amount of the loan the balance will remain as an obligation of the borrower. If the proceeds of sales are more than sufficient to pay the loan and interest, the balance will be refunded.

The above plan will permit farmers to fully collateralize their loans from the Secretary and at the same time permit them to dispose of the balance of their crops for cash

Maximum Limit of Interest on Future Contracts Set at 1,000,000 Bales by New York Cotton Exchange for Delivery from October 1932 to September 1933.

The Board of Managers of the New York Cotton Exchange voted on Oct. 13 to set the maximum limit of interest on future contracts for delivery in any one month by any member, firm, or corporation, and his or its affiliations, at 1,000,000 bales for delivery in October, 1932, and in all months up to and including September 1933.

Lumber Activity Suffers a Setback but Production Increases—Forest Products Shipments Largest Since April.

New business at the lumber mills of the country during the week ended Oct. 22 was 26% of their production capacity, compared with 28% the week before and 37% the week ended Sept. 17, according to telegraphic reports to the National Lumber Manufacturers' Association covering the operations of 687 leading softwood and hardwood mills. Production was 24% of capacity, compared with 22% a month ago. The weekly average of new business reported during the first three weeks of October was 20% below that reported during the weeks of September. September orders were, however, relatively heavy this year, exceeding those of August by nearly 20%. The Association in its statement also said as follows:

Production as reported by the 687 mills during the week ended Oct. 22 totaled 120,091,000 feet, which was higher than any week since June with the exception of the week ended Oct. 15. Orders received were 130,945,000 feet, which was lower than any week since early August.

The identical mill report showed orders 18% below those of last year and production 24% below, all regions showing declines. Lumber shipments were not so high as during some recent weeks, but were above every week of the year from April to the middle of September. Forest products loadings as reported by the American Railway Association for the week ended Oct. 15 were higher than for any week since April.

Steel Industry Develops a Slightly Greater Activity but Remains Depressed—Copper and Other Non-Ferrous Metals Show Further Price Weakness.

The steel industry continued to lack support from the major consuming industries—the railroads, building construction, and the automobile manufacturer—but made minor gains in other directions. The "Iron Age" in its issue of Oct. 27 said that except for larger orders from some of the automobile companies, steel business had made no further headway—a situation generally ascribed to uncertainty as to the outcome of the Presidential election and the effect that a change of administration might have upon trade recovery. Ingot production for the country as a whole at the close of the month was at about 20% of capacity against 17½% at the beginning. One of the events of the month was a reduction in the price of steel rails from $43 a ton to $40 by the United States Steel Corporation and followed by other producers, but the "Iron Age" said this was not expected to produce much immediate rail tonnage. That the directors of the United States Steel Corporation, however, looked for some extension of recent gains was assumed from their action on Oct. 25 in declaring the usual quarterly dividend of 1¾% on the preferred shares notwithstanding the company's loss in the third quarter was the largest ever experienced during the entire history of the company, for a period of 31 years. In its issue of Nov. 3, bringing conditions down to Nov. 1, the "Iron Age" discussed things as follows:

With many buyers awaiting the outcome of the election before making further commitments, new steel business has declined; yet steel ingot production has gained a point from last week to 20% of the country's capacity, mainly because of recent orders from the automobile industry. Pig iron output in October, figured on a daily basis, gained 5.3% over that of September and last month's average was 21.5% above the low point of August.

While steel and pig iron production is gathering momentum very slowly, the broad outlook is fairly encouraging for further moderate gains, considering that railroad equipment programs are becoming more numerous; that automobile production of new models is expanding, and that some construction projects sponsored by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation will be affording mill rollings of steel by the end of the year.

The automobile industry is slowly expanding production, and November probably will bring the first upturn since May. The Chevrolet company is committed to an output of 110,000 cars within the next 90 days regardless of retail market conditions. Plymouth's unfilled orders for new cars now total 19,214, and an output of 1,000 a day five days a week will be attained soon. Recent steel releases by automobile companies have resulted in increased steel production at Cleveland and Detroit and in the Youngstown area, the only districts that have gained except Wheeling, where demand for tin plate bars has caused a stepping up of ingot output.

Prices for iron and steel showed a weakening tendency and that was perhaps the most unfavorable feature in the state of the trade. The "Iron Age" made the composite price of finished steel Nov. 1 1.948c. a pound as against 1.965c. a month earlier, and the composite price of pig iron Nov. 1, $13,59 a gross ton against $13.64 a month earlier. Steel scrap was reported for Nov. 1 at $7.50 a gross ton as against $7.67 a month earlier.

In the case of the nonferrous metals price weakness was also a feature and this was conspicuously the case with regard to copper. Customs smelters on Oct. 28 quoted copper in the domestic market at 5⅜c. a pound delivered to the end of March 1933 and some metal was obtainable in one or two directions at 5.25c. as far ahead as March. Copper for foreign destinations was at levels corresponding with 5.20 to 5.25c. c.i.f. Hamburg, Havre and London. At the outset of the same week the domestic price for delivery in Connecticut was still 6¼c. At New York the price of electrolytic copper was marked down Oct. 21 from 6c. to 5¾c. and Oct. 24 was further reduced to 5¼c., and Oct. 27 to 5.00c. Lake copper in this city was marked down from 6¼c. to 6c. Oct. 21, then to 5¾c. Oct. 24 and to 5¼c. Oct. 27. The price of lead in New York was advanced early in the month from 3.00c. to 3.25c. but was reduced again to 3.15c. Oct. 7 and to 3.00c. Oct. 11. Tin at New York was quoted at 23.30c. Oct. 31 as against 24.20c. Oct. 3.

Petroleum and Its Products—Prices of Gasoline Pretty Generally Restored, Though with Some Cuts in Crude Oil at the Beginning of the Month.

Some weakness in crude oils was still a feature the early part of the month in the case of Pennsylvania crude but later the tendency of crude prices was generally upward, though the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana and the Standard Company of New Jersey refused to join in the general advance in crude. Gasoline prices, however, developed a strong upward tendency all over the country. In the following we show all the principal price changes of the month both in the case of crude oil and the refined product.

Crude Oil.

Oct. 3.—South Penn Oil Co. and Tide Water Pipe Co. reduce Pennsylvania grade crude oil 15c. a barrel, new price being: Bradford Allegheny crude, $1.72; oil in pipelines of Southwest Pennsylvania Pipe Line Co., $1.42; in Eureka lines, $1.37; in Buckeye lines, $1.22.

Oct. 4.—South Penn Oil Co. posts 20c. reduction in Corning, Pa., crude, new price being 85c. a barrel.

Oct. 5.—Danciger Oil & Refining Co. posts 20c. reduction in Gray County, Texas, crude, effective as of Oct. 2. New prices range from 56c. for 35 gravity to 68c. for 40 gravity.

Oct. 10.—Sun Oil Co. posts new crude prices, effective Saturday, Oct. 15, advancing East Texas crude 12c. and Gulf Coast 10c.

Oct. 11.—Sinclair-Prairie Oil Marketing Co. meets "Sun" advances and posts range of 88c. for 29 gravity Oklahoma crude to $1.12 for 40 degrees and above, effective Oct. 15.

Oct. 11.—Phillips Petroleum Co. posts top price of $1.10 a barrel for East Texas and Gulf States and $1.12 for Oklahoma, Kansas, North and Central Texas, effective Oct. 15.

Oct. 11.—Barnsdall Refining Co. meets Phillips schedule, also Continental Oil Co., Empire Oil & Refining Co., Shell Petroleum Corp., Phil-Tex Pipe Line Co. and Arkansas Fuel Oil Co., subsidiary of Cities Service Co.

Gasoline and Kerosene.

Oct. 3.—Standard Oil Co. of California initiates 1c. advance in third-grade gasoline in southern California, south of Tehachapi, and including Los Angeles. The new price is 12.9 a gallon. The raise was met by major companies.

Oct. 16.—Standard of Ohio advances all grades of gasoline ½c. a gallon throughout territory.

Oct. 17.—Barnsdall Corp. advances all grades of gasoline 3c. a gallon at Tulsa, Okla.

Oct. 20.—Sinclair and Standard of New Jersey advance tank car gasoline prices 1c. a gallon at all Atlantic terminals and at Tampa, Fla., and 1c. advance in tank wagon and service station prices in New Jersey, Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina and District of Columbia. All major companies met advances.

Oct. 21.—Standard of New York advanced gasoline prices for all methods of delivery 1c. a gallon throughout New York and New England. Advance is met by major marketers.

Oct. 24.—Gulf Refining Co. and Colonial Beacon Oil Co. post revised price lists meeting gasoline advances announced last week by other major marketers.

Oct. 25.—Major companies in Los Angeles and southern California post 1c. advance in third-grade gasoline, making new price 13.9c.

Oct. 26.—Standard of Kentucky posts 1c. advance on service station gasoline prices, affecting all grades throughout State.

Oct. 27.—Standard of Ohio posts ½c. advance on service station prices, all grades, throughout the State, making new prices 12, 13 and 16c. for the three grades, exclusive of taxes, totaling 5c. a gallon.

Oct. 27.—Gulf, Sinclair, Magnolia, Texas and Shell advance service station prices on Ethyl and standard white gasoline 1c. a gallon in Houston, Texas, territory, making new prices 20 and 17c., respectively.

Oil Production in Texas Cut by Texas Railroad Commission.

The Texas Railroad Commission on Oct. 10 ordered sharp reduction in oil production from 25 Texas fields. According to Associated Press advices from Austin, Texas, Oct. 11, R. D. Parker, director of the Commission's oil and gas division, said that orders would be issued to bring every oil producing area in the State under proration. Mr. Parker also said that the new schedule will reduce the daily output for Texas 117,000 barrels under the average for the week ended Oct. 1. The advices also said as follows:

Allowable for the East Texas field, sore spot of the oil industry almost from the date of its discovery, was reduced to 335,000 barrels from 375,000 barrels daily and steep cuts were made in other fields. The orders will become effective Oct. 15.

No change was made in the method of prorating the top allowable for the East Texas field. Under the current order each well contributed an equal portion to the field limit. Starting Oct. 15, each well in the East Texas field will be allowed to produce 40 barrels per day during the ensuing 15-day period. The present per well allowable is 44 barrels per day, in effect since Oct. 1.

Parker issued orders Oct. 10 limiting production to 25 fields to 747,898. He said other orders would be issued that would bring the total production, including oil from marginal wells, to 804,000 barrels. The average daily production from Texas for the week ending Oct. 1 was 922,160 barrels, the figure including marginal well production.

Orders also were issued by the Commission cancelling all exemptions to the proration allowables in the Panhandle field. The order directed that wells of the Danciger Oil & Refining Co. produce only a ratable share of the field allowable. The Danciger wells have been over-producing under a court agreement, made after Danciger attacked State proration.

Offset wells to the Danciger holdings also had been exempt from observance of proration schedules. Other operators had complained vigorously against the situation.

Texas Restrained from Enforcing New Oil Proration Common Purchaser Act in Case of Humble Oil & Refining Co. Until Oct. 31.

A restraining order prohibiting Attorney-General James V. Allred and the Texas Railroad Commission from enforcing the new oil proration common purchaser Act, which would force the Humble Oil & Refining Co. to purchase crude oil from wells on its pipe lines in the same proportion it handles from its own wells, was extended until Oct. 31 by Federal Judges Du Val West and R. J. McMillan on Sept. 30, according to Associated Press advices from San Antonio, Texas, under that date. The advices further said:

The hearing was on motion of the Attorney-General to dismiss an application for an injunction and which if granted would have dissolved the restraining order, which expired Friday. The Court overruled the motion and continued the case until Oct. 31, at the same time extending the restraining order.

The oil company claimed that if it was forced to obey the law it would have to buy oil from other producers to such an extent as to cause it to pile up a surplus of 20,000 barrels daily. There is no market for so much oil, it was claimed, and the purchases would wreck the company. The law was said to provide that purchasers of oil from producers must prorate their purchases according to fields and shall buy without discrimination. Purchasing companies are forbidden to give their own wells preference in their purchases. The Railroad Commission is given authority to decide what purchases are just or discriminatory.

The company is said to be operating 700 wells of its own in the East Texas and North Texas fields and is now taking oil from 450 wells not owned by it. An order issued Sept. 12 by the Railroad Commission cut production in the wells to 50% of normal and the company had arranged for storage of oil from wells other than its own. Mr. Allred then filed a suit in the 126th District Court of Travis County seeking an injunction against the company. The oil company countered with an application for writ of mandamus which is pending in the Supreme Court.

The Federal Court was urged to refuse jurisdiction of the matter on account of the pending litigation in the State courts. The State was represented by Fred Upchurch and Maurice Cheek, Assistant Attorneys-General, while Haines H. Baker and Herman P. Pressler, Jr., of Houston represented the oil company.

Governor Sterling of Texas Orders National Guardsmen to East Texas Oil Field—Action Taken Following Court Order Holding Proration Rules Illegal—Oil Men Keep Production Within Limit.

Governor R. S. Sterling of Texas on Oct. 25 ordered additional National Guardsmen and squads of Rangers to the east Texas oil field to keep the lid clamped on the vast producing area in the face of a Federal Court decision holding that existing proration regulations are invalid. Associated Press advices from Austin, Tex., dated Oct. 25, in noting the foregoing, also said:

The troop movement was a repetition of the mobilization more than a year ago when Governor Sterling proclaimed martial law to curb the unbridled flood of crude that undermined the stability of the oil industry and brought prices to the lowest levels in history.

"East Texas will not be permitted to run wild again," the Governor said.

The troops, which were assembling at Kilgore, Texas, under command of Colonel L. S. Davidson, were to be assigned to patrolling oil wells to enforce orders of the Texas Railroad Commission, which administers the State conservation statutes, limiting production of each well to 40 barrels daily.

Martial law has been in effect since last year, although only a few soldiers have been on duty of late, assisting agents of the Railroad Commission.

Interpreting the decision of a three-judge Federal Court handed down on Oct. 24 at Sherman as overthrowing the existing proration system, some operators on Oct. 25 opened wide the gates of production. C. V. Terrell, Chairman of the Railroad Commission, called upon Governor Sterling for aid, explaining that agents of the Commission had no police powers to act against violators.

The court in declaring invalid the present regulations, held in effect that the Commission was overstepping its legal right to conserve resources and prevent waste, and was attempting to limit production so as to curb "economic waste," or in other words to maintain prices.

Pressure was brought to bear on Governor Sterling from many sources to call a special session of the Legislature to devise new laws to govern oil production inside the 15-day limit marked out by the Federal Judges before the formal entering of their decree, but he expressed the belief that existing statutes would take care of the situation.

With proration limiting production to 335,000 barrels a day in the prolific field, or 40 barrels a day from each well, a number of the major buying companies recently lifted their payments to above $1 a barrel, only two holding back. In turn, several of the companies to-day advanced the price of gasoline to the consumer one cent a gallon.

When martial law was declared last year, East Texas oil sold for as low as five cents a barrel.

Governor Sterling expressed opposition to any legislation that would have a "tendency to fix prices of any commodity."

The Commission issued notice of hearing in Austin on Nov. 3, when operators will be permitted to testify about conservation conditions, the record to afford a basis of new proration orders.

Associated Press advices from Kilgore, Tex., Oct. 26 said that Col. L. S. Davidson, commanding the National Guardsmen ordered into the east Texas oil field by Governor Sterling said that 95% of the operators and pipeline companies were co-operating to keep production within bounds. The advices also said:

More than a score of wells were reported to be running wide open. Military authorities said these wells would be forcibly closed and sealed and charges filed against their operators.

Reduction in Oil Production in Oklahoma Recommended to Corporation Commission for Remainder of October.

Associated Press advices from Oklahoma City said that the allowable oil production for Oklahoma was reduced 17,925 barrels daily for the remainder of October to a total of 379,790 barrels in nominations made at a hearing held Oct. 10 before the Corporation Commission. The advices dated Oct. 10 also said:

Allowables for the State outside of the Oklahoma City field totaled 307,040 barrels and for the Oklahoma City area 72,750, under recommendations made to the Commission.

No order was issued, but it is expected the recommendations will be followed and that a formal journal entry will be filed by Oct. 16, when the present order expires.

The Commission set Oct. 28 to hear nominations and fix allowables for November and December.

Opening of Federal Home Loan Banks.

The 12 Federal Home Loan Banks opened for business Oct. 15 and began functioning, the Federal Home Loan Board announced. Franklin W. Fort, Chairman of the Board, said in the announcement that there was now no sound reason why mortgage lending institutions should not promptly make sound home mortgage loans, since the system stands ready to provide the necessary funds. The statement as given in the "United States Daily" follows:

The Federal Home Loan Bank System was launched successfully to-day when the 12 regional banks comprising the system opened their doors for business promptly. Telegraphic advices to Chairman Fort from each bank gave the hour of opening in each city as that of the beginning of the banking day and in some cases announced the name of the executive Vice-President who had been elected to take active charge of the bank.

Franklin W. Fort, Chairman of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, expressed general satisfaction over the inauguration of the system and sounded a note of warning that loans on home mortgages on excessive real estate valuation could not be expected.

Mr. Fort said:

"I am very much pleased to announce that every one of the 12 district banks opened by Oct. 15, which was the mark set six weeks ago.

"Many of the banks are in temporary quarters but all are organized and functioning.

"I want to express my very deep appreciation of the devotion and drive that has been shown by the directors in all of the bank districts in accomplishing the almost impossible task of organizing and opening on such short notice.

"There no longer exists any reason why the ordinary mortgage lending institution in any section of the country should not promptly proceed to make sound home loan mortgages, as the home loan banks are ready to furnish them with money with which to do so.

"Of course, this does not mean loans can be made on excessive valuation or real estate or excessive percentage of that value. Nor in cases where the owner can not possibly carry the property. But it should now be possible to get any loan which would be procurable in times of normal business."

Eastern Livestock Co-Operative Marketing Association Joins National Association and Announces Financing Service for Stockmen.

The Eastern Livestock Co-Operative Marketing Association, with headquarters at Baltimore, Md., was recently admitted to membership in the National Livestock Marketing Association, according to information furnished the Federal Farm Board by Thomas B. Glascock of Upperville, Va., President of the Eastern association. The announcement of the Federal Farm Board on Oct. 19 said:

This gives livestock producers throughout the United States a chain of producer owned and controlled marketing and financing agencies, operating from coast to coast and from Canada to the Gulf. During the two-year period in which the National Livestock Marketing Association, with headquarters in Chicago, has operated, its member agencies have handled approximately 16,000,000 head of livestock, valued at more than $283,000,000.

Receiver Named for Joint Stock Land Bank of Chicago—Federal Farm Loan Board Acts with Failure of Bank to Pay Oct. 1 Interest on Bonds—St. Louis Creditor Files Suit.

The Joint Stock Land Bank of Chicago failed to meet interest charges due Oct. 1, and John B. Gallagher, of Chicago, was appointed Receiver, it was announced Oct. 1 by A. C. Williams, Acting Federal Farm Loan Commissioner. The Commissioner's announcement, issued Oct. 1, as given in the "United States Daily" of Oct. 4, said:

The Farm Loan Board has received notice of the failure of the Chicago Joint Stock Land Bank, located at Chicago, Ill., to pay interest due Oct. 1 1932 on its outstanding bond obligations, and has been advised by the management of the bank that the board of directors has determined to pay no part of the interest then due on such obligations.

In the circumstances the Farm Loan Board, pursuant to authority contained in Section 29 of the Farm Loan Act, to-day appointed John B. Gallagher of Chicago, Ill., as receiver of the bank, and instructed him to take charge immediately of its affairs for the purpose of conserving its assets and protecting the interests of all parties concerned.

The Chicago Joint Stock Land Bank was organized in 1917. According to the statement of the bank as of the close of business Sept. 30 1932, its outstanding bonds aggregated $42,724,100. The condition of the bank was such that the directors found it necessary to suspend further operations, and the conclusion was reached that a receivership was the only course open.

The Chicago Joint Stock Land Bank is not affiliated with any other Land bank or banking institution.

According to the Chicago "Tribune" of Oct. 2, simultaneous with the announcement of the receivership by Commissioner Williams, attorneys representing a St. Louis creditor of the Bank filed suit in the United States District Court in Chicago asking the appointment of a receiver in equity. The "Tribune" said these two developments were not directly connected, although both were the immediate results of the Bank's inability to meet interest due yesterday on its outstanding bond obligations. . . .

Excess Liabilities $18,000,000.

The petition in the District Court here was filed by Townley, Wild, Campbell & Clark on behalf of W. E. Brusselback, who holds $4,000 of the bonds of the Land Bank. It names several members of the Federal Farm Loan Board as defendants, including Secretary of the Treasury Ogden L. Mills, who is Chairman ex-officio of the Farm Loan Board.

The petition states that the Land Bank's liabilities exceed its assets by $18,000,000. Total liabilities, including $43,530,000 of bonds, are placed at $45,000,000, and total assets at $27,000,000.

Describing the institution as "hopelessly and irretrievably insolvent," the petition asks the appointment of a receiver for the liquidation of the assets and their distribution in trust to bondholders and other creditors.

National Credit Corp. to Make Eighth Payment to Subscribing Banks on Nov. 3.

On Oct. 24 the National Credit Corp. announced that it had called for redemption and would on Nov. 3 1932 be prepared to redeem and pay 10% of the original principal amount of each of its outstanding gold notes (being the amount of an eighth partial redemption) upon presentation at the office of the New York Trust Co. at 100 Broadway, N. Y. From the New York "Times" of Oct. 25 we quote:

National Credit Corporation.

The process of liquidating the National Credit Corporation, which was formed a year ago pending the organization of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, to assist needy banks, has gone forward at a rapid rate, all things considered. The announcement of an eighth partial redemption of the Corporation's outstanding notes brings the total of repayments to 90%, leaving only $13,500,000 of the paid-in $135,000,000 still outstanding. Inasmuch as the Corporation itself can only redeem its notes as the loans made by it to banks in trouble are repaid, the extent of the redemptions already made speaks well for the liquidity of the advances put out by it in the troubled period of banking disturbances last winter.

Issuance of $1,000,000,000 3½% New Notes by Reconstruction Finance Corporation—Will Retire $675,000,000 Maturing Notes—$325,000,000 Notes to Be Purchased by United States Treasury.

The following announcement was issued on Oct. 27 by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation:

The $675,000,000 of 3½% notes of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, purchased by the Secretary of the Treasury, matured to-day. The board of directors of the Corporation authorized the issuance of notes in the aggregate principal amount of $1,000,000,000, designated as Series A, maturing April 30 1933, and bearing interest at the rate of 3½% per annum; of this amount $675,000,000 has been accepted by the Secretary of the Treasury in exchange for the Corporation's outstanding notes in an equivalent principal amount. The remaining $325,000,000 will be purchased by the Secretary of the Treasury as the funds are required by the Corporation.

From a Washington dispatch Oct. 27 to the New York "Journal of Commerce," we take the following:

Treasury Sole Buyer.

Under the Reconstruction Act and the Emergency Relief Act the Corporation is authorized to issue a total of $3,000,000,000 in notes to provide a working capital for its activities. Thus far, including the $1,000,000,000 issue of to-day, only a little more than one-half of its total capital has been issued.

Issues authorized by the Corporation in the past were three of $250,000,000 each, all on different dates, but maturing to-day. The Treasury Department, which is the sole purchaser of the notes under the financing plans, acquired but $657,000,000 of the notes, leaving a credit of $75,000,000 in the Treasury to the Corporation, but which could be drawn upon at any time the Corporation should find its funds depleted.

Foreign Developments—The Matter of Debt Payments to the United States—The Disarmament Question—The Ottawa Conference Tariffs Put Into Effect.

There were few actual developments of outstanding financial or diplomatic significance in other countries during October. Trade and industry remained stagnant in Britain, France, Germany, Italy and other large industrial countries, while the preponderantly agricultural countries were afflicted to an even greater extent by the prevailing paralysis. The leading stock exchanges in London, Paris and Berlin were abnormally quiet in these circumstances, the dulness being even more pronounced than that at New York. The tendency in European centers is still to look to the United States for leadership in recovery from the depression, but it was recognized everywhere that only a limited degree of improvement could be looked for until after the Presidential election. This event was awaited with impatience for this reason, and also because of its possible bearing on the enormously difficult problem of inter-governmental debt payments.

The question of the large payments due the United States Government on Dec. 15 next, from Great Britain, France, Italy and other countries was, indeed, the subject of a few official utterances, and also of an immense amount of unofficial conjecture. It was again made clear throughout Europe that the debtor nations are hoping for some action by the United States which will lead to postponement or cancellation of the payments. Neither Great Britain nor France has made any provision for forthcoming payments in their budgets. It was reported from time to time that these countries were accumulating United States dollars in order to effect the payments, but such statements drew no official comments. In the course of an address before the British House of Commons, Oct. 20, Sir John Simon, Foreign Secretary in the National Cabinet, remarked that the debt question is an "unsolved problem." Rumors in Paris that Premier Herriot was formulating a definite stand on the debts drew an official statement, the same day, that the debt question remains unchanged. It was remarked at the time in a dispatch to the New York "Times" that about the only thing certain is that "no French Parliament will ever be persuaded to vote more than a very limited amount for the repayment of inter-governmental debts."

The Italian viewpoint, already well known, was reiterated with dramatic force and effectiveness by Premier Benito Mussolini, Oct. 23, in the course of an address at Turin, delivered in connection with the tenth anniversary of the march on Rome by the Facisti. "The ship of debts and reparations is now safely in the harbor of Lausanne," Signor Mussolini remarked. "Will the great American nation push this ship containing the hopes and fears of so many people into the open sea again?" A crowd of 100,000 Italians gathered to hear the Premier roared "No" in reply, whereupon the Premier said: "I wish this no that you uttered with a voice of thunder could cross the ocean, touching the generous hearts of the star-spangled republic."

A reference to the debt question which attracted world-wide interest was made by Under-Secretary of State William R. Castle, Oct. 27, in an election address at Cleveland, Ohio. Since both the Republican and Democratic parties have declared against cancellation, the debts are not in themselves a political issue, Mr. Castle said. But the platform declarations do not necessarily mean, he added, that "there shall be no discussion of the matter with the foreign Powers, no accommodation, no amelioration of the terms of the debts." This Government proposes to remain a generous creditor, but not in any case to the detriment of the citizens of our country, Mr. Castle asserted. "Whatever arrangements may be made must be for the benefit of the United States," he continued. "The idea recently expressed that by lowering the tariff through bargaining treaties European nations might ship us goods in quantities large enough to enable them with ease to pay their debts was discussed months ago by those of us who have been informally talking over the problem. We discarded the idea for reasons the President and the Secretary of the Treasury have pointed out. Far more helpful is the idea also recently expressed that we adjust the debts in accordance with the increase in European consumption of our own goods. That is a real plan to bring back our long-sought prosperity."

Leading world Powers continued during last month their search for a way out of the disarmament impasse, which developed in September, when the German Government declined to participate further in the deliberations of the General Disarmament Conference unless its claim to equality of status in armaments was recognized. The British Government inaugurated an exchange of views with France, Germany and Italy on Oct. 4 with the aim of holding a four-Power conference in London to consider the German request and its implications. Italy promptly accepted the invitation, but both the German and French governments made replies which contained stipulations and conditions, it is understood. It was hinted in the French rejoinder that the conference would be attended by that Government, if held in Geneva. When the German Government was sounded out with a view to conversations in the League city, Berlin declined definitely. Under no conditions would Germany accept Geneva as the seat of the proposed conference, Foreign Minister Konstantin von Neurath declared. The Hague, or even Lausanne, might be acceptable, it was stated, but never Geneva. The project was quietly dropped thereafter.

With further conferences on disarmament due at Geneva in November, intensified consideration was given the whole problem in the final days of October. Norman H. Davis, United States disarmament delegate, conferred in London with British officials and in Paris with French leaders. His mission in London, dispatches said, was to find some basis whereunder Britain and the United States could reduce naval armaments below the levels fixed by the London Naval Treaty. The two countries were said to be in substantial agreement on the advisability of new reductions, provided they could be achieved without upsetting the parity or present ratio, if France and Italy on the one hand, and Japan on the other will make suitable adjustments in their own programs. Mr. Davis conferred in London with the French, Italian and Japanese Ambassadors, lending color to this interpretation.

New disarmament plans also are being formulated by France and Japan, according to recent reports. France is said to have worked out a "constructive plan," in the expectation of announcing the scheme at the November meetings of the Disarmament Bureau in Geneva. Details have not been made public, but it is understood the plan contains several alternatives for the reduction of military strength, dependent entirely upon the guarantees available from other Governments at Geneva. The Japanese plan, Tokio dispatches state, also will be presented at Geneva. It continues to oppose the American formula for reduction of armaments by one-third, it is said, in the belief that this would prove advantageous to superior Powers and less favorable to insular nations, like Japan, which are largely dependent on their navies.

The willingness of the United States Government to commit this country to comprehensive disarmament proposals was illustrated by an announcement in Washington, Oct. 21, that the United States is accepting a four months' extension of the current world truce on expansion of armaments. The truce, which applies only to new construction, will be extended from Nov. 1 1932 to March 1 1933. The agreement was made conditional upon acceptance by other leading naval powers, and it was again stipulated that "the proposed truce shall not apply to construction which had begun or for which contracts had been let prior to its entry into force." President Hoover made a statement, Oct. 25, which was widely interpreted as an attempt to galvanize the Geneva Conference into activity. Failure of the disarmament negotiations, he said, would compel the United States to build her navy to "the full strength provided in the London Treaty, equal to that of the most powerful in the world."

Abandonment by Great Britain of its traditional free trade policy, as exemplified in the Ottawa Imperial Conference of last summer, was made an accomplished fact last month, when first Canada and then the United Kingdom applied the duties and preferences called for in the Ottawa agreements. The preferences granted by Canada to United Kingdom products were disclosed at Ottawa, Oct. 12, and placed in effect the following day. The United Kingdom applied the measures when the House of Commons assembled in London, Oct. 18, for its autumn session and promptly began consideration of the Ottawa bills. The arrangements followed closely the indications made available at the time of the Conference. When the bills were presented to the Commons in London, however, J. H. Thomas, Secretary for the Dominions, stated that the British Government had renounced the trade agreement made with Soviet Russia in 1930. The treaty assured the U. S. S. R. of most-favored-nation treatment, and therefore might stand in the way of import prohibitions conceivable under the Ottawa agreements, he said. Six months' notification of termination of the accord was given, Mr. Thomas added, but Moscow was informed at the same time that Britain remained anxious for the furtherance of trade and was prepared to enter into a discussion for the promotion of this end. Passage of the legislation was assured, as the National Government has the support of 517 members, as against the Opposition total of only 95.

The Report of the League of Nations Inquiry Commission on Manchuria.

The international dispute regarding Manchuria was carried a step further with the publication, Oct. 2, of the report of the League of Nations Inquiry Commission, which examined over a period of months all phases of the controversy between China and Japan. The inquiry was authorized by the League of Nations Council last December, and that body is to consider the findings at a special meeting Nov. 14. The report is a comprehensive document which takes little account of the formal diplomatic positions of either Japan or China. It suggests, however, a definite plan for solution of the Manchurian problem through a Sino-Japanese rapprochement, negotiated with respect for the economic and political interests of both countries. Less insistence was placed on responsibility for past actions than on the need for avoiding their repetition in the future.

"It must be apparent," the report states, "that the issues involved in this conflict are not as simple as they are often represented to be.. They are, on the contrary, exceedingly complex and only an intimate knowledge of all the facts, as well as of their historical background, should entitle anyone to express a definite conclusion upon them." Restoration of the status quo ante is ruled out by the Commission, as this would be "merely to invite repetition of the trouble." Maintenance and recognition of the present regime in Manchuria is held to be equally unsatisfactory, as it would not appear to be compatible with the fundamental principles of existing international obligations. The Manchukuo regime is "opposed to the interests of China; it disregards the wishes of the people of Manchuria, and it is at least questionable whether it would ultimately serve the permanent interests of Japan," the report states. Apart from China and Japan, moreover, other Powers also have important interests to defend in the Sino-Japanese conflict. Any real and lasting solution by agreement must be compatible with existing multilateral treaties, it is contended. Special reference was made to Russia. "It is clear," the report holds, "that any solution of the problem of Manchuria which ignored the important interests of the U. S. S. R. would risk a future breach of the peace and would not be permanent." Ten principles of a satisfactory settlement were accordingly laid down by the Commission.

Suggestions to the Council involve first and foremost a proposal that the League body invite the Governments of China and Japan to discuss a solution of their dispute along lines indicated. If the invitation is accepted, the report adds, an Advisory Council should be formed to discuss and recommend detailed proposals for the constitution of a special regime in Manchuria along lines previously outlined in direct negotiations between the two parties. Four separate instruments should be drawn up in these discussions, embodying: (1) a declaration by China constituting a special administration for Manchuria; (2) a Sino-Japanese treaty dealing with Japanese interests; (3) a Sino-Japanese treaty of conciliation and arbitration, non-aggression and mutual assistance; (4) a Sino-Japanese commercial treaty.

The Revolution in Brazil Comes to an End.

Peace was re-established in Brazil, Monday, Oct. 3, when the rebellion of the Sao Paulo Constitutionalists against the Federal regime in Rio de Janeiro collapsed. The civil war of three months' duration was terminated through complete and unconditional surrender of the forces under General Bertholdo Klinger, estimated at 50,000 men. Federal troops, said to number 60,000 men, encircled the rebels and their slow but steady advance made the position of the rebels increasingly precarious. Peace terms were requested on Oct. 1 by the rebellious Paulistans, and unconditional surrender was demanded. After several days of hesitation the terms were accepted and the revolt ended. The port of Santos was quickly opened to shipping, and naval pilots guided vessels between the mines in the harbor. A five-day holiday was authorized in the State in order to give banks and business men a breathing spell before they are called upon to meet normal business requirements.

Great Britain Ends Trade Treaty with Soviet Russia—Ottawa Pacts Forced Abrogation of Agreement, Thomas Tells Commons—Britain, However, Suggests New Discussions on Trade Interchange.

J. H. Thomas, Secretary for Dominions, announced in the House of Commons in London on Oct. 18 that Great Britain had abrogated its commercial treaty with Soviet Russia. Under Article 21 of the tariff agreement reached at the recent Ottawa Imperial Conference, he said, renunciation of the temporary commercial agreement with Russia was made necessary. An Associated Press account from London, Oct. 18, to the New York "Evening Post" continued:

This agreement was signed in April 1930. It gave Russia the privileges of most-favored nation treatment and therefore, Mr. Thomas explained, it stands in the way of trade prohibitions which might be necessitated by the obligations undertaken at Ottawa.

In notifying the Russian Charge d'Affaires here that Great Britain is serving six months' notice of abrogation in accordance with the pact, the Soviet authorities were informed that Great Britain is still anxious to increase its trade with Russia and is ready to enter discussions with that object in view at the earliest possible time.

Russian Wheat Opposed.

Article 21 of the Ottawa agreement, to which Mr. Thomas referred, stipulates that the whole arrangement with the Dominions is based on the express condition that if either party "is satisfied that any preferences granted on any particular class of commodities are likely to be frustrated by reason of maintenance of prices for such commodities through state action on the part of a foreign country," that government will exercise the powers it has "to prohibit the entry from such foreign country of such commodities for such time as may be necessary to maintain the preferences" granted at Ottawa.

Canada and Australia were particularly concerned during the negotiations at Ottawa that the British Government should adopt effective means to prevent resumption of Russian dumping on the wheat market.

It was suggested at the time that aorogation of the British agreement with Russia might be necessary to make the Ottawa agreements effective.

The Government benches cheered when Mr. Thomas declared to-day that the Government, having undertaken an obligation to give preferences within the British Commonwealth, must take all steps necessary to see that "no country shall frustrate this obligation by dumping sweated goods in Great Britain."

Canada Reduces Duty on United Kingdom Cotton—Premier Bennett Announces One-Third Reductions.

Canadian Press advices from Ottawa Oct. 12 published in the New York "Herald Tribune" said:

Reduction in the specific duties on cotton goods—from yarns to clothing—by one-third on every item coming into Canada from the United Kingdom was announced by Prime Minister Bennett to-day.

"In so far as the British preferential tariff is concerned," the Premier stated, "the specific duties on cotton goods—from yarns to clothing—are reduced by one-third on every item on which, at present, specific duties are operative, the sole exception being that covering cotton velveteens, on which the specific duty is removed entirely and the ad valorem duty reduced.

Cotton fabrics composed of yarns of a certain fineness are made free of duty, as are typewriter ribbons and cotton bobinet. A wide preference is provided for mercerized cotton yarns, with free entry under the British preferential tariff."

Prohibitive Copper Duty Announced by the President of the British Board of Trade—Purpose of New Levy to Build Up Great Britain's Supply.

In the New York "Herald Tribune" the following (Associated Press) from London, Oct. 27 appears:

Walter Runciman, President of the Board of Trade, announced in the House of Commons to-day that the government proposes to establish a virtually prohibitive duty on foreign raw copper. The purpose of this duty, he said, is to build up the empire supply. It would be 2 pence (approximately 2¾ cents) a pound.

"The duty is almost prohibitive," Mr. Runciman said, "because it is realized that there are sufficient supplies of empire copper to meet the British needs."

He made this announcement during debate on the bill giving effect to the trade agreements reached at last summer's imperial conference at Ottawa. The bill received second reading by a vote of 423 to 77.

Mr. Runciman also informed the House that Canadian wheat shipped through United States ports would get the new imperial preference in the United Kingdom if consigned from Canada originally.

United Kingdom Extends Temporary Iron and Steel Duty for Two Years.

The following announcement was made Oct. 22 by the Department of Commerce at Washington:

The temporary duty of 33 1-3% ad valorem on iron and steel imported into the United Kingdom, due to expire on Oct. 25, has been continued in force for a two-year period, according to a cablegram received in the Department of Commerce from Commercial Attache William L. Cooper, London.

The duty applies to the following classes of goods on imports from all sources outside the British Empire: spiegeleisen and ferro manganese; iron and steel (including alloy steel) of the following descriptions, but not including goods otherwise dutiable:—ingots (other than those manufactured entirely from pig iron smelted wholly with charcoal); blooms, billets, slabs (other than wrought iron produced by puddling with charcoal from pig iron smelted wholly with charcoal); sheet and tin-plate bars; bars (other than wrought iron produced by puddling with charcoal from pig iron, smelted wholly with charcoal), rods, angles, shapes and sections of all kinds, whether fabricated or not; forgings (including drop forgings) in the rough or machined; castings, stampings and pressings in the rough or machined; castings, stampings and pressings in the rough or machined weighing seven pounds or over, other than gutters, domestic tanks and cisterns; horse shoes; girders, beams, joists and pillars whether fabricated or not; hoop and strip of all kinds other than hot rolled strip over 10 inches wide in coil of more than three cwts. and except bandsaw steel strip more than four inches wide and from 19 to 21 gauge (Birmingham wire) in thickness; plates and sheets of all kinds; pig iron other than pig iron smelted wholly with charcoal.

A cablegram Oct. 21 from London to the New York "Times" had the following to say regarding the order:

A Treasury order issued to-night continues the existing 33 1-3% duty on iron and steel for a further period of two years, beginning Oct. 25. This is the same duty that was imposed last April as an experiment for three months when Great Britain adopted a general tariff. It was renewed in July for another three months.

To-night's order was issued on the recommendation of the Import Duties Advisory Committee, which called attention to the fact that this protection was offered with the understanding that the steel industry complete the work of its own reorganization and more economic management, already undertaken.

British producers, through their National Committee of the iron and steel industry, expressed their appreciation of the protection already afforded, saying it reduced imports of foreign steel by 45% for July, August and September, as compared with the same three months of 1931. But it adds: "The menace of uneconomic foreign competition is still serious."

The steel committee also hints it would like to have even more protection than is now assured. It says:

"The existing duties are regarded as probably amply sufficient for normal times, but it is suggested that increases might be made in respect to a limited number of products for which they have so far proved inadequate."

The Government's Import Duties Advisory Committee does not think there should be an increase in the existing duty of 33 1-3% for the present, but it says that, if it proves insufficient after two years, the board will recommend such further measures of protection as then seem necessary.

Montagu Norman, Governor of Bank of England, Views World Helpless in Depression—Advocates System of Co-Operation in Short-Term Foreign Credits to Avoid Disastrous Overseas Loans in Future.

The world is in the grip of an economic disorder which has rendered it virtually helpless, and there is no solution in sight, Montagu C. Norman, Governor of the Bank of England, said on Oct. 20 in one of the few public speeches he ever has made, according to United Press advices from London to the New York "Herald Tribune," from which the following is also taken:

He spoke at a banquet given by the Lord Mayor of London at the Mansion House, with most of London's distinguished bankers in attendance.

"The difficulties are so vast and so unlimited that I approach the subject not only in ignorance but in humility," Mr. Norman said. "It is too much for me.

"I wonder if there is any one in the world who can really direct the affairs of the world, or of his country, with any assurance of the result his action will have?

"Who, a year ago, could have forseen the postion into which we have drifted little by little? First we have been down, then we have been up, then down, then up.

"The confused affairs of the world have brought about a series of events and a general tendency which appear to me at this time as being outside the control of any man and any Government and any country.

"I believe that if every country and every Government could get together, it would be different, but we do not seem to be able to get together.

"I have been driven to one conclusion. We must take, for the moment, a short view, but we must plan for the long.

"I am willing to do my best when it comes to the future. I hope we may all see the approach of light at the end of the tunnel. Some people already have been able to point out that light to us. I, myself, see it somewhat indistinctly, but I admit that for the moment the way is not clear."

In a cablegram, Oct. 20, from London to the New York "Times," it was stated that Mr. Norman in his speech advocated a system of co-operation and consultation in granting short-term foreign credits to avoid in the future the disastrous overseas loans of recent years. From the "Times" cablegram we also take the following:

Mr. Norman was speaking at the annual bankers' dinner given by the Lord Mayor of London at the Mansion House, with almost every leader of British finance among the guests. He carefully dealt only with the ultimate questions that eventually will need consideration and action." Among these, he said, was the co-operation of overseas lending bankers, many of whom listened to him to-night.

"These bankers have to my knowledge been generous lenders on short credit overseas," said Mr. Norman. "They have done this each for himself and without any co-operation or any knowledge by one of what the others were doing.

"I believe that if we can lay our heads together and take counsel one with the other, it will be to the advantage of all."

Six Economists Urge Britons to Spend—Keynes, Stamp, Salter, Pigou, MacGregor and Layton Join in Plea to Public—Full Use of Buying Power Declared to Be Only Road Back to Prosperity.

A cablegram, as follows, from London, Oct. 16, is taken from the New York "Times":

The public must spend its money; to restore national prosperity and increase employment there must be an end to private economy. This, in effect, was the verdict of six leading British economists, who in a letter to "The London Times" to-night indicate they have ceased preaching economy.

The economists, known throughout the world but seldom in complete agreement, are Professor David H. MacGregor of Oxford, Professor Arthur C. Pigou of Cambridge, J. M. Keynes, Sir Walter Layton, Sir Arthur Salter and Sir Josiah Stamp.

Urging abandonment of that form of wartime economy which had as its purpose the freeing of man power, machine power and shipping power from the service of the State, they declare "conduct in the matter of economy is governed by a complex of motives. Some people, doubtless, are stinting their consumption because their incomes are diminished and they cannot spend as much as usual; others because their incomes are expected to diminish and they dare not do so.

"What it is in any individual's private interest to do and what weight he ought to assign to that private interest against the public interest when the two conflict is not for us to judge. But one thing is, in our opinion, clear: the public interest, in the present condition, does not point to private economy. To spend less money than we should like to is not patriotic."

THE OCTOBER FINANCING OF THE U. S. TREASURY.

The very extensive financing done by the United States Treasury at the usual quarterly period in September was followed by one major piece of financing also in October in addition, of course, to the customary disposals of United States Treasury bills sold on a discount basis. On Thursday, Oct. 6, A. A. Balantine, Acting Secretary of the Treasury, offered for subscription at par $450,000,000, "or thereabouts," of 4½-year 3% Treasury notes. The notes were dated Oct. 15 1932 and will mature April 15 1937 and are not subject to call for redemption prior to maturity. As in the case of all other recent offerings of United States obligations, these notes were made exempt, both as to principal and interest, from all taxation (except estate or inheritance taxes) imposed by the United States as also all taxes by States and by possessions of the United States or by any local taxing authority. This meant that these notes were issued free from the surtaxes, as well as the ordinary income taxes, both Federal and State—an advantage always of high importance, and especially after the radical increases in both the Federal normal taxes and the surtaxes. This new note issue followed rapidly upon the heels of the large issue of notes in September, when the Secretary of the Treasury offered $750,000,000, "or thereabouts," of five-year 3¼% Treasury notes along with $400,000,000, "or thereabouts," of one-year Treasury certificates of indebtedness bearing only 1¼% interest, and when the allotments in the case of the five-year Treasury notes were $834,401,500, and in the case of the one-year certificates of indebtedness $451,447,000, making the combined allotment $1,285,848,500. As in the case of the September issues, the subscription books for the $450.000,000 of Treasury notes now offered were closed at the close of business on the first day of the offering, so overwhelming were the applications. As also in the September case, subscriptions for which payment was tendered in Treasury certificates of indebtedness maturing Oct. 15, were given preferred allotment. The new notes were designed to meet $333,492,500 of Treasury certificates of indebtedness maturing Oct. 15 1932. Payment for the new issue had to be made on Oct. 15. Aggregate subscriptions reached more than 18 times the amount of the $450,000,000 offered, or $8,368,-343,700. The cash subscriptions amounted to $8,050,181,700, while the subscriptions for which maturing certificates of indebtedness were tendered in payment footed up $318,-162,000. The total amount allotted was $508,338,600, of which $318,162,000 were exchange subscriptions and were allotted in full. The allotments for the cash subscriptions were on a graduated scale, beginning with 10% on the smaller subscriptions and tapering down to 2% on subscriptions in amounts over $500,000. In pursuance to previous practice, banks were permitted to make payment by credit for notes allotted to them for themselves and their customers up to any amount for which they were qualified in excess of existing deposits, and the effect of the new sale was to further increase Government deposits with the ordinary banks.

The Government deposits growing out of the $508,338,600 of new notes allotted aggregated $131,000,000, of which $62,-100,000 were in the New York Federal Reserve District. This was in addition to the Government deposits growing out of the disposal of the $834,401,500 of five-year 3¼% Treasury notes, and the $451,447,000 of 1¼% one-year Treasury certificates of indebtedness in September, and which still remained available for call by the Treasury. These Government deposits growing out of the previous month's sales aggregated altogether $563,944,000 (of which $278,-779,249 was in the New York Federal Reserve District), and, as was pointed out by us in our review for the month of September, no drafts on such deposits by the Treasury had been made by the end of that month. The first draft upon such deposits apparently did not occur until Oct. 20, when a call for repayment on Oct. 24 of $33,836,600 was made, of which $16,725,400 represented deposits in the New York Federal Reserve District; this was followed by a call on Oct. 27 for repayment on Oct. 31 of $15,813,200, and the same amount on Nov. 1 1932, of which $7,861,000 in each case represented Government deposits in the New York Federal Reserve District. Still another call was made Oct. 31 requiring repayment of $24,774,100 on Nov. 3, and the same amount on Nov. 4, of which $12,315,500 in each case represented Government deposits in the New York District. Parenthetically it may be noted that the last of the drafts on the Government deposits growing out of the disposal of two series of notes towards the end of July for amount of $710,430,600, and which notes were dated Aug. 1 1932, did not come until Oct. 17, when there was a final call for repayment on Oct. 21 of $14,171,500 (of which $6,691,900 was in the New York District).

There were three sales of Treasury bills on a discount basis during October, and the feature of these sales was a further decline to the Government in the costs of this form of borrowing, the rate dropping until the figure was close to nothing. As noted in our review for the month of September, a sale of $100,665,000 of 91-day Treasury bills was made towards the close of that month at a figure so high that the average rate on a bank discount basis was less than ¼ of 1% per year, or, to be exact, at 0.23% per annum, thereby establishing a new low record for this class of borrowing. But such was the superabundance of idle funds resulting from the congestion at the financial centers of loanable supplies for which no employment could be found that the cost of this class of borrowing was to be even further reduced in October, until it became an actual fact that the cost really very closely approached the zero point. On Oct. 3 Acting Secretary of the Treasury Ballantine announced that tenders would be received up to 2 p. m. Eastern Standard Time for an issue of $75,000,000, "or thereabouts," of 92-day bills. The proceeds were to be used to retire an issue of $50,278,000 of bills falling due on Oct. 11, the remainder of the amount representing an addition to the public debt. The new issue was dated Oct. 11 1932, on which date payment for the new bills had to be made, and is to mature on Jan. 11 1933. The result was that another now low interest rate for this class of borrowing was established. Tenders of $259,468,000 were received and bids of $75,954,000 were accepted. The average price realized by the Government was 99.951, making the average rate on a bank discount basis about 0.19%.

But even this abnormally low figure was again to be beaten. On Oct. 12 Acting Secretary of the Treasury Ballantine invited tenders up to 2 p. m. Eastern Standard Time, Monday, Oct. 17, for another issue of $75,000,000, "or thereabouts," of 91-day bills. The proceeds in this instance were to be used to meet maturing bills of substantially the same amount. The bills were to bear date Oct. 19 1932 and to mature on Jan. 18 1933. Payment had to be made on Oct. 19. The tenders for this offering aggregated $252,465,000, and the amount accepted was $75,110,000. The average price realized by the Treasury was 99.965, making the average rate on a bank discount basis about 0.14% per annum—that is less than 1/7 of 1% per year.

That it is no exaggeration to say that the cost to the Government at such an abnormally low rate of interest is virtually next to nothing appears when an actual calculation is made to show how little the Government is obliged to pay out for a loan for the amount named for the whole period of 91 days which the bills run. The tenders accepted in this instance, as already stated, aggregated $75,110,000, and that is the amount that will have to be repaid by the Government to the purchasers of the bills at maturity on Jan. 18 1933, the sum given being the face amount of the bills, no interest accruing thereon. The price realized was, at stated, 99.965. Applying this to the $75,110,000 of bills issued, the proceeds of the sale to the Government seem to have been $75,083,711.50. The difference between this figure and the face amount of the bills is only $26,289, and, accordingly, the Treasury gets a loan of $75,110,000 for three months at the trivial cost of $26,289.

Obviously, it would be a mistake to think that the price paid for these Treasury bills, representing short-term borrowing, is indicative of the high state of credit of the United States. It is, of course, nothing of the sort. It reflects a wholly abnormal state of the money market, artificially created, one manifestation of which is that there is a vast accumulation of idle funds at the financial centers for which no employment can be found. These funds find their way into Government obligations as the readiest means at hand. The reason for the abnormal and artificial state of the money market is found in the main in two causes, namely, the large-scale holdings of United States Government obligations by the Federal Reserve banks and the easy money policy of the Federal Reserve System.

There was still another sale of Treasury bills during October which also was on extremely favorable terms to the Government and at absurdly low rates of interest, though the average was a trifle higher than at the previous sale and hence established no new low record. On Oct. 19 Secretary of the Treasury Ogden L. Mills announced an offering of 91-day bills to the amount of $80,000,000, "or thereabouts," the proceeds to be applied to meet a maturing issue of $83,317,000. These bills are dated Oct. 26 1932 and will mature Jan. 25 1933, on which date the face amount is payable by the Government without interest. Tenders were received up to 2 p. m. Oct. 24. This offering brought tenders of $227,202,000, of which $80,295,000 were accepted by the Treasury Department. The average price realized by the Treasury was 99.951, making the average rate on a bank discount basis 0.20%, as against 0.14% at the immediately preceding sale.

NEW SECURITY ISSUES AND DIVIDENDS IN OCTOBER.

Domestic security offerings during the month of October were again very light. As far as corporate offerings are concerned they embraced chiefly public utility financing. One of the prominent issues of the month was the $18,000,000 Connecticut River Power Co. 1st mtge. s. f. 5% gold bonds, series A, at 94 and int., yielding about 5½% and due Oct. 1 1952. The offerings of $2,000,000 or over for October comprised the following:

PUBLIC UTILITY FINANCING.

$18,000,000 Connecticut River Power Co.—1st mtge. s. f. 5% gold bonds, series A at 94 and int., yielding about 5½%, and due Oct. 1 1952. By a syndicate consisting of Chase Harris Forbes Corp.; First of Boston Corp.; Bankers Trust Co.; Baker, Young & Co.; Lee Higginson Corp.; Paine, Webber & Co.; Bodell & Co.; Stone & Webster and Blodget, Inc.; Hornblower & Weeks; Otis & Co., Inc., and the N. W. Harris Co., Inc.

15,000,000 Detroit Edison Co.—5% gen. & ref. mtge., series E gold bonds at 99½ and int., yielding over 5% and due Oct. 1 1952. By a banking group headed by Coffin & Burr, Inc., and including Chase Harris Forbes Corp., Spencer Trask & Co., Bankers Trust Co. and First Detroit Co., Inc.

9,000,000 North Boston Lighting Properties.—5-yr. 5½% secured gold notes at par and due Oct. 15 1937. By a banking group headed by Chase Harris Forbes Corp., and including the First of Boston Corp.; Bankers Trust Co.; Baker, Young & Co.; Lee Higginson Corp.; F. S. Moseley & Co.; Paine, Webber & Co.; Bodell & Co.; Stone & Webster and Blodget, Inc.; Hornblower & Weeks; Otis & Co., Inc.; Tenney & Co.; Edward M. Bradley & Co., Inc.; H. P. Wood & Co., and the N. W. Harris Co., Inc.

7,500,000 Union Electric Light & Power Co. (Missouri)—Additional issue of 5% series, gen. mtge. gold bonds at 99½ and int., to yield over 5% and due April 1 1957. By Dillon, Reed & Co.; Chase Harris Forbes Corp.; Bankers Trust Co.; Spencer Trask & Co.; Stone & Webster and Blodget, Inc.; the N. W. Harris Co., Inc., and Blyth & Co., Inc.

6,000,000 Eastern Utilities Associates—3-yr. 5% gold notes at 98⅝ to yield 5.50% and due Oct. 15 1935. By an investment banking group consisting of Stone & Webster and Blodget, Inc.; Estabrook & Co.; Kidder Peabody & Co., and F. S. Moseley & Co.

5,330,000 Pennsylvania Electric Co.—Conv. gold notes, 6½s due 1933, 7s due 1934, and 7½s due 1935. By the Associated Gas & Electric Securities Co., Inc.

MUNICIPAL FINANCING.

$4,000,000 Buffalo, N. Y., 3.80% refg. bonds, due serially from 1933 to 1952 incl., awarded to the First National Bank, of New York, and associates, at 100.20, a basis of about 3.78%. Reoffered at prices to yield from 2% to 3.75%, according to maturity.

3,465,000 Massachusetts (State of) 3½% bonds, comprised three separate issues, due annually from 1933 to 1962 incl., awarded to a group headed by Estabrook & Co., of Boston, at 102.28, a basis of about 3.28%. Reoffered on a yield basis of from 1% to 3.25%, according to maturity.

3,392,100 Philadelphia, Pa., 5% bonds representing subscriptions received locally during October to an original issue of $20,000,000 bonds which had been on sale at the City Treasurer's office, at par, since June 3 1932, when the issue failed of award when offered at competitive sale. The subscriptions received during October completed the sale of the entire issue of bonds.

3,000,000 Nassau Co., N. Y., bonds, consisted of $1,620,000 4¾s and $1,380,000 3¾s, due serially from 1935 to 1960 incl., purchased by the Chase Harris Forbes Corp., of New York, and associates, at 100.24, a basis of about 3.90%. The $1,620,000 4¾s were reoffered to yield from 3.25 to 3.75%, according to maturity, while the yield on the $1,380,000 3¾s ranged from 3.90 to 3.95%.

2,330,000 Syracuse, N. Y., bonds, comprised $1,270,000 4s and $1,060,000 3½s, due serially from 1933 to 1972 incl., awarded to a group managed by the Chemical Bank & Trust Co., of New York, at 100.019, a basis of about 3.68%. Publicly offered at prices to yield from 2% to 3.75%, according to coupon rate and maturity date.

2,000,000 Illinois (State of) 4% highway bonds, due annually from 1945 to 1948 incl., purchased by a group headed by the Continental Illinois Co., of Chicago, at 99.17, a basis of about 4.07%.

2,000,000 Missouri (State of) 3½% road bonds, due $1,000,000 in 1948 and 1949, awarded to a syndicate headed by the First National Bank, of New York, at 95, a basis of about 3.91%.

Changes in dividend declarations in October were not as numerous as in previous months and were again mostly of an unfavorable nature. The following table, divided into two sections, namely, "Favorable Changes" and "Unfavorable Changes," gives the more important of the changes:

FAVORABLE CHANGES.

Blauner's, Inc.—Dividend on the no par common stock resumed by the payment of 25c. a share on this issue.

Brandon Corp., Greenville, S. C.—Dividend on the 7% pref. stock resumed by the payment of $3.50 a share. The last semi-annual div. on this issue amounting to $3.50 a share was made in Jan. 1930.

Capital City Products Co.—Dividend on the no par common stock resumed by the payment of 10c. a share.

Capital Management Corp.—Quar. div. on the capital stock increased from 12½c. a sh. to 25c. a share.

Counsellors Fund, Inc., Boston.—Dividend on the no par common stock of 28c. a share. A dividend of 26c. a share was paid previously on this issue.

Edison Electric Illuminating Co. of Brockton.—Extra dividend o 20c. a share on the capital stock in addition to the reg. quar. div. o 75c. a share.

Egry Register Co.—Quar. div. of 50c. on the $2 cum. cl A. common stock resumed. A similar distribution was made each quarter from Oct. 1 1928 to and incl. Jan. 2 1932.

Elgin Sweeper Co.—A quar. div. of 25c. per share (not 50c., as reported in last month's issue) has been declared on the $2 cum. & partic. cov. prior pref. stock, no par value, payable Oct. 1 to holders of record Sept. 20. Three months ago a similar payment was made, prior to which the stock was on a regular $2 annual div. basis.

Fidelity Fund, Inc.—Extra div. on the capital stock increased from 10c. a share to 15c. a share.

Guelph (Ont.) Carpet & Worseted Spinning Mills, Ltd.—Div. on the no par common stock resumed by the payment of 50c. a share on this issue.

Havana Electric & Utilities Co.—Resumes div. on the 6% cum. 1st pref. stock by payment of 75c. a share.

Loblaw Groceterias Co., Ltd.—Extra div. of 20c. a share in addition to the reg. quar. div. of 20c. a share on the class A and B stocks of no par value.

Merchants Fire Assurance Co.—Div. of 50c. a share on the common stock payable Nov. 1 1932. This represents a reg. quar. div. of 25c. a share and a further payment of 25c. as the equivalent of the div. omitted last May.

New York & Hanseatic Corp.—Stock div. of 5% on the capital stock in addition to a cash div. of $1 a share.

New York Title & Mortgage Co.—It was erroneously reported in our issue of Oct. 7, that the quar. div. had been decreased from 15c. to 12½c. per share. This was an error as the company had declared the usual quarterly distribution of 15c. per share, payable Sept. 30 1932 to holders of record Sept. 26. Like amounts were also paid on March 31 and June 30 1932.

Pacific Fire Insurance Co.—Div. on capital stock resumed by the payment of 50c. a share.

Richmond Insurance Co., West New Brighton, N. Y.—Initial div. of 10c. a share on the new common stock of $5 par value.

St. Lawrence Flour Mills, Ltd.—Quar. div. of 37½c. a share on the common stock. This is the first div. paid on this issue since Feb. 1 1925.

Standard Fire Insurance Co. of N. J.—Quar. div. on the capital stock increased from 25c. a share to 37½c. a share.

United Linen Supply Co.—Quar. div. on the no par class B stock increased from 50c. a share to 75c. a share.

United States Fire Insurance Co. of N. Y.—Div. of 30c. a share on the capital stock payable Nov. 1. A distribution of 10c. a share was made on Aug. 1 last.

UNFAVORABLE CHANGES.

Allied Telephone Utilities Co.—Quar. div. of 43¾c. a share on the $1.75 cum. pref. stock omitted.

American Book Co.—Quar. div. on the common stock reduced from $1.75 a share to $1 a share.

American Shipbuilding Co.—Quar. div. of 1¾% on the 7% non-cum. pref. stock omitted.

American Trustee Share Corp.—Semi-ann. distribution of $124.78 per unit of 1,000 shares of diversified trustee shares, series D, equal to 12.478c. per share. Six months ago a distribution of 18.685c. a share was made on this issue.

Arrowhead Bridge Co.—Quar. div. of 1¾% a share on the 7% cum. 1st pref. stock omitted.

Associated Gas & Electric Co.—Div. due about Nov. 1 on the no par class A stock omitted. A div. of 1-80th of a share in common stock was paid on this issue on May 2 and Aug. 1 last. The div. due Nov. 1 on the $4 cum. preference stock was also omitted.

Atlantic Coast Line RR.—Semi-ann. div. of 2½% on the 5% non-cum. pref. stock omitted.

Atlantic Ice Mfg. Co.—Annual div. on the common stock reduced from $2 a share to $1 a share.

Bond & Mortgage Guarantee Co.—Quar. div. on the capital stock reduced from 80c. a share to 50c. a share.

HE COURSE OF THE STOCK MARKET DURING OCTOBER.

During October the stock market was again reactionary, ith a quite notable further break during the first 10 days f the month, and with a period of dullness and stagnation r the rest of the month, during which prices continued regularly lower, with an occasional upward rally of limited uration and of narrow dimensions. All the security markets labored under the deadening influence of the Presidential campaign, which grew in bitterness and became very eated during the course of the month, and pending the outome of which no one seemed inclined to enter into any xtensive commitments in the market, one way or the other. n addition, however, there were other disturbing developments and incidents which were certainly not calculated to romote confidence in security values or to arouse enthusism for higher prices. Among these depressing features oremost place must unquestionably be assigned to a new ruption of weakness in commodity prices, both wheat and otton having sharply declined, the first of these to the owest level reached in centuries, leaving the position of he agricultural classes even more dismal than before. As oted in the earlier part of this article, the December option or wheat in Chicago touched 43⅛c. on Oct. 31 against 54⅜c. Oct. 4, and grain prices, as a matter of fact, kept almost ontinuously sinking from the beginning to the end of the month, while the price of spot cotton in New York dropped o 6.15c. on Oct. 31 against 9.00c. on Sept. 7 and 9.20c. on Aug. 29, showing a depreciation of more than $15 a bale rom the best figures of the early summer. Then, also, the bsence of any pronounced indications of sustained recovery n trade and business tended to undermine confidence once nore in the future. Steel production, it is true, showed a rifling increase at low levels, the steel mills of the country eing engaged to about 20% of capacity at the close of the month against 17½% at the opening of the month, and only 14% during the July 4 holiday period, but iron and steel prices displayed a declining tendency and the renewed depression in the commodity markets appeared to place in jeopardy what little recovery in general trade and business had already occurred. Towards the end of the month the United States Steel Corporation marked down the price of steel rails from $43 a ton to $40, which step was followed by the other steel producers, but this was a move designed to stimulate buying on the part of the railroads, and yet did not appear to be very effective toward that end. Anxiety regarding the state of the railroads continued as a repellent influence, and was aggravated by fears that the New York Chicago & St. Louis RR. might not be able to escape a receivership. This road, in an advertisement in the daily papers on Monday, Oct. 3, stated that "71% of the holders of the $20,000,000 6% notes which fell due on Oct. 1 had agreed to the terms of the Inter-State Commerce Commission, but that a receivership could be averted only if substantially all of the holders agreed to an extension for three years of 75% of the principal of the loan under the conditions imposed by the Inter-State Commerce Commission." The railroad list at times was conspicuously weak, and as a further deterrent on Stock Exchange speculation the bond market manifested repeated weakness—not in the case of the gilt-edged issues, where prices were well maintained, but in the case of the low-priced issues, where prices tumbled badly, railroad bonds constituting noteworthy examples of this.

A very disturbing incident, but of temporary duration, was a remark made by President Hoover in one of his campaign speeches in an effort to prove how valiant he had been in defense of the country's interests. This occurred in the speech made by Mr. Hoover at Des Moines, Iowa, Oct. 4, in which he was led to say, in discussisng the withdrawals of gold on foreign account, that at one time (Mr. Hoover did not mention the precise date) the Federal Reserve banks had been so close to the suspension of gold payments that he had been informed by the Secretary of the Treasury that gold payments could be maintained for only two weeks longer unless the Reserve Act was amended, as it subsequently was. This had a very bad effect abroad, and all the leading foreign exchanges at New York turned against the United States for the time being. The President's statement met with vigorous denials from Senator Carter Glass and Senator Hull, both in a position to speak with authority regarding the matter, and from inside knowledge, and in any event it was made plain to the satisfaction of financial interests abroad that no inherent weakness in the Federal Reserve's gold position was to be implied from the President's remarks. The foreign exchanges, as a result, quickly returned to the normal. The latter half of the month the collapse of the pound sterling was an unsettling feature. While this cannot be said to have had any direct effect upon stock speculation, or the course of security values, it was certainly not an exhilarating influence, inasmuch as the depreciation in the sterling rate reached nearly 19c. to the pound. New York City financial affairs likewise furnished occasion for worry, which was not without some retarding effects upon the financial markets, inasmuch as the city found itself in a desperate plight financially and banking interests felt they could not undertake with any hope of success among investors the floating of any considerable amounts of city obligations unless the city budget was very substantially reduced in accordance with the promise to that effect made by the city authorities at the beginning of the year, and which promises the Board of Estimate refused to carry out, now that Mayor James J. Walker, because of his resignation, was no longer at the head of the city administration. Through a compromise the banks agreed to make a loan of $21,500,000 to tide the city over its need for the Nov. 1 payroll and other pressing immediate requirements. The month was not without some favorable influences as affecting the course of security values, such as the advances in the price of gasoline by certain companies, but these passed almost without notice in the general unsettlement, about the only effect being a slight stiffening in the price of some of the oil shares.

As already stated, stocks were quite severely depressed in the early days of October. On Wednesday, Oct. 5, the market suffered a very bad slump, and all the active issues dropped all the way from $2 to $8 a share on a selling wave which ranked among the most noteworthy of the year. The composite average of the New York "Times," based on 50 selected stocks, showed a net decline for that day of $5.20 a share, the 25 industrial stocks having suffered a net drop of $7.03 a share and the 25 rail issues $3.36. The "Times" said that this shrinkage in the composite average was the sharpest of any day since Oct. 13 1931. The decline continued on succeeding days under the influence of the adverse developments already noted, and the lowest figures of the month, as a rule, were recorded on Oct. 10, though in some instances not until a few days later. Somewhat of an upward reaction occurred on Oct. 11, due apparently to the covering of outstanding short commitments, in view of the fact that the next day was Columbus Day and a holiday, when the Stock Exchange would be closed. On Oct. 13, however, after the holiday, there was renewed weakness, but followed on Friday, Oct. 14, by quite a manifestation of strength, which again seemed to be accounted for, in the main, by extensive covering of outstanding short commitments. The remainder of the month prices drifted slowly downward, with occasional mild rallies in a market that was dull almost to the point of stagnation, there being general listlessness even among the trading fraternity. There was a mild exhibition of strength on Oct. 26, 27 and 28, with moderate upward reactions which may have been due to the action of the United States Steel Corporation in announcing, after the close of business on Oct. 25, that the directors had decided to continue the 1¾% quarterly dividend on the preferred shares of the company, though the income statement of the company for the September quarter was the poorest ever submitted for any quarterly period in the entire history of the Corporation. The action was taken as indicating a belief in better trade conditions for the near future.

Trading was light all through the month, though it was not until the closing days that it became what might be termed absolutely lifeless. In the first half of the month transactions still ran in the neighborhood of 2,000,000 shares a day, but after Oct. 14 even 1,000,000-share days were rare, while after Friday, Oct. 21, the million-share figure was never even closely approached on any day. On Monday, Oct. 31, trading aggregated only 384,760 shares, the smallest day's business for any full day since June 1924. For the entire month the sales aggregated no more than 29,201,959 shares, the smallest for any month since the previous July, when the sales totaled 23,057,334 shares, and the smallest for any October since 1924, the month prior to the election of President Coolidge. In October 1931 the total of the sales was 47,896,533 shares; in October 1930, 65,497,479 shares, and in October 1929, 141,668,410 shares. On the New York Curb Exchange the sales for the month were no more than 3,701,930 shares. This compared with 8,702,369 shares in October 1931; 15,449,900 shares in October 1930, and 61,836,200 shares in October 1929.

As already indicated, as far as the general averages are concerned, the low point of the month was reached quite generally on Oct. 10, but some slight recoveries occurred in the middle of the month, with a renewed drift downward in a moderate kind of way during the last 10 days of the month. The composite averages for the 50 stocks included in the New York "Times" compilation show that from a high for the month of 65.57 on Oct. 1 there was a drop to 51.63 Oct. 10, with the close Oct. 31 at 56.32. The 25 railroad stocks included in the 50 declined from a high of 28.86 Oct. 1 to a low of 18.92 Oct. 10, with the close Oct. 31 at 22.87, while the 25 industrial stocks declined from a high of 102.84 Oct. 4 to 84.35 Oct. 10, with the close Oct. 31 at 89.77. During the month 27 stocks on the Stock Exchange reached new low figures for the year, and on the Curb Exchange 36 stocks also made new low records for the year. The separate stocks may be said to have followed much the same course in their fluctuations as the general average. American Tel. & Tel. fell from 113¾ Oct. 1 to 98¼ Oct. 13, and closed Oct. 31 at 103⅝. United States Steel dropped from 44 Oct. 1 to 33½ Oct. 13, with the close Oct. 31 at 35⅝. J. I. Case Threshing Machine was at its high for the month on Oct. 4 at 57, and at its low, 35⅜, Oct. 13, with the close Oct. 31 at 39⅞. In the case of American Can the extremes were 56¼ Oct. 4 and 45¾ Oct. 10, with the close Oct. 31 at 52 ex-div. Allied Chemical & Dye dropped from 82 Oct. 4 to 66⅝ Oct. 13, and closed Oct. 31 at 73¾. E. I. du Pont de Nemours was at 43¾ Oct. 1 and at 31⅞ Oct. 26, and closed Oct. 31 at 34. General Electric declined from 18⅞ Oct. 3 to 14⅜ Oct. 10, and closed Oct. 31 at 15⅜. American & Foreign Power fell from 11 Oct. 4 to 6 Oct. 10, and closed Oct. 31 at 7¾. Consolidated Gas of New York declined from 62⅜ Oct. 4 to 51 Oct. 10, and closed Oct. 31 at 56⅞. North American fell from 34¾ Oct. 4 to 25⅜ Oct. 10, with the close Oct. 31 at 28⅝. Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing dropped from 37⅜ Oct. 4 to 24⅜ Oct. 26, with the close Oct. 31 at 26¼. Standard Oil of New Jersey declined from 31 Oct. 1 to 27½ Oct. 10, with the close Oct. 31 at 30⅛, the advances in gasoline prices having stiffened market values of the oil shares, as already noted further above. The tobacco stocks were a weak feature on several occasions during the month on account of increased competition from 10c. cigarettes, and American Tobacco fell from 76½ Oct. 5 to 59½ Oct. 21, with the close Oct. 31 at 64.

In the railroad list Atchison common dropped from 55⅜ Oct. 3 to 35½ Oct. 10, with the close Oct. 31 at 42¼. Norfolk & Western fell from 106½ Oct. 3 to 88½ Oct. 10, with the close Oct. 31 at 98. Delaware & Hudson tumbled from 74½ Oct. 3 to 54 Oct. 10, with the close Oct. 31 at 60 bid. New York Central moved down from 30 Oct. 1 to 18⅞ Oct. 10, with the close Oct. 31 at 23⅞. Union Pacific fell from 76¼ Oct. 1 to 53⅝ Oct. 10, with the close Oct. 31 at 65. It will be observed that the railroad shares enjoyed more of a recovery than any of the other principal groups, and this was doubtless due to the fact that the income returns of the railroads for the month of September began coming in the latter part of October, and in not a few instances showed improved net earnings compared with the same month of the previous year, notwithstanding continued heavy losses in the gross earnings, indicating that railroad managers were carrying out drastic policies of retrenchment in their operating accounts.

The bond market, as already indicated, showed conspicuous weakness in the case of the low-priced issues, especially in the railroad group, while manifesting firmness in the case of the high-priced issues and also in the case of United States Government obligations. In the following table we show the fluctuations in the different issues of United States obligations, and also in a large list of railroad and industrial bonds, and a considerable number likewise of foreign bond issues.

THE MONEY MARKET DURING OCTOBER 1932.

There was a further reduction during October in the rates charged for loans and the use of banking credit in all branches of the money market as a result of the abnormal conditions existing where enormous masses of idle funds are congested in the financial centers. During October this ngestion was not relieved in any degree, but, on the con- ary, was further intensified by the inflow of gold from road and the release of gold held here for foreign account, d likewise the increase in National bank circulation. The ew York Federal Reserve Bank figures out a net addition $70,000,000 to the gold stock of the country during the onth of October, and also estimates that there was a rther increase in National bank circulation during the onth in amount of $30,000,000. This came at a time when ere was very little mercantile demand for banking accom- odation, because of the depression in trade, and when also ere was no speculative demand for banking credit, either the stock market or in the commodity markets, trading the Stock Exchange having rapidly dwindled. As a conse- uence, rates dropped to new low figures for call loans, for me loans, for mercantile paper, and for bankers' accept- nces. The offering on Oct. 6 by the United States Treasury $450,000,000, "or thereabouts," of 4½-year Treasury notes, eflected the conditions prevailing, as subscriptions were eceived for over 18 times the amount of the offering, or or an aggregate of $8,368,343,700, out of which the Treasury epartment made allotments of $508,338,600. The contribu- ory causes to the further plethora are outlined as follows y the New York Federal Reserve Bank:

"A continued flow of funds into the banks has occurred uring the past month. As in the two previous months, me of the funds have been used either for further repay- ents of member bank indebtedness at the Reserve banks r as the basis for expansion of bank credit, and the re- ainder has been added to unemployed reserves. The prin- ipal receipts of funds by member banks during the past hree months, and the ways in which the funds have been sed, have been as follows:

	July 27 to Oct. 26.
unds obtained through:
Gold imports, releases of earmarked gold, &c	$297,000,000
Increase in Treasury currency outstanding (chiefly new National bank notes)	134,000,000
Net receipt of all kinds of currency from circulation	106,000,000
Total funds received	$537,000,000
isposition of funds:
Used to repay borrowings at Federal Reserve banks	$203,000,000
Used as reserve against increased deposits, which resulted partly from credit expansion	90,000,000
Total funds used	$293,000,000
Amount added to excess reserves	$244,000,000

"As this indicates, the largest gain of funds has been hrough the rise in this country's monetary gold stock, which has been supplemented by the issuance of a sub- tantial volume of new National bank notes and by a eturn flow of currency to the banks which is contrary to easonal tendency. Over $200,000,000 of the funds have been sed to repay borrowings from the Reserve banks, about 90,000,000 have been absorbed by the increase in member ank reserve requirements, and the remainder has not thus ar been employed."

On Thursday, Oct. 13 the call loan rate on the New York Stock Exchange was marked down from 2%, the figure which had prevailed since July 7, to 1%. In the outside market funds had been available on call at 1% for a long time; and after the marking down of the official rate to the same figure, loans outside the Stock Exchange the rest of the month were available at only ¾ of 1% per annum. The time loan branch of the market also became further demoralized. Even before the marking down of the call loan rate time loan rates were quoted at ¾@1¼% for all dates from 30 days to six months, though these were purely nominal figures, there being virtually no demand for time loans and with only an occasional transaction in such loans. The latter part of the month the quotation for time money was down to ½% for 30 and 60 days, to ¾% for 90 days and four months, and to 1% for five and six months, where- upon some little activity in this branch of the market became noticeable.

Prime commercial paper continued in good demand, as before, but there was all the time a shortage of first-class paper, restricting sales. Quotations for choice names of four to six months' maturities dropped from 2@2¼% to 1¾@2%. Names less well known commanded 2¼% as against the previous 2½%. On some very high-class paper occasional transactions at 1½% were noted. The New York Federal Reserve Bank on Oct. 19 issued a statement saying that reports received from commercial paper dealers showed a total of $117,900,000 of open market commercial paper outstanding on Sept. 30 as against $108,100,000 on Aug. 31 and $100,400,000 on July 31, but being nevertheless less than half as large as on Sept. 30 1931.

The market for bankers' acceptances during October was without special feature except that, as in other branches of the money market, rates were further reduced. The reduction came on Thursday, Oct. 13, the day after the Columbus holiday, the same day when the call loan rate on the Stock Exchange was cut from 2% per year to 1%. The rates for bankers' acceptances, which had been ⅞% bid and ¾% asked for 30, 60 and 90 days, were then reduced to ⅝% bid and ½% asked for the same maturities, while the rate for bills of 120 days was reduced from 1% bid and ⅞% asked to ¾% bid and ⅝% asked, and the rate for bills running 150 and 180 days from 1¼% bid and 1⅛% asked to 1% bid and ¾% asked. As previously, dealings in bankers' acceptances were greatly restricted, owing to the inadequate supply of paper, though the volume of paper outstanding increased a trifle. From the survey of the American Acceptance Council as of Sept. 30, released in a statement issued on Oct. 20, it appeared that after a long period of decline in the volume of bankers' acceptances outstanding, a turn had occurred and an increase of $1,723,339 was shown as compared with the amount outstanding at the end of August. Robert H. Bean, Executive Secretary of the American Acceptance Council, observed that while this increase was relatively unimportant when compared with the total volume of bills, it did indicate the beginning of a seasonal use of acceptance credits for financing. The total of acceptances outstanding was given as $683,189,146 on Sept. 30 as compared with $681,465,807 on Aug. 31. As compared with 12 months before, on Sept. 30 1931, however, when the volume of bills was close to a billion dollars, or, in exact figures, $996,365,078, a shrinkage of $313,175,932 was disclosed. Mr. Bean observed that it was particularly encouraging to note that the volume of "foreign bills," generally referred to as German credits, had now been reduced $105.000,000 since Sept. 30 1931, and was down to considerably less than half the peak volume for this type of business. He also remarked that not in the history of acceptance financing had it been possible for producers of commodities in the crop moving time of the year to finance their business at so low a cost as at present. The recent reduction in bankers' bills to ⅝@½% up to 90 days—the lowest rate on record—made it possible to arrange crop financing at previously unheard-of rates. The condition of the bill market, so far as it affected the supply and demand, remained unchanged, with dealers' portfolios at record low levels. The holding of bills by the large accepting banks continued to account for nearly 80% of all created bills. As of the end of September, accepting banks were holding of their own or other banks' bills a total of $519,209,122. This amount was, however, $54,000,000 less than the total held by these banks as of the end of the previous month. Accepting banks of the Second Federal Reserve District alone, it was stated, held $392,778,816 at the end of September.

The Federal Reserve banks held virtually no domestic acceptances in their portfolios, the total of a little in excess of $33,000,000 reported from week to week consisting almost entirely of foreign bills, largely in the nature of frozen assets, since they have to be extended anew with each maturity date. The latest figures available respecting these foreign bills are of date Sept. 30, when the amount was reported at $30,849,000. The Federal Reserve banks did not lower their buying rates for acceptances when open market rates for bankers' acceptances were reduced on Oct. 13. In other words, the bill buying rate of the New York Reserve Bank continued at 1% for maturities of one to 90 days; 1⅛% for 91 to 120 days, and at 1½% for maturities of from 121 to 180 days. The holdings of acceptances on account of foreign central banks fell off during the month from $43,486,000 Sept. 28 to $37,993,000 Oct. 26.

THE RETURNS OF THE FEDERAL RESERVE BANKS—BROKERS' LOANS IN NEW YORK CITY.

The Federal Reserve banks continued to strengthen their position during October. They further reduced the volume of Federal Reserve notes in circulation, further increased their holdings of gold, and also showed some moderate further decrease in the volume of Reserve credit outstanding. The total of Federal Reserve notes in circulation, which had decreased from $2,861,948,000 July 20 to $2,814,020,000 on Aug. 21, and then to $2,720,988,000 Sept. 28, showed a further contraction to $2,688,871,000 Oct. 26. This acted as an offset to the increase which was taking place in National bank circulation as a result of the Borah-Glass rider to the Federal Home Loan Bank Act. Apparently the increase in National bank circulation during October was about $30,000,000, and this comes after, roughly, $50,000,000 increase in September and the same amount in August. The volume of Reserve credit outstanding as measured by the holdings of bills and securities fluctuated moderately from week to week, and Oct. 26 was $2,212,391,000 as against $2,231,806,000 Sept. 28. The holdings of United States Government securities remained substantially unchanged as far as the total is concerned, this being reported at $1,850,949,000 Oct. 26 as against $1,853,683,000 Sept. 28, though some of the separate items going to make up the total showed considerable change. The holdings of acceptances purchased in the open market also remained essentially unchanged at $33,695,000 Oct. 26 in comparison with $33,604,000 Sept. 28, and, as pointed out in our discussion of the market for bankers' acceptances, is made up almost entirely of foreign bills in the nature of frozen assets which have to be renewed whenever they mature. The holdings of discounted bills, reflecting member bank borrowing, which at Oct. 26 were $322,322,000 as against $339,647,000 Sept. 28, account for nearly the whole of the decrease in the total of the bill and security holdings. Gold reserves increased from $2,878,646,000 Sept. 28 to $2,992,623,000 Oct. 26. This increase in the gold holdings, concurrently with the contraction in Federal Reserve note circulation, brought with it an increase in the ratio of total reserves to deposit and Federal Reserve note liabilities combined of only from 60.8% Sept. 28 to 61.9% Oct. 26, but that was due to the fact that deposit liabilities ran up during the four weeks from $2,353,142,000 to $2,469,993,000, owing entirely to the circumstance that member bank reserve deposits increased from $2,268,521,000 Sept. 28 to $2,411,946,000 Oct. 26. This addition to the member bank reserve account in turn appears to have been due largely to the taking out of new National bank circulation by means of which the member banks were enabled to add to their reserve with the Federal Reserve institutions or to reduce their indebtedness to the Federal Reserve banks.

The 12 Federal Reserve institutions further reduced the amount of United States Government securities held as part collateral for Federal Reserve notes from $503,800,000 Sept. 28 to $451,200,000 Oct. 26. Acceptances held for account of foreign central banks recorded a further decrease from $43,486,000 Sept. 28 to $37,993,000 Oct. 26. Foreign b deposits with the Federal Reserve institutions, after s changes from week to week, were $9,852,000 Oct. 26 aga $9,864,000 Sept. 28 1932; 12 months before, on Oct. 28 1 these foreign bank deposits aggregated $157,618,000.

Brokers' loans in New York City, after the increase previous month, decreased during October with the dec in Stock Exchange speculation. According to the comp tions of the New York Federal Reserve Bank, based returns to it by the larger member banks, these brok loans were down to $352,000,000 Oct. 26 against $425,000 Sept. 28. The monthly statement of the New York St Exchange covering broker borrowing by members of Exchange also recorded a contraction in such borrow the amount for Oct. 31 being given as $342,702,199 aga $379,801,583 Sept. 30; $331,699,320 on Aug. 31, and $2 599,943 on July 30.

COURSE OF STERLING EXCHANGE DURING OCTOBE

The noteworthy feature in the course of the foreign changes during October was the collapse in the pound s ling. The drop in the rate reached sensational proporti and came as a great surprise and with dramatic suddenn The rate had been pretty well maintained in the neighb hood of $3.45@$3.46 during the first half of the mo presumably with the aid of the £150,000,000 Exchange Equ ization Fund especially created for the purpose, as it supposed, but on Tuesday, Oct. 18, and Wednesday, Oct. a sudden break occurred, which carried the rate for ca transfers down almost 7c. to the pound, or from $3.44 11 Oct. 17 to $3.37¾ Oct. 19. Some moderate recovery t ensued for a couple of days, but on Monday, Oct. 24, Tu day, Oct. 25, and Wednesday, Oct. 26, a second bre occurred even more severe than the first one. Fr $3.39 9/16, the high figure on Oct. 22, there was a d of nearly 8c. on Monday, Oct. 24, to $3.31⅝; a further d of 2c. on Oct. 25, to $3.29⅝, and a still further decline 2⅜c. on Oct. 26 to $3.27¼. The result altogether was t from the high figure of the month of $3.46 1/16 Oct. 8 drop to $3.27¼ Oct. 26 represented a decline of nearly 1 There was only little recovery in the remaining days the month, the range of cable transfers Oct. 31 be $3.28 5/16@$3.28⅞. The reasons for the collapse were qu obscure. A variety of these reasons was offered in expla tion, but they failed to carry conviction, and, moreov appeared to be based largely, if not entirely, on conjectu It was suggested that the Exchange Equalization Fund h become exhausted, but this failed to allow for the fact t in that event it would be open to the British Ministry apply to Parliament for replenishment of the fund. Th it was urged that seasonal pressure arising out of the autu importations of grain and cotton accounted for the decli but this did not explain why support had not been continu to prevent the decline. There were also intimations t the British authorities were selling bills in order to accum late dollars with which to make the semi-annual debt p ment to the United States due in December, which did n impress anyone very greatly, and lastly, that cash payme in the neighborhood of £165,000,000 would have to be made Dec. 1, to complete the British war conversion plan, and th most of the holders who had failed to exchange their 5 bonds for the new 3½% issue were located abroad and he that the cash likewise would go abroad. All this was ve confusing.

The strangest feature of all was that the British autho ties appeared to be wholly unconcerned about the matt and were apparently indifferent to the outcome. The o undisputed fact was that support had been withdrawn, for what reason and what was the object in view, and how long, was left wholly to conjecture. Against the ma fest disadvantages of such great depreciation in the Briti unit it was easy to see that there might be some advanta in the trade with the Far East, but whether this was governing consideration in letting the depreciation occ was shrouded in mystery. Japan is Great Britain's sharp competitor in trade with the Far East, and the Japanese y since Japan abandoned the gold standard has suffered ev greater depreciation than the pound sterling. Be that it may, the collapse in the price of sterling proved a ve disturbing and distressing event, not only in exchange ra on London, but in foreign exchange generally. Foreign b ances in London were again being sharply reduced, and, course, this served further to increase the difficulty of ma taining the British unit. At the same time, too, money ra in London continued to rule extremely low, and this remov the inducement for maintaining balances at the British c ter and increased the withdrawals. Call money against bi in London was plentiful at the end of the month at ½ to ¾ two months' bills were 11/16%; three months' bills ¾ 13/16%; four months' bills ⅞ to 15/16%, and six mont bills 1 1/16 to 1¼%. The Bank of England showed o very small changes in its gold holdings during the mon The return for the week ending Oct. 5 recorded a gain £3,458 in gold; for the week ending Oct. 12 there was a l of £4,765; for the week ending Oct. 19 a gain of £19.97 for the week ending Oct. 26 a gain of £24,906, and for t week ending Nov. 2 a further gain of £19,000.

It appeared at the close of September, when the figu were officially compiled, that Great Britain's huge war lo conversion scheme had proved very successful. Out

£2,085,000,000 5% bonds outstanding on June 30, approximately £1,920,000,000 were converted into the new 3½% issue, leaving about £165,000,000, or 8%, to be redeemed in cash on Dec. 1. Having completed this operation, Neville Chamberlain undertook new refunding operations, and on Oct. 11 the Bank of England announced an issue of £150,000,000 of 2% Treasury bonds at par, and within an hour of the opening the British Government had received all the cash applications it deemed necessary to meet the new issue. Although cash applications were invited, the issue really was a conversion operation, because special terms as an inducement to convert were offered to holders of £140,000,000 of 4½% Treasury bonds due for repayment on Dec. 1. The new bonds are to be repaid at the latest on April 15 1938, but the Government has the option of repaying at any time after April 15 1935. Holders of the 4½% bonds were given not only a preferential allotment, but those exchanging their holdings for a like amount of the new bonds received cash payment at the rate of 10 shillings per cent., and thus, in effect, obtained the new issue at 99½. They also are to receive four months' interest due on the old bonds. It was pointed out in the daily press that while the yield to cash applicants would be 2%, the yield to holders of 4½% bonds would average about £2 1s. 9d. per cent.

After the large gold shipments from Great Britain to the United States the previous month, relatively little further gold came to this country during October. The New York Federal Reserve Bank reports the arrival for the month at $1,250,000, and summarizes the entire gold movement to and from the United States during October as follows:

"The monetary gold stock of the United States continued to increase in October, a total of about $70,000,000 being added during the month. As shown in the following diagram, there has been a rise in the gold stock of about $355,000,000 from the low point of mid-June, representing a recovery of approximately two-thirds of the preceding loss since the beginning of the year. Releases from earmarked holdings for foreign central banks, exclusive of gold released for export, have accounted for $236,000,000 of this gain, and imports of gold for most of the balance.

"During October, gold released from earmark by foreign central banks amounted to some $46,000,000, the proceeds of these releases being paid out in the New York money market. Imports of gold at the Port of New York totaled about $10,500,000, of which $6,000,000 came from India, $2,000,000 from Holland, $1,250,000 from England, and $800,000 from Mexico. At San Francisco, $3,600,000 was imported from China, $3,350,000 from Japan, and $580,000 from Australia. Exports continued to be negligible."

Canadian exchange in this market remained at a discount throughout October, and this discount, after lessening very decidedly, increased again in the closing days of the month. At the beginning of October the Canadian dollar was at a discount a little above 9%. By Oct. 22 this discount was down to 7⅜, then it rapidly increased again, and on Oct. 31 it was 9½@9¾%.

THE CONTINENTAL AND OTHER FOREIGN EXCHANGES.

Rates of exchange on the Continental centers of Europe during the last half of October were nearly all under the influence of the collapse in the pound sterling. The wild break in sterling, and the shifting of funds out of London as a result, together with a shortage in exchange on different centers with which to effect transfers in an orderly manner, completely disorganized the relationship between currencies. The dollar bore the brunt of the movement, as the flow of funds from London to the Continent was largely affected by way of New York because of the greater amount of dollar exchange available in the sterling-dollar markets. There was such a scarcity of francs that the Bank of France was several times obliged to widen the franc market by selling francs and buying foreign currencies, principally dollars. The need for such action by the Bank of France, it is believed, ceased after Monday, Oct. 24.

Early in the month there was also a common influence affecting nearly all the leading foreign exchanges, though of a wholly different nature and with a different effect. President Hoover, in one of his campaign speeches, in an endeavor to set out what good had resulted from his policies and his Administration, adverted in particular to the large withdrawal of gold from the United States by foreign countries, and then was led into making the following statement: "These drains had at one moment reduced the amount of gold we could spare for current payments to a point where the Secretary of the Treasury informed me that unless he could put into effect a remedy, we could not hold to the gold standard but two weeks longer, because of inability to meet the demand of foreigners and our own citizens for gold." The picture was decidedly overdrawn, but the President's statement promptly found its way to Europe and exercised a highly disturbing effect upon all the leading foreign exchanges. These exchanges immediately moved against the United States, the hasty deduction being made that if the gold standard was so seriously menaced on the occasion which the President had in mind (and the precise date of which he did not mention), it could not be entirely free of menace at the present time—the premise and the conclusion alike being faulty. The disclaimers of any such critical situation by those familiar with the facts did not come until several days afterwards, when exchange rates quickly returned to the normal. Cable transfers on Paris on that occasion rose from 3.91¾c. Oct. 4 to 3.93 13/16c. Oct. 8, but by Oct. 13, on the assurances contained in the disclaimers, were back to 3.92c. The Swiss franc on cable transfers advanced from 19.27½c. Oct. 4 to 19.42c. Oct. 8, but went back to 19.29½c. Oct. 13. Cable transfers on Holland moved up from 40.16c. Oct. 4 to 40.38½c. Oct. 8, but were back to 40.18c. Oct. 13. The Danish crown on cable transfers advanced from 17.89½c. Oct. 4 to 18.00c. Oct. 8, but on Oct. 14 was as low as 17.83½c. The Swedish crown for cable transfers rose from 17.72c. Oct. 4 to 17.79c. Oct. 8, but Oct. 13 was as low as 17.67½c. Even the rate for sterling moved somewhat higher, for the time being, though sterling exchange even then had been inclined to weakness, and it was on Oct. 8 that cable transfers on London reached the high point of the month at 3.46 1/16, to which reference was made in our discussion above of the sterling exchange market.

This, however, constituted one of the minor incidents of the month, though one which for the time being had a wide bearing, and was not of the disturbing character which the collapse in the pound sterling occasioned during the latter half of the month. On Saturday, Oct. 22, the French franc on cable transfers, as a result of the break in the pound sterling, bounded up to 3.94⅛, and threatened to go to the point where gold could again be exported from New York for French account. At this juncture the Bank of France entered the market as a seller of francs. The strength of the franc against dollars was a direct result of the drop in sterling and of the movement of French and other Continental funds out of London to Paris. It was reported that there was a scarcity of francs in London, with the result that the French banks sold sterling against dollars, and used dollar exchange to buy francs. In consequence of this situation the Bank of France absorbed the offering of dollars and the franc rate was swift to respond by again turning downward. On Oct. 31 the range for cable transfers on Paris was 3.92⅝@3.92⅞ against 3.91¾@3.91⅞ Oct. 1. The Bank of France, in its statement for the week ending Oct. 7, reported a decrease in gold holdings of 36,980,722 francs, but in the week ending Oct. 14 there was an increase in gold of 6,910,069 francs; in the week ending Oct. 28, a further increase of 25,478,515 francs, followed by still another increase of 233,000,000 francs in the week ending Oct. 28.

The French Finance Minister, in giving the final official figures on the French rentes conversion to the Council of Minister, on Oct. 4, declared the Government would be called upon to disburse only 1.85% of the total sum involved. Out of a total of 85,000,000,000 francs in 5, 6 and 7% rentes, 81,000,000,000 francs had been ordered converted into the new issue at 4½%. Requests for reimbursement reached a total of 4,520,000,000 francs, but new capital was subscribed to the 4½% issue in the amount of 2,935,000,000 francs, which left the net sum needed to reimburse former holders 1,585,000,000 francs.

There were several changes during October in the discount rates of European central banks, all in a downward direction. On Oct. 11 the National Bank of Denmark reduced its rate from 4% to 3½%, effective the following day. On Oct. 18 the National Bank of Hungary lowered its rate from 5% to 4½%. On Oct. 20 the Bank of Poland reduced its rate from 7½% to 6%, and on Oct. 21 the Bank of Spain reduced from 6½% to 6%. On Oct. 7 the South African Reserve Bank marked its rate down from 6% to 5%.

German marks were in no way affected by the main currents influencing the other foreign exchanges inasmuch as this unit and all fiscal and foreign trade operations are under the strict control of the Reichsbank. This means that German marks were not affected by the downward swing in sterling. The German unit is believed to be virtually anchored to the dollar. The Reichsbank pays little or no heed to the movements of either sterling or the Continental exchanges. It advances or lowers its rates on Paris, Amsterdam or Zurich, as occasion demands. The practical effect of this policy is to tie the mark to the dollar. Nominal rates for marks, nevertheless, moved somewhat lower the last few days of the month, the range for cable transfers Oct. 31 being 23.75@23.76 against 23.78@23.80 Oct. 1. The Bank of Germany showed slight changes in its gold holdings during October. It reported an increase of 29,000 marks the first quarter of the month, an increase of 436,000 marks the second quarter, an increase of 1,000 marks the third quarter, with 20,509,000 marks further increase in the final quarter of the month. Note circulation the first quarter decreased 136,244,000 marks, the second quarter 99,320,000 marks, and the third quarter 105,021,000 marks, with 206,072,000 marks increase in the final quarter.

Italian exchange held very steady through all the wide fluctuations in some of the other exchanges, and the lira on cable transfers to Rome was quoted at 5.11¾@5.12 Oct. 31 as against 5.12¾@5.13 on Oct. 1. Some friction which had developed between Germany and Italy was settled on Oct. 17, according to Associated Press accounts from Rome, which stated that an agreement had been reached on that day between the two countries to abolish "defensive" measures against German exchange restrictions as set up by Italy three weeks before. The restrictions, it was stated, were in the form of a clearing house to assemble Italian money and credits in Germany and use them to pay Italian bills for German export. In this way it was thought Italians would get some of their "frozen" deposits out of Germany. The agreement now reached was expected to end a great deal of ill feeling which had arisen.

In the exchanges on the countries neutral during the war a severe blow was dealt the Scandinavian currencies by the collapse in sterling. All these Scandinavian currencies suffered sharp declines the last half of the month, and they almost invariably move in accord with the course of sterling, as they are practically anchored to sterling, with which they are economically allied. The Danish crown on cable transfers, which reached a high figure of 18.00 for the month on Oct. 8, as already mentioned, at the time of the disturbing incident growing out of President Hoover's statement regarding the American gold standard, sold down on Oct. 27 to 17.10@17.15, with the range Oct. 31 17.12@17.15. The Swedish crown on cable transfers declined from 17.79 Oct. 8 to 17.05@17.31 Oct. 26, with the range Oct. 31 17.20@17.22. The Norwegian crown fell from 17.47 for cable transfers on Oct. 8 to 16.73½@16.78 Oct. 27, with the range Oct. 31 16.76½@16.80. Swiss exchange, as also Dutch exchange, held pretty firm through the month, influenced by the movement of Swiss and Dutch money out of the London market, though in the last few days of the month—after the collapse in sterling had reached its extreme for the month—some ease developed in the case of both units. Swiss francs on cable transfers were at the high figure for the month on Oct. 8, at 19.42, but Oct. 29 sold down to 19.27, with the close Oct. 31 at 19.27½@19.28. The Dutch guilder was also at its highest for the month at 40.38½ on the memorable Oct. 8, but got as low as 40.19½@40.21 on Oct. 31, which compares with 40.15½@40.17 on Oct. 1. Spanish pesetas continued firm, and that currency was not affected in any degree by the movements of sterling or of the Continental exchanges. On Oct. 31 cable transfers on Spain were quoted at 8.19@8.20 as against 8.17@8.18 Oct. 1. Influx of foreign capital to Spain was discouraged in a financial editorial appearing in "El Sol," whose views usually coincide (it was stated in Madrid dispatches Oct. 19) with those of the Government. The newspaper asserted that Spain did not need foreign capital, but the mobilization of national capital, "which is abundant."

Exchange on the South American countries continued under the strict control of government exchange boards, but both Argentine exchange and Brazilian exchange were firmer, the Argentine peso on cable transfers being quoted at 25.75@25.80 on Oct. 31 against 25.25@25.80 on Oct. 1, while the Brazilian milreis was quoted at 7.50@7.65 Oct. 31 against 7.25@7.65 on Oct. 1. The Argentine situation showed many signs of improvement. According to a cablegram, Oct. 2, from Buenos Aires to the New York "Times," Finance Minister Hueyo won a decisive victory over the inflationists when at the last meeting of the Argentine Senate, at this year's ordinary session, he obtained postponement of the project to issue 300,000,000 pesos secured by national mortgage bank bonds. Senor Hueyo earlier defeated a congressional move for a moratorium on the public debt, despite a widespread popular and newspaper campaign favoring such a measure. He told the Senate that an essential to sound money is its convertibility into gold. "Our peso has lost that sound condition," he said, "and the Government aspires to regain for it both foreign and domestic confidence by a policy of restricted spending and gradual funding of the floating debt." The Exchange Control Commission of Argentina continued its more liberal policy toward remittances, issuing permits in a volume that caused a decided lowering of bootleg exchange rates, though they still ran 25 to 30 centavos per dollar above the official rate. The improvement in Brazilian exchange was due to the ending of the revolutionary uprising in the State of Sao Paula. Dispatches from Rio de Janeiro stated that the Banco do Brazil had remitted approximately $1,075,305 to London and New York under the foreign debt funding plan and approximately $461,332 to Rothschild of London for liquidation of a credit granted to the Government of former President Washington Luis, which was overthrown in 1930. A total of approximately $11,651,000 of the Brazilian foreign debt, it was stated, had been amortized thus far this year. The Peruvian sol was quoted at only 17.50@20.00 Oct. 31 as against 20.00@21.00 on Oct. 1. United Press dispatches from Lima, Peru, early in the month stated that bankers of Peru had voted against adoption of Government restrictions on foreign exchange and artificial bolstering of the sol, which recently had dropped to a new low of 17c. The bankers expressed confidence that the sol would return to normal values as soon as the territorial disputes with Colombia were settled. They agreed to refrain from participation in foreign exchange speculation and to limit their draft purchases to those relating to the necessities of life. According to United Press advices from La Paz, Bolivia, Oct. 13, the Bolivian Chamber of Deputies approved a law establishing a one-year moratorium on banking obligations.

In exchange on the Far East the feature was the rapid further depreciation in the Japanese yen, checks on Yokohama for the yen being down to 21.10@21.25 Oct. 31 against 24.12@24.25 on Oct. 1, and it may be that this further depreciation influenced the British authorities in withdrawing support from the pound sterling, inasmuch as Japan is Great Britain's main competitor in the trade with the Far East, and in such trade the depreciation in the currency units of the two countries has proved a decided advantage. On the other hand, it was thought that the decline in yen exchange may have been due in part to pressure exerted in Tokio to overcome the drop in sterling exchange, which served to rob Japan of some of its trade advantages which it was gaining from the depreciation in the yen. Japanese banking interests were also thought to favor low yen rates to overcome to some extent the more favorable position now offered by India to Great Britain since the conclusion of the Ottawa conference and the lifting of the boycott against British goods by the National party of India. The decline in the yen was also believed to be due in part at least to the unfavorable effect exerted by the report of the Committee of the League of Nations on Japan's case in Manchuria, and another depressing influence was thought to have been the possibility of the bringing out of a large internal bond issue with the purpose of covering a heavy deficit in the Japanese budget. The Chinese units moved down somewhat during October on account of the continued low price for silver, though there was some recovery in the metal in the closing days of the month. The tael on Shanghai for checks was 29.46@29.85 Oct. 31 against 30.09@30½ Oct. 1; and the Hongkong dollar was quoted at 22.43@22.85 Oct. 31 against 23.14@23½ Oct. 1. Silver prices in London fluctuated somewhat irregularly during October, but with the London price Oct. 31 at 18⅛ d. per ounce against 17 11/16 d. on Sept. 30.

The tables on pages 18 to 40 furnish a complete record of the transactions on the New York Stock Exchange during October and range since Jan. 1. They need no extended introduction, as they are self-explanatory. The tables embrace every security dealt in on the Exchange. We give bonds first, using the classification adopted in the official list. The black-faced letters in the column headed "Interest Period" indicate in each case the month when the bonds mature.

In accordance with the rule adopted by the New York Stock Exchange in 1909, all quotations for interest-paying bonds are at a price to which accrued interest must be added. The exceptions to the rule are income bonds and bonds on which interest is in default. A few other bonds, like the Holland-American Line 6s, for special reasons, are also quoted "flat," but where this is the case the quotation "flat" will be found against the name of the issue. This method of quoting bonds became effective Jan. 2 1909.

For footnotes to tables see last page of bonds and last page of stocks.

r Cash sale. a Deferred delivery.

NOTE.—State and City Securities.—Sales of State and City securities occur very rarely on the New York Stock Exchange and usually only at long intervals, dealings in such securities being almost entirely at private sale over the counter. The Stock Exchange record hence is imperfect and misleading, and accordingly we omit t here. Bid and Asked quotations, however, by active dealers in these securities will be found on a subsequent page under the general head of "U. S. & Municipal Bonds."

General Quotations

OF BONDS AND STOCKS

In the earlier part of this publication complete records of the dealings on the leading stock exchanges of the country, for the latest month and for the calendar year to date, are furnished. In this department of General Quotations we combine in one comprehensive whole, securities of all classes and descriptions, not only those dealt in on the exchanges, but also leading unlisted and inactive securities. The following is an index to the different classes of securities quoted:

Quotations from all Stock Exchanges are as near as possible for the closing day of the month preceding the date of issue. As the New York Stock Exchange began with Jan. 2 1909 to quote all bond prices "and interest," we have adopted the same method and no longer employ a designating mark to indicate the fact except where there is a deviation from this rule. The reader will understand, therefore, that unless the letter "f" is prefixed to the price, he must pay accrued interest in addition to the price. This, however, does not apply to income bonds or bonds in default, in which cases the price includes the interest, should there be any.

The letter "f" prefixed to bond prices denotes that the quotation is a flat price—that is, that the accrued interest forms part of the price, and therefore the purchaser does not have to provide for it separately in making payment. As already stated in the case of income bonds and bonds in default, the price is always "flat," and no designating mark is employed to indicate the fact.

Quotations for equipment bonds are based on average maturities

Quotations for guaranteed stocks are "and dividend"; that is, the accrued dividend must be paid in addition to the price. Stock prices marked thus (d) are per share. All others are per cent except bank stock prices, which are quoted per share unless otherwise stated.

It should be borne in mind in the use of these tables that the quotations for many inactive and unlisted securities are merely nominal, but in all cases the figures are obtained from sources which are considered reliable.

The following abbreviations are often used, viz.; "M" for mortgage, "g" for gold, "gu" for guaranteed, "end" for endorsed, "cons" for consolidated conv" for convertible, "s f" for sinking fund, "l g" for land grant, "op" for optional.

The black-faced type in the letters showing the interest period indicates the month when the bonds mature.

NOTICE.—All bond prices are "and interest" except where marked "f" and income and defaulted bonds.

Industrial and Miscellaneous Securities

Under the heading "Industrial and Miscellaneous Securities" we include all issues which do not appear under the previous two headings, namely "Railroads (Steam)" and "Public Utilities." In the case of stocks, however, we put "Textile Manufacturing," "Insurance," "Mining," "Real Estate and Land," "Title Guarantee and Safe Deposit Companies" under separate heads, then follow with the rest of the "Industrial and Miscellaneous."

NOTICE.—All bond prices are "and interest" except where marked "f" and income and defaulted bonds.

Statement of the Ownership, Management, &c., required by the Act of Congress of Aug. 24 1912, of Bank & Quotation Record, published monthly at New York, N. Y., for October 1 1932.

State of New York, County of New York, ss.: Before me, a notary public, in and for the State and County aforesaid, personally appeared Jacob Seibert, who having been duly sworn according to law, deposed and says that he is the editor of the Bank & Quotation Record and that the following is, to the best of his knowledge and belief, a true statement of the ownership, management, &c., of the aforesaid publication for the date shown in the above caption, required by the Act of Aug. 24 1912, embodied in Section 411, Postal Laws and Regulations, printed on the reverse of this form, to wit:

(1) That the names and addresses of the publisher, editor, managing editor and business managers are:

Publisher, William B. Dana Company, 25 Spruce St., New York.

Editor, Jacob Seibert, 25 Spruce St., New York.

Managing Editor, Jacob Seibert, 25 Spruce St., New York.

Business Manager, William D. Riggs, 25 Spruce St., New York.

(2) That the owner is (If owned by a corporation, its name and address must be stated, and also immediately thereunder the names and addresses of stockholders owning or holding 1% or more of the total amount of stock. If not owned by a corporation, the names and addresses of the individual owners must be given. If owned by a firm, company, or other unincorporated concern, its name and address, as well as those of each individual member, must be given):

Owner, William B. Dana Company, 25 Spruce St., New York.

Stockholders: Jacob Seibert, 25 Spruce St., New York.

(3) That the known bondholders, mortgagees and other security holders owning or holding 1% or more of the total amount of bonds, mortgages or other securities are: (If there are none, so state.) None.

(4) That the two paragraphs next above giving the names of the owners, stockholders and security holders, if any, contain not only the list of stockholders and security holders as they appear upon the books of the company, but also, in cases where the stockholder or security holder appears upon the books of the company as trustee or in any other fiduciary relation, the name of the person or corporation for whom such trustee is acting, is given; also that the said two paragraphs contain statements embracing affiant's full knowledge and belief as to the circumstances and conditions under which stockholders and security holders who do not appear upon the books of the company as trustees, hold stock and securities in a capacity other than that of a bona fide owner; and this affiant has no reason to believe that any other person, association or corporation has any interest, direct or indirect, in the said stock, bonds or other securities than as so stated by him.

(Signed) Jacob Seibert, Editor. Sworn to and subscribed before me this 29th day of September 1932. Thomas A. Creegan, Notary Public, Kings County, New York County Clerk's No. 55. New York County Register No. 3C24. (My commission expires March 30 1933.)

United States and Municipal Bonds

In reporting bid or ask prices for State and municipal securities, we give bid and asked quotations wherever they can be obtained. The custom, however, is to quote municipal securities on the basis of the return they yield per annum. Therefore in most cases it will be found that instead of actual prices we have inserted in the column headed "To Net" certain figures to indicate the interest rate at which business in the bonds is being done. Thus 4.35% means that the particular security can be bought or sold at a price that will yield the purchaser or seller 4.35% per annum to the maturity of the issue. Where two figures appear, as for instance "4.25% to 4.35%," the rate of return varies according to the maturity—the shorter maturities yielding the lowest rate, and the longer maturities yielding the highest return.

In State and municipal bonds the custom has always been to quote them "and interest." That is, the accrued interest must in all cases be added on. Note.—Owing to the present demoralized condition of the municipal bond markets, brokers and dealers find it difficult, and in many cases, almost impossible to make quotations for municipal bonds. Bid prices, especially for the smaller municipalities are practically out of the question and sales or terms are simply a matter of bargaining between buyer and seller In fact the absolute lack of demand often causes good bonds to be offered at almost any price.

STATE AND NATIONAL BANK STATEMENTS

Quotations in this department are given per share, not per cent, except for stocks of Canadian Institutions, and are as near as possible for the closing day of the month preceding date of issue, though often are nominal. An asterisk (*) denotes sales.

Figures of deposits, capital and profits for the national banks are from the Comptroller's last call; for all other institutions they are the latest obtainable, direct returns being procured by us where no periodic statements are required. For the Clearing House banks of New York, Philadelphia and Boston, deposits are taken from the latest weekly statement.

REVIEW OF NOVEMBER—COMMERCIAL AND FINANCIAL EVENTS.

The overshadowing event during November was of course the Presidential election held on the 8th of the month. It resulted in the overwhelming defeat of President Hoover and the Republican Party. Franklin D. Roosevelt and the Democratic Party gained one of the most signal successes in National history. Mr. Roosevelt obtained a majority of the votes in 42 of the 48 States of the Union and as a consequence will have 472 votes in the electoral college, Mr. Hoover getting only the remaining 59 votes, comprising merely the States of Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Connecticut, Delaware and Pennsylvania. No less sweeping was the victory of the Democrats. They succeeded in electing 314 members to the National House of Representatives at Washington, against 116 by the Republicans and 5 Farmer Laborites, and they also succeeded in electing enough members to the United States Senate to give them, with the members holding over, a total of 59 members out of 96 members in that body. In the popular vote Mr. Roosevelt succeeded in getting 6,738,584 votes more than his Republican opponent, he receiving 22,314,058 votes, against 16,575,474 cast for Mr. Hoover. The Socialist candidate Norman Thomas, obtained 805,813 votes.

The result had long been a foregone conclusion and the betting odds the day before the election stood 7 to 1 in favor of Mr. Roosevelt. No extended explanation was needed to account for the decisive defeat sustained by Mr. Hoover, for such it was, rather than the triumph of Mr. Roosevelt. Almost the whole of the period of Mr. Hoover's occupancy of the Presidential office was marked by the gloomiest business depression in the country's history and he was held responsible for the dismal time which the people suffered, as is invariably the case on such occasions, though Mr. Hoover did not bring about the speculative collapse which would have come anyway with anyone else in the Presidential chair, though he might have done much to mitigate its ill effects had he recognized its character and import at the beginning and pursued a different policy from that followed by him in dealing with it. Mr. Roosevelt was simply the instrumentality through which the voters visited their displeasure upon him whom they regarded as accountable for their ills and trials.

Those who expected to see a revival of trade and business as a result of the political overthrow were doomed to disappointment. Trade did not improve. The manifestation of business recovery which had been decidedly in evidence at the beginning of the summer season had begin to fade away before Election Day and was not renewed after the election. The Presidential campaign before its close had become very heated and assumed a decidedly personal character as between the two Presidential candidates, and this had served to hold all business enterprise in check, so that the momentum which trade revival might have gained, and it was supposed would gain after the election was completely lost. As it happened, too, most of the commodity markets, and particularly wheat and cotton, again completely collapsed, putting a further damper upon business enterprise. Then there also came further collapse in the price of the pound sterling, with disturbing effects all over the world. Besides all this there was agitation anew of the question of intergovernmental debt payments. Two days after the election, Great Britain and France sent communications notifying the United States that they desired a suspension or postponement of the payments due Dec. 15 and also sought a complete review of the whole question of intergovernmental payments and reduction or cancellation of the same. They had purposely delayed bringing up the issue until after the election. President Hoover at once took the matter up with President-Elect Roosevelt, inasmuch as his own continuance in office was to be terminated with the coming fourth of March, when the responsibility for dealing with foreign affairs would devolve on Mr. Roosevelt and his Democratic coadjutors. For the remainder of the month the agitation and discussion of this question of inter-Governmental debts occupied the front pages of the newspapers, to the exclusion of almost everything else, and served as a new check on the ordinary business activities of the country because of the uncertainties involved.

The Decline in the Pound Sterling—Its Continuous Character.

The further break in the British pound was of course a highly unsettling influence. It was the more disturbing inasmuch as it was a progressive affair, a lower depth being reached with each succeeding day until the final day of the month when an insignificant rally occurred. After the middle of November the course of sterling rates was almost uninterruptedly downward. On Nov. 14 there was a temporary upward spurt, and cable transfers on London reached the highest figure of the month at $3.34⅜, but the next day (Nov. 15) the rate dropped to $3.31⅝; on Nov. 16 it fell to $3.30½, and on Nov. 17 it touched $3.27¾; on Nov. 18 and Nov. 19 there was a rebound to a somewhat higher level. the low point on the 18th having been $3.28¾ and on Nov. 19, $3.28⅝. But thereafter the course was again downward, a new low figure being recorded with each succeeding day thereafter, until Nov. 29, inclusive, with the exception of a single day. On Nov. 21 the low point was $3.27; on Nov. 22, $3.26⅜; on Nov. 23, $3.25⅛; on Nov. 25, $3.20⅜; on Nov. 26, $3.21⅛; on Nov. 28, $3.17⅝, and on Nov. 29, $3.14½. On Nov. 30 a recovery ensued, with the range for the day $3.19@$3.20¾. On Dec. 1 the rate recovered still further to $3.21⅛@$3.24, but on Dec. 2 there was a decline again, with the range $3.19¾@$3.21⅞.

It is generally assumed that the collapse of the British pound must be ascribed to fears that Great Britain would be obliged to arrange for the December payment due to the United States or was actually in process of making such arrangements, but while the agitation of the debt question may have accentuated the break, by inducing bear drives against the British unit, the debt matter cannot be accepted as the sole or even the primary or main cause of the breakdown. The truth is the pound sterling has been steadily sliding down during the last six or seven months. And this appears to have been mainly because of the complete indifference of the British Government about going back to the gold standard. For a time there seemed very earnest desire on the part of the British Government to return to the gold basis as speedily as possible, and, as a consequence, the pound, after having reached its low point last December, began to show steady appreciation. Cable transfers on London as against $3.24¼ on Dec. 7 1931 sold up to $3.83¾ on March 28 1932. Great Britain now seemed on the sure road to recovery. Then, however, the desire to get back to the gold level began greatly to lessen. British statesmen began to see an advantage in a depreciated unit of value and to argue that perhaps it would be better not to be hasty about returning to the gold level. Trade with the silver using countries of the Far East had very greatly improved as a result of the decline in the pound sterling. For a time, while Japan still remained on the gold basis, trade in cotton goods with the Far East improved very greatly. When the Japanese yen also began to depreciate, and when finally Japan also suspended gold payments, some of the advantage in trade with the Far East was lost, but to the British statesmen this seemed all the more reason why Great Britain should be in no hurry about returning to the gold basis. Of late, indeed, there appeared to be rivalry between Japan and Great Britain to see which country could show the biggest depreciation in its monetary unit, and thus be in better position to compete for Far Eastern trade. At least British statesmen consoled themselves over the fact that the decline in the British unit placed Great Britain in better position to compete with Japan.

The final blow came when, after conclusion of the Ottawa Conference, Neville Chamberlain made his famous speech declaring that the British Government had no intention of returning to a gold basis at an early date, and actually complained because confidence in the British pound had been so completely restored that the London market was becoming oversupplied with foreign short-term funds. This was about the middle of August, and Mr. Chamberlain's exact words on that occasion were as follows:

"One of the most alarming features of the world situation is that vast accumulations of capital have been formed which instead of seeking investment in normal fashion on a long-term basis are held for safety in short form. This international short-term capital is moved from one financial center to another with extraordinary rapidity whenever distrust as to the future of an important currency or the prospect of a quick profit suggests a transfer, and its volume is so great as entirely to outweigh, for considerable periods of time, the effect of ordinary trade factors on the course of the exchanges.

"The United Kingdom has had experience of the working of this factor both ways; in the summer of 1931, very great withdrawals of short-term money from Great Britain took place, whereas this year we have had equally sudden and undesired inflows of short-term foreign money seeking a refuge in London, and these facts emphasize that, while the difficulties caused by big movements of short-term capital are usually minimized or ignored by theoretical economists, they present a formidable problem to the people who actually have to handle exchange."

This speech had a startling effect upon the market value of the pound. The floating supplies of short-term capital to which the British Chancellor referred so disparagingly had returned to the London market because of the improvement in the value of the British pound and on the expectation that that improvement would continue as the time for restoration of the gold basis drew nearer, but now Mr. Chamberlain gave very emphatic notice that there was no intention of getting back to the gold basis at an early date. Moreover, he intimated that these supplies of foreign short-term funds were by no means welcome. The possessors of this foreign short-term money were not slow in divining what was going to happen and began withdrawing their short-term funds, and the withdrawals have been constant ever since, while the value of the British unit began its downward descent which has continued almost uninterruptedly in progress ever since then. Cable transfers on London at the beginning of August still sold above $3.52. On Nov. 29, as already stated, cable transfers on London sold down to $3.14½.

President Hoover Invites President-Elect Roosevelt to Confer on War Debts Incident to British Note for Suspension of Payments Pending Review of Agreements.

President Hoover on Nov. 13 addressed a telegram to President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt, inviting the latter to confer with him at Washington on the subject of intergovernmental debts, the action of the President being prompted by the receipt of a note from the British Government seeking a review of intergovernmental war debts, and a suspension of the British payments pending the discussion. President Hoover's telegram was forwarded to Governor Roosevelt from the President's special train while enroute from the West to Washington, and was made public in press dispatches from Yuma, Ariz. The President had journeyed to his home in California prior to the election to vote. He reached Washington on the return trip on Nov. 16. In his telegram to Governor Roosevelt President Hoover said:

I have publicly stated my position as to these questions, including that I do not favor cancellation in any form, but that we should be receptive to proposals from our debtors of tangible compensation in other forms than direct payment in expansion of markets for the products of our labor and our farms. And I have stated further that substantial reduction of world armament, which will relieve our own and world burdens and dangers, has a bearing upon this question.

He likewise said:

Any negotiation of this question on the basis of the requests of these governments is limited by the resolution of the next Congress, and if there is to be any change in the attitude of the Congress it will be greatly affected by the views of those members who recognize you as their leader and who will properly desire your counsel and advice.

On Nov. 14 Governor Roosevelt accepted the President's invitation, replying as follows:

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 14 1932.

I appreciate your cordial telegram. On the subjects to which you refer, as in all matters relating to the welfare of the country, I am glad to cooperate in every appropriate way, subject, of course, to the requirements of my present duties as Governor of this State.

I shall be delighted to confer with you in Washington, but I have been confined to the house with a slight cold and I am, therefore, not able to suggest a definite date. I shall call you on the telephone as soon as the time of my departure for the South has been determined.

May I take the liberty of suggesting that we make this meeting wholly informal and personal? You and I can go over the entire situation.

I had already arranged to meet a number of the Democratic leaders of the present Congress late this month at Warm Springs. It will be helpful for me to have your views and all pertinent information when I meet with them.

I hope that you also will see them at the earliest opportunity, because, in the last analysis, the immediate question raised by the British, French and other notes creates a responsibility which rests upon those now vested with executive and legislative authority.

Conversations Between President Hoover and President-Elect Roosevelt on War Debts.

Only the briefest sort of a statement came from the White House regarding the conversations on Nov. 22 between President Hoover and Franklin D. Roosevelt, President-elect, but the talk was followed on Nov. 23 by a statement by President Hoover in which he voiced his opposition to cancellation of the debts, indicating, however, that he favored the creation of any agency to exchange views with the Governments concerned on the question of the debts, a report thereon to be made to Congress. The White House statement of Nov. 22 was as follows:

Nov. 22 1932.

The President and Governor Roosevelt traversed at length the subjects mentioned in their telegraphic communiciation. It is felt that progress has been made. The President confers with the members of the Congress to-morrow, when the subject will be further pursued.

Following his conversations with President Hoover, Franklin D. Roosevelt, President-elect, issued a statement on Nov. 23, in which he expressed himself in complete accord with four principles discussed in the conference, and set forth in a statement issued, Nov. 23, by the President and referred to below. Gov. Roosevelt's statement follows in full:

My conferences with the President and with leaders of my party have been most illuminating and useful, I wish to express my appreciation of the opportunity thus afforded me.

At this time I wish to reaffirm my position on the questions that have been the principal subjects of our discussions.

As to the debt payments due Dec. 15, I find no justification for modifying my statement to the President on Nov. 14, when I pointed out that "the immediate questions raised by the British, French and other notes create a responsibility which rests upon those now vested with executive and legislative authority."

With regard to general policies respecting these debts I firmly believe in the principle that an individual debtor should at all times have access to the creditor; that he should have opportunity to lay facts and representations before the creditor and that the creditor always should give courteous, sympathetic and thoughtful consideration to such facts and representations.

This is a rule essential to the preservation of the ordinary relationships of life. It is a basic obligation of civilization. It applies to nations as well as to individuals.

The principle calls for free access by the debtor to the creditor. Each case should be considered in the light of the conditions and necessities peculiar to the case of each nation concerned.

I find myself in complete accord with four principles discussed in the conference between the President and myself yesterday and set forth in a statement which the President has issued to-day.

These debts were actual loans made under the distinct understanding and with the intention that they would be repaid.

In dealing with the debts each government has been and is to be considered individually, and all dealings with each government are independent of dealings with any other debtor government. In no case should we deal with the debtor governments collectively.

Debt settlements made in each case take into consideration the capacity to pay of the individual debtor nations.

The indebtedness of the various European nations to our government has no relation whatsoever to reparations payments made or owed to them.

Once these principles of the debt relationships are established and recognized, the methods by which contacts between our Government and the debtor nations may be provided are matters of secondary importance. My view is that the most convenient and effective contracts can be made through the existing agencies and constituted channels of diplomatic intercourse.

No action by the Congress has limited or can limit the constitutional power of the President to carry on diplomatic contacts or conversations with foreign governments. The advantage of this method of maintaining contacts with foreign governments is that any one of the debtor nations may at any time bring to the attention of the Government of the United States new conditions and facts affecting any phase of its indebtedness.

It is equally true that existing debt agreements are unalterable save by Congressional action.

As already noted a statement in which he undertook to review the international debt situation was issued on Nov. 23 by President Hoover. Pointing out that "I have stated on many occasions my opposition to cancellation," President Hoover further said "I do not feel that the American people should be called upon to make further sacrifices." I have held, however," said the President, "that advantages to us could be found by other forms of tangible compensation than cash, such as an expansion of markets for products of American agriculture and labor." The President drew attention to the fact that the World Economic Conference will convene in a few months," and that "a world disarmament conference is now in progress. I must reiterate," he said, "that the problem of foreign debts has in the American mind very definite relationship to the problem of disarmaments. It is unthinkable," the President went on to say, "that . . . our people should refuse to consider the request of a friendly people to discuss an important question in which they and we both have a vital interest." The President voiced it as his belief that in view of the requests made by these Governments, Congress "should authorize the creation of an agency to exchange views with these Governments . . . and to report to Congress such recommendations as they deem desirable." Respecting the suspension of installments due on Dec. 15, the President said "no facts have been presented by the debtor Governments which would justify such postponement." He added, "I do not mean to say that if extraordinary circumstances such as depreciation of currencies have rendered immediate transfers of this next payment in dollars impossible to some nations without losses on both sides, our Government should be unwilling to consider a proposal that payments of this instalment be made to our account in foreign currencies. If any such circumstances exist," said the President, "I shall transmit them to Congress . . . but I must insist that existing agreements be respected until they have been mutually modified by duly authorized representatives of the Governments affected."

Request by Great Britain, France, and Other Countries to United States for Conference Looking Toward Review of War Debt Agreements—Suspension of Payments Pending New Arrangement Asked.

On Nov. 13 the State Department at Washington made public communications delivered to the Department in behalf of the British and French governments in which a conference is sought with the United States Government on the subject of war debts. In the British note the belief was expressed "that the regime of intergovernmental financial obligations as now existing must be reviewed." The note also said:

They [the British Government] are profoundly impressed with the importance of acting quickly; and they earnestly hope that the United States Government will see its way clear to enter into an exchange of views at the earliest possible moment.

The memorandum from the French Government "proposes to the Government of the United States to join with it in a further study of the debt question." In both instances a suspension of payments was asked pending the outcome of the conferences. The notes were delivered to the State Department by the British Ambassador, Sir Ronald Lindsay, and the French Ambassador, Paul Claudel, on respectively, Nov. 10 and 11.

Following the action of the British and French Governments, the Belgium Government on Nov. 15 addressed the United States proposing that the latter "co-operate in a re-examination of the problems arising from the intergovernmental debts."

On Nov. 21 a note was handed to Secretary of State, Henry L. Stimson, by the Czechoslovak Minister, Ferdinand Veverka, requesting suspension of the payment due Dec. 15 on the country's debt to the United States. The note in part read:

The Czechoslovak Government, sharing the views and concerns of the British and French Governments as expressed in their notes from the 10th and 11th of this month, in regard to the present serious situation arising from the difficult and complex problem of intergovernmental debts, particularly in its present acute stage in view of the next installments to be paid on Dec. 15, joins in the suggestions of the above-mentioned Governments for the reconsideration of this problem, and an extension of the suspension on payments for the duration of this reconsideration.

Washington advices Nov. 23 reported that the State Department had announced that Poland's appeal for suspension of Dec. 15 payments and review of her debt agreement had been received the previous night.

Italy to Make December Debt Payment to United States.

In a dispatch from Rome (Italy) on Nov. 21 the New York "Times" reported that Italy had decided to make the debt payment due Dec. 15 and added:

Meetings between representatives of the Ministries of Foreign Affairs and Finance to decide Italian policy in view of the approach of the day on which the next debt payment to the United States must be made ended to-day with a decision that Italy would pay her debts punctually.

It is expected, therefore, that no note on the debts will be sent to Washington. Premier Mussolini approved this policy It is pointed out that the next Italian debt payment due Dec. 15 does not include any sum for principal but only interest amounting to $1,245,437.

United States Fails to Receive from Greece Payment Due Nov. 10 on Non-Postponable Debt—Hungary Also Announces Lack of Exchange to Meet Interest Payment Due.

The United States failed to receive from Greece a $444,920 non-postponable debt payment due Nov. 10, Ogden L. Mills, the Secretary of the Treasury, announced Nov. 10. Secretary Mills characterized the action as a default and as the first one, according to the "United States Daily" of Nov. 11, Hungary expressed inability to make the Dec. 15 payment. Secretary Mills' statement follows in full text:

There was due and payable to-day under the terms of the debt-funding agreement with the Government of Greece on account of the 4% 20-year loan made on May 10 1929, the sum of $444,920, of which $227,000 represents an installment due on account of principal, and $217,920 represents semi-annual interest. The payment has not been received.

The Hungarian Government has officially notified the United States Government that it does not have the necessary foreign exchange with which to make the payment due the United States on Dec. 15 1932, under the debt-funding agreement. The amount due on Dec. 15 1932, is $40,729.35, of which $12,285 represents principal and $28,444.35 represents semi-annual interest.

United States Note to Great Britain on War Debts—Nothing in British Request Likely to Induce Congress to Change Its Attitude—No Executive Authority to Suspend Payment Due Dec. 15—Second Note from Great Britain and France.

In a note to Great Britain, similar to that addressed to France, the United States Government expressed appreciation of the importance of the proposal made by the British Government on Nov. 10 for a conference looking toward a review of the war debts, "and the seriousness of the situation upon which it [the request] is predicated." The note to Great Britain, signed by Secretary of State Stimson, advised that Government that the suggestion "goes far beyond anything contemplated or proposed at any time in the past either by President Hoover or by this Government." Secretary Stimson also said: "I confess that I cannot see any presentation in your note which would be likely to induce the Congress of the United States to act upon the question any differently now from the manner and the principles upon which it has acted in the past." Secretary Stimson further stated that "as to the suspension of the installment of the British debt due on Dec. 15, . . . no authority lies within the Executive to grant such an extension, and no facts have been placed in our possession which could be presented to the Congress for favorable consideration."

In a new note to the United States, Great Britain presented a detailed statement as to the reasons prompting that country to seek a review of the war debts and a suspension of the Dec. 15 payment, and said:

His Majesty's Government trust that the full statement of their views which they have now made will demonstrate clearly the ground upon which their request was based, namely, their own profound conviction that a resumption of the war debt payments as they existed before the Hoover moratorium would inevitably deepen the depression in world trade and would lead to further falls in commodity prices with disastrous consequences from which no nation would be exempt.

In the first place, the British debt is expressed in terms of gold, but the burden on the British people is measured in terms of sterling. The payment due on Dec. 15 is, owing to this circumstance, increased from £19,750,000 to approximately £30,000,000. The importance of this from the national standpoint needs no emphasis. In fact, however, as already stated, the discharge of all international debts must in the long run take the form of a transfer of goods or services. The average wholesale price index in the United States during the period when the debt was incurred was 189 and is now under 94 (taking 1913 as a basis in each case). The debt therefore represents to-day in terms of goods not less than twice the amount which was borrowed. . . .

If, therefore, war debt payments had to be resumed, it is apparent that the exchange position of this country would need to be strengthened by a reduction of the very heavy adverse balance of the visible trade of the United Kingdom and the United States, which amounted to £78,000,000 in 1931. In present circumstances this could only be done by adopting measures which would further restrict British purchases of American goods

This second note from Great Britain likewise pointed out that "the United States Government have frequently reiterated that they do not admit any connection between reparations and war debts; but this differentiation in the matter of intergovernmental obligations arising out of the war is not accepted by other countries which have creditor claims on the German Government and whose ability to meet their own debt payments to the United States and to the United Kingdom is undoubtedly affected by the extent to which they themselves are paid by Germany."

"If," said the note, "payment of the sums due in respect of the British war debt to the United States Government were to be resumed, His Majesty's Government would be obliged to reopen the question of payments from their own debtors—France, Italy, Portugal, Jugoslavia, Rumania, Greece, and also the British Dominions. The debtor countries would in turn have to demand payment by Germany of her obligations under the Young Plan and the United Kingdom would have to do likewise." The note adds

Without a readjustment of war debt obligations the Lausanne agreement could not be ratified; the ratification of reparations would remain unsettled; the improvement in confidence which followed the Lausanne agreements would be undone and fatal results might well be found to have accrued to the solution of many grave political as well as financial problems now under discussion.

From the note we also quote:

Allusion has been made in the last paragraph to the difficulty of any attempt to meet the payment on Dec. 15 by transfer across exchange. It has been the object of His Majesty's Government to take all possible steps to mitigate fluctuations in the relative value of sterling and gold currencies. To this end, having in the first place repaid in full large temporary credits borrowed in connection with the financial crisis of the preceding year, they have acquired certain reserves in gold and in foreign exchange, but though these reserves are adequate for the purpose for which they were designed, they were not intended and would not suffice to cover as well the payment of $95,500,000 due on Dec. 15.

The exchange difficulty would remain even if the device were adopted of payment in sterling to a blocked account; for the existence of a large sum awaiting transfer would affect the market almost as seriously as an actual purchase of exchange.

The only remaining alternative would be payment in gold. Such a method of payment would involve the sacrifice of a considerable part of the gold reserves of the Bank of England, which are widely regarded as no more than sufficient for the responsibilities of London as a financial centre.

Belief is expressed that a discussion between the United States Government and Great Britain "upon these matters might bear fruitful issue for revival of world prosperity." It is added:

They (Great Britain) are convinced that the prospects of success would be materially improved by the postponement of the December installment and they are prepared to consider with the Government of the United States of America any manner in which the postponement might be most conveniently arranged.

A New Outcropping of Bank Failures—Nevada, Oklahoma, Pittsburgh.

A series of bank failures during the month came as a reminder that the country was not yet out of the woods as far as banking troubles are concerned. On Nov. 1 news came quite unexpectedly, in an Associated Press dispatch from Reno, that a so-called business and bank holiday, extending until Nov. 12, had been declared throughout the State of Nevada by Lieutenant-Governor Morley Griswold, acting in the absence of Governor Fred B. Balzar, who, it appeared, was in Washington trying to secure a loan for the embarrassed banks and who had instructed the Lieutenant-Governor to take the step referred to. Mr. Griswold gave as a reason for calling the "holiday" his conviction that business, banks, bank depositors and the entire people of the State of Nevada would be best protected by the action. Simultaneously, the account said, a reorganization of the 12 banking corporations controlled by the George Wingfield interests was under way. The First National Bank of Reno was the only institution in Reno that did not observe the holiday. A run by depositors had been threatened for a time in the morning, but withdrawals had subsided at noon, and there were even reports that several new deposit accounts had been opened. Strengthened by the arrival from San Francisco of a shipment of $1,500,000, the First National, which is not a Wingfield institution, was well prepared, its directors announced, to meet any emergency. All of the 12 Wingfield banks, located in nine cities and carrying deposits of over $17,000,000, closed down as also several of the 13 other banks in the State. The inability of livestock men, hard hit by the depression and the drouth, during the past three years, to meet their obligations, was in large part responsible, the public was told, for the decision to declare the holiday. A dispatch from Reno to the New York "Journal of Commerce" stated that the drop in prices for livestock over a long period, leaving the banks with loans based on a higher price level, created general weakness. Some of the loans, for instance, are understood to have been based on as much as $8 a head on stock which now is bringing no more than $2.50.

Carson City, Nev., advices Nov. 10 stated the Nevada bank holiday had been extended for another two weeks by Governor Balzar, in a proclamation on Nov. 10. The dispatches of that date added:

The Governor asserted the extension of the holiday, which started Nov. 1, was necessary to give 12 banks and the depositors time to work out an agreement for reopening.

At the request of depositors' committees working out a plan for the reopening of the 12 Wingfield banks, Governor Balzar of Nevada on Nov. 26 issued another proclamation extending the State's banking holiday an additional three weeks to Dec. 18. Associated Press advices from Carson City, Nev., on Nov. 26, continuing, said:

The general public welfare of our State requires that this holiday "be continued," said the Governor in a statement accompanying the proclamation, which differs from two previous ones only in the respect that it does not provide for a moratorium on the payment of debts.

Describing the financial situation prevailing in northern Nevada since the banks closed, a dispatch by the Associated Press from Reno on Dec. 1 said, in part:

Since Nov. 1, when the State declared a bank moratorium, conditions in Reno and throughout northern Nevada have grown steadily worse.

Business is virtually at a standstill in the ten counties in which are located the 12 Wingfield banks which took advantage of the holiday and closed their doors, hoping to work out a plan whereby they could free "frozen" assets and reopen.

Meanwhile, deposits totaling nearly $14,000,000 and representing 27,000 separate accounts, are tied up in the closed institutions.

Money is scarcer than any one ever imagined it could be. Some employers are unable to pay their help, while others have ordered drastic salary reductions. Teachers in 13 counties are faced with the prospect of going without their pay for several weeks to come because $350,000 in school funds are locked up along with other deposits.

With taxes due, proposals have been made that the State postpone collections for one month or longer, but they have fallen on deaf ears for the State likewise is short of funds.

How long present conditions will continue could not be definitely ascertained to-day (Dec. 1). A. R. Le Roy, examiner for the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, estimated if depositors gave complete immediate indorsement to the only organization plan that has been offered the banks could be opened within a month.

The plan calls for reopening of the Wingfield banks as a system of branch banks and could only be accomplished through the waiving by depositors of approximately 40% or $5,682,000 of their deposits.

During the month Oklahoma also had a similar unfortunate experience. On Nov. 14 news came from Oklahoma City of the closing of six Oklahoma banks, the largest the Shawnee National, with combined deposits of over $3,000,000, all members of a chain of 28 State and National institutions controlled by H. T. Douglas. State Bank Commissioner W. J. Barnett said the affiliated banks were closed following inability of Mr. Douglas to collateralize approximately $1,250,000 in loans as demanded by Eastern creditors.

On Nov. 14 also news came that owing to heavy withdrawals of deposits and shrinkage of securities, the Diamond National Bank of Pittsburgh, organized about 60 years before, had not opened for business on that day, the Board of Directors having voted to suspend and place the bank's assets in the hands of the Comptroller of the Currency. The Diamond National's deposits are said to have shrunk about $17,000,000 during the previous 18 months. The deposits at the time of closing amounted to $9,919,000. The Sept. 30 return, under the call of the Comptroller of the Currency, showed $12,045,917 in deposits, $16,049,423 in resources, $600,000 in capital stock, and $1,500,000 in surplus. The bank's President, J. D. Callery, died in May, and no successor had been appointed. On Nov. 15 there followed the closing of the Duquesne National Bank of Pittsburgh, due to the "depressed conditions of business and unusual heavy withdrawals." In its statement for Sept. 30 this bank reported a capital stock of $500,000, surplus of $1,000,000, and total resources of $9,178,451. Still another Pittsburgh institution, namely the Real Estate Savings & Trust Co., went to the wall on Nov. 16. This bank had a capital of $400,000, surplus of $134,882, and deposits of $2,699,462.

Further Depression in the Grain Market—Wheat Declines Still Further and Reaches a New Low Level in All Time.

To the other unfavorable developments of the month there was added a renewed decline in the commodity markets, more especially wheat and cotton, both of which, under normal conditions, play such an important part in the country's export trade, and the prices of which lie at the basis of the proper functioning of the economic structure of the agricultural classes, in the one instance of the West and in the other instance of the South. It may be recalled that at the close of the previous month (Oct. 31) the price of the December option for wheat at Chicago touched 43⅛c, the lowest level recorded in 340 years. In November a still lower figure was reached. During the first half of the month values showed recovery, and on Nov. 14 December wheat at Chicago sold at 47¼c. But thereafter the course of values was again downward, and on Nov. 25 sales took place at 41½c., with only a light subsequent rally, so that the close on Nov. 30 was at 42c. The main influences in the renewed break appeared to be that the general depression which was holding all the commercial markets within its embrace also extended to the grain market, besides which Canadian exports were proving large and free, while exports from the United States were meagre and restricted. At Winnipeg the course of prices was much the same, moving first upward and then downward, but at somewhat higher levels. From 44¾c. Nov. 1 December wheat at Winnipeg rose to 49⅜c. Nov. 7, but reached a low for the month of 44½c. Nov. 30, with the close on that day at 44¼c. Prices of other grains also tumbled to still lower levels the latter part of the month, after having shown an improving tendency the first half of the month. Thus December corn at Chicago, as against 23⅝c. Nov. 3, reached 27¼c. Nov. 14, but on Nov. 30 sold down to 21⅜c. and closed at that figure. December oats in Chicago, as against 15¼c. Nov. 1, sold at 17c. on Nov. 16, but dropped to 14¼c. Nov. 30. The monthly report of the Department of Agriculture at Washington, made public on Nov. 10, showed no material change in the estimates of the principal crops as made the previous month. The production of winter wheat was placed at 442,000,000 bushels, the same as a month earlier, and comparing with 789,000,000 bushels in 1931. The estimate of the spring wheat crop was also left unchanged at 270,000,000 bushels, but comparing with only 104,000,000 bushels in 1931, when that crop was almost a complete failure. This left the total for all wheat at 712,000,000 bushels against 894,000,000 bushels the previous year. The estimate of the Canadian wheat crop, however, was lowered somewhat by the Dominion authorities, but this still left it at 431,200,000 bushels, as compared with 304,144,000 bushels the previous year, when the Canadian yield, like the spring wheat yield of the United States in that year, proved very poor. The probable production of corn in the United States was placed by the Washington officials at 2,921,000,000 bushels, or 36,000,000 bushels more than the Department's estimate at the beginning of the previous month, and comparing with a production of 2,563,000,000 bushels in 1931. The oats crop was put at 1,265,000,000 bushels against 1,112,000,000 bushels in 1931.

Brewers Become Active—Trading Resumed in Barley on the Chicago Board of Trade.

As one other interesting feature, in view of the early legalization of the manufacture and sale of beer, the barley crop was put at 313,000,000 bushels for 1932 as against 198,000,000 bushels for 1931. It deserves to be noted that in view of the election results, which showed overwhelming gains for the anti-Prohibition candidates in both parties, brewers began active preparations for the manufacture of beer in different parts of the United States. Thus Associated Press accounts from Milwaukee, Nov. 9 (the day after the National election), said that confident that the election results meant the early return of beer, brewers in Milwaukee and St. Paul had announced plans on that day for its manufacture, when legalized, thereby providing employment for many idle men. The manager of the Schlitz Brewing Co. was quoted as saying that 2,000 employees would be added to his force in such an event, and Fred Pabst, President of the Pabst Corp., reported that his employees would be increased from 600 to 2,000 by the return of beer.

As a further significant event along these lines, Associated Press advices from Chicago on Nov. 10 stated in graphic fashion that "barley, a foundation stock of beer," had been recalled on that day from a nine-year exile by traders on the Chicago Board of Trade. In other words, trading in barley was resumed after a lapse of nine years. These same Chicago advices added:

Apparently believing that modification of the Volstead Act to permit the manufacture of beer was imminent as a result of Tuesday's election, traders gathered around the small rye pit as the gong boomed to start the day and quickly began dealings in barley. It was the first time in nine years that future deliveries of that grain had been traded on the Exchange.

Barley was fairly active when a great amount of the grain was used for beer. With the advent of the Eighteenth Amendment demand began to lag and eventually trading was discontinued by common consent.

The first deal completed was for barley to be delivered next month. The price was 25 cents a bushel. Bidding was brisk, however, and the grain quickly ran up in price. The final sale was at 29 cents, with 29½ cents bid just before the close.

Directors of the Board of Trade will meet on Tuesday to consider a change in the grading of barley. The present operations were said to be based almost entirely on export and feed requirements rather than on malting types. The malting types have been quoted in Milwaukee daily for many years.

After the enactment of the Volstead Act, which made the provisions of the Eighteenth Amendment workable, barley was relegated to the comparative obscurity of the cash grain market. Rarely, however, was any of the grain sold here.

The sudden interest in barley gave some measure of stimulus to all grains.

It should be added to the foregoing that December barley at Chicago closed Nov. 30 at 31c. asked, and May barley sold at 32⅞c. As noted in the above extract, trading began Nov. 10 at 25c. a bushel.

Canada Gets Preference of Six Cents a Bushel on Wheat Under Ottawa Agreement—Other Aid to Canadian Wheat Growers.

As indicating the advantages to accrue to Canadian wheat growers as a result of the preference of 6c. a bushel granted to Canadian wheat as against wheat coming from the United States and from other countries outside the British Empire, under the Ottawa Conference agreement, which was ratified by the British Parliament at the beginning of November, active discussion of the matter brought the subject prominently to the front. Associated Press advices from Ottawa, Nov. 3, stated that Premier Bennett of Canada had told the Canadian House of Commons that British officials had sole authority to decide when Canadian wheat shipped to Great Britain through the United States would come under the 6c. preference rate of the new Canada-United Kingdom trade agreement. Press advices from Ottawa enlarged upon the statement by saying:

Replying to a question by a member of Parliament, he read a cable received from the High Commissioner's office in London, which said:

"The mere transit of Canadian goods through the United States would not be a barrier to grant of imperial preference provided that goods are definitely consigned from Canada to this country and that satisfactory evidence of through consignment is produced. Preference, however, would not be granted to such goods in this country if such goods were sent from Canada to the United States and then consigned from there."

The following (United Press) from Montreal, Nov. 25, relates to the same subject, and shows how strictly the regulations are to be enforced to prevent wheat from the United States from coming through without paying the 6c. tax:

Canadian grain shipments to the United Kingdom through United States ports will be limited to a minimum, it was learned to-day from Dominion officials, who said British authorities will require strict documentation of grain exports before they will be qualified for preference in Great Britain.

The new ruling, it was said, will prove beneficial to Canadian ports.

According to information received here, the only export which will be possible through an American port will be on a through bill of lading, available only in the case of a bona fide transaction between a Canadian exporter and a British importer.

One report from Ottawa is to the effect that since the wheat preference became prospective, Canadian shippers through Buffalo and other United States storage elevators have tentatively consigned their wheat to the United Kingdom.

It is now stated, however, that this device will not be sufficient to secure the preference for the grain in question. Under strict enforcement of the requirement of a through bill of lading, the breaking up of shipments as occurs at Buffalo and in other American elevators to meet the requirements of outgoing cargo space is made impossible. Prolonged storage is also impossible.

The net effect of the British authorities' insistence upon this strict documentation is that the Canadian ports, especially those equipped to handle grain traffic, are assured of a larger share of the wheat export business than they have been able to secure in the past.

Already the elevators at Halifax are said to be in receipt of the first important consignments which they have handled since they were built.

Commenting upon this movement, the Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce, said that the Government had been in telegraphic communication with the Winnipeg grain interests in recent days and that they had agreed to co-operate in the policy of routing the Empire-bound grain through the ports of the Dominion.

But the Canadian Government also came to the rescue of the Canadian wheat growers in other ways. For instance, it agreed to guarantee the Canadian banks against loss when financing hedging operations, as appears from Ottawa advices published Nov. 15, as follows:

Canadian banks were guaranteed by the government against loss in financing hedging operations by Canadian Co-operative Wheat Producers, Ltd., central selling agency of the three prairie pools, Premier R. B. Bennett revealed in Parliament in reply to a question as to whether the government has been buying wheat in the Winnipeg market.

The Dominion now stands behind banks to the extent of $18,000,000, which is equal to the estimated cost of a five-cent bonus on this year's crop, according to Mr. Bennett, and he added he considered it improbable the Federal Treasury will sustain any considerable loss through the guarantee.

Without hedging operations, prices on Winnipeg grain exchange might have fallen below 40 cents a bushel, Mr. Bennett said. Hedging was necessary for orderly marketing of the Canadian wheat crop, the government felt, as speculators had practically disappeared and operations of investors (milling companies), were restricted by the depression, thus removing the buying power that normally kept the market stable

We also quote the following on the same subject from Ottawa, Nov. 15, copyright by the New York "Sun":

The Canadian Government is supporting and bolstering the wheat market by guaranteeing bank loans to grain interests and by employing the wheat pool to maintain the level of prices according to a revelation by Premier Richard B. Bennett.

In a statement before the House of Commons last night, Mr. Bennett explained how the Government had been making advances to banks guaranteeing them against losses incurred on advances for the purchase of wheat at the elevators and for hedging operations to stabilize wheat prices carried on by the Canadian Co-operative Wheat Selling Agencies, Ltd., in view of the virtual disappearance of the private speculator.

Mr. Bennett offered no figures on the amount of money involved, but emphasized that no matter what loss might be entailed, if any, it would not equal Government disbursements in the form of a bonus of five cents a bushel on wheat. He made it clear that the Cabinet had been confronted with the question whether to guarantee the banks or renew this bonus, which was revoked last year, as reports had indicated that unless hedging operations were continued the crop could not be marketed.

Declaring that he could not predict when Government support of hedging operations would be discontinued, Mr. Bennett pointed out that immediate withdrawal of such assistance would have a detrimental effect on the market and would probably see wheat down to below 40 cents.

Reviewing the causes of this development, Mr. Bennett stated that formerly there had been two factors in the purchase of wheat: the investor and the speculator. The latter was no longer a factor, having almost passed out of the market, he said. In connection with the hedging of wheat, the investor must be depended upon, but owing to present trade conditions, the investor's position was not sufficiently strong. Therefore, the wheat pools through their selling organization became the only possible body available for hedging operations.

Mr. Bennett submitted statistics to show that 225,000,000 bushels of the present year's crop had been delivered to the country elevators by the grain growers, of which 175,000,000 bushels had been sold, as against a total sale last year of only 265,000,000 bushels. Another indication, he said, of the freer movement of wheat so far this crop year was the fact, excepting 1928, the export of wheat for the first three months had been greater than in any other year since 1922.

Australia Also Comes to the Assistance of Wheat Growers.

Australia also felt it incumbent to extend financial assistance to its embarrassed wheat growers, as is evident from the following Associated Press advices from Canberra, Australia, Nov. 18:

The Commonwealth Government to-day amended terms of its proposed grant to wheat farmers and decided to set aside $10,000,000 for direct assistance to growers in financial difficulties.

A plan announced last week called for expenditure of about $6,000,000 to aid growers but did not specify how the money was to be spent. To-day's plan made no mention of tax reduction outlined in the previous scheme.

It was announced also that about $625,000 will be appropriated to help primary producers other than wheat growers to purchase fertilizer.

The following from the "Wall Street Journal" of Nov. 22 from Perth, Australia, is to the same effect:

The mangement committee of the Australian wheat growers' union has decided to instruct members to hold up all deliveries of wheat until the Federal Government decides to pay a bounty of six pence per bushel on the 1932-33 crop. A bill providing for a bounty of four pence halfpenny per bushel on all wheat marketed this season, passed both houses of the Federal Parliament in October.

Course of Coffee and Sugar Prices—Sugar Sharply Declines While Coffee Prices Are Well Maintained.

Sugar prices took a sharp turn downward during the latter part of November. Cuban raw sugar, as against 1.04@1.06 Oct. 28, sold up to the equivalent of 1.13c. on Nov. 14, but then began to decline and on Nov. 29 sales were made at 0.92c., and on Nov. 30 at 0.87c. The wholesale price of refined sugar in New York was marked down by the leading refineries on Nov. 28 from 4.25c. the figure which had prevailed since Oct. 15, to 4.15c. President Machado of Cuba signed a decree at the beginning of the month limiting the 1933 Cuban sugar crop to 2,000,000 tons, which meant a reduction of 23% from the previous year's production, and the smallest Cuban crop in 20 years. The firm of Willett & Gray, sugar statisticians, issued their first estimate on the 1933 world sugar crop, which they estimated at 23,753,000 tons, a decrease of 2,339,126 tons from the 1932 crop. The New York Coffee and Sugar Exchange pointed out that the estimate indicated a 5,000,000-ton reduction from the world's record crop of 1931, and which was considered chiefly responsible for getting sugar into its world-wide difficulties. A severe storm and hurricane which passed over the island carried disaster in its tracks and did much damage to sugar. Senator Lopez estimated that 545,613 bags (77,945 tons) of sugar held by the Cuban Sugar Exporting Corp., or 26% of the amount in the affected area, was damaged by the storm. About 50% of the standing crop from previous years also was damaged, with about 20% of the sprouts lost—although all these estimates later in the month were deemed excessive. These unfortunate happenings, however, instead of helping market prices, had precisely the opposite effect. The New York Coffee and Sugar Exchange, in its review of the sugar market for the week ending Nov. 18, stated that the trade was motivated by a fear that sugar damaged in the hurricane would be rushed to the United States by insurance companies to be refined immediately and dumped on the market. Other interests, it was stated, became bearish on sugar on the theory that the Democratic victory in the United States foreshadowed tariff cuts for sugar and that producers in the "duty-free" islands would hasten to sell while they still had the 2c. preference over Cuban producers. The market rallied when it became evident that neither of the two contingencies mentioned could be regarded as immediate serious market factors, but declined again later in the month. Liquidation was heavy in the December position, which had been selling at a premium over the 1933 new crop delivery months. With the unsettlement of the future market refiners withdrew from the actual market and waited for pressure to develop from Cuba. Some interests contended that the decline in the pound sterling had an unfavorable effect on British purchasing power and had been an important adverse influence on sugar values.

In the case of coffee, sealed bids were opened at noon on Nov. 1 by the Grain Stabilization Corp. for its November release of 62,500 bags of coffee. The sale of this, the third allotment, was made at prices ranging from 10.27 to 10.77c. a pound, or nearly 1c. a pound above the closing prices for December futures in Santos contracts on the New York Coffee and Sugar Exchange. As a result of the unexpectedly good bids received by the Farm Board affiliate a considerable stiffening in coffee prices developed. The coffee sold represented the third monthly sale, from a block of 1,050,000 bags taken the previous year in exchange for 25,000,000 bushels of wheat sent to Brazil. Prices at the first sale ranged from 14.27 to 14.52c. a pound, while the second sale brought from 10.55 to 11.56c. It is proper to say that the Farm Board was not so successful with the sale arranged for Dec. 1. Only 16,500 of the 62,500 bags of coffee which were to have been sold by the Grain Stabilization Corporation, as its monthly release from the Farm Board, were disposed of on that day. The bids for the remainder were less than 10c. a pound, and were considered too low. It was stated that another auction would probably be held about the middle of December. The prices accepted ranged from 10c. to 10.51c. a pound for No. 3 and No. 4 grades of Santos coffee. Reports of an impending change in the Brazilian tax on coffee exported caused the coffee futures market to fluctuate nervously the early part of the month, but cable dispatches from Rio de Janeiro received by the New York Coffee and Sugar Exchange about the middle of the month indicated that the 15 shilling per bag coffee export tax imposed by the National Coffee Council and collected in the form of 55 milreis would remain unchanged. A cable dispatch received by the New York Coffee and Sugar Exchange on Nov. 11 stated that up to the end of October a total of 10,203,000 bags of coffee had been officially destroyed in Brazil. Rio de Janeiro advices, Nov. 23, said that at the suggestion of the Coffee Council the Brazilian Government had issued a decree forbidding the planting of new coffee trees anywhere in the entire Federation during the next three years, and that replanting of trees would be allowed only with the Government's consent. No. 7 Rio for spot delivery was quoted in the New York market at 8½c. Nov. 30 as against 8¼c. Oct. 31, and a nominal price of 10c. bid on Sept. 28. This compared with 8¾c. bid Aug. 31; 8¼c. July 30; 7⅞c. on June 30; 8½c. May 31; 7¾@7⅞c. April 30; 7¼c. March 31; 7¼c. Feb. 29; 7⅛c. Jan. 30; also with 7@7¼c. Dec. 31; 6½@6⅝c. Nov. 30; 5¾@6c. Oct. 31; 5½c. Sept. 30; 5½@5¾c. Aug. 31; 5⅞@6c. July 31; 6⅛@7c. June 30; 6⅝c. May 29; 6½@6¾c. April 30; 5½c. March 31; 5½@5⅝c. Feb. 28; 6¾c. Jan. 31, all in the year 1931, and with 7¼@7½c. Dec. 31 1930. No. 7 Santos Nov. 30 was quoted at 9½c. against 10¼c. Oct. 31. There was no quotation Sept. 30 for this grade, but earlier in September the price was 14c. bid. This compares with 12⅝c. Aug. 31; 10¼c. July 30; 9⅛@9⅝c. June 30; 9¾@10c. May 31; 9c. bid April 30; 8½c. bid March 31; 8½c. Feb. 29; 8⅝c. Jan. 30. It also compares with 8@8¼c. Dec. 31; 7¼@7½c. Nov. 30; 7¼c. bid Oct. 31; 6⅞@7c. Sept. 30; 6⅝@6⅞c. Aug. 31; 7½@7⅞c. July 31; 8½@9c. June 30; 8½@8¾c. May 29, and the same figures for April 30; 7¾@8c. March 31; 7¾@8c. Feb. 28; 8¾@9c. Jan. 31, all in the year 1931, and with 8¾@9¼c. Dec. 31 1930, and 11¼c. Oct 31 1930.

Cotton Prices Drop Still Lower—Reduced Activity in Cotton Goods and Other Textiles.

The textile trades felt the influence of slackening trade activity, the same as other industries, and in addition in the case of cotton goods there was a renewed drop in the price of the raw material which proved an unsettling influence. The price of raw cotton fluctuated somewhat erratically, but the tendency the latter part of the month was towards lower levels. Spot cotton in New York was quoted at 6.10c. during the first three days of the month, and by Nov. 11 had advanced to 6.70c., but after that moved almost continuously downward until on Nov. 28 the quotation was 5.80c., which was followed by an advance to 6.00c. Nov. 29, with a downward reaction again to 5.95c. Nov. 30. Settlement was effected on Nov. 5 of the strike in the spinning section of the Lancashire (England) cotton textile industry, and work was resumed on Monday, Nov. 7. This removed an unfavorable influence, but the strike of the spinners had been of only short duration. [The weaver strike had previously been disposed of.] Manchester, England, advices, under date of Oct. 31, having stated that following the rejection by the spinners of a wage agreement their leaders had reached with the employers a majority of the spinning mills throughout Lancashire had closed and nearly 200,000 workers were idle, though some few mills were still running at the old rate of pay. The reduction in wages seems to have been somewhat over 7%. The Agricultural Department at Washington, in its report issued Nov. 9, further increased its estimate of the probable yield of the 1932 crop of cotton in the United States by 522,000 bales, raising the total to 11,947,000 bales, which, however, compared with 17,096,000 bales harvested the previous season. This enlargement appeared to have little influence on market values at the time, but may have been a factor in the later decline. Consumption of cotton in this country held up well, and the export movement of the staple was also quite free, even though the Far East took diminished amounts of the staple. The highest weekly rate of production since April 1930, and a continuation of the abnormally low mill stock position were features of the statistical reports on carded cotton cloth for October, released Nov. 14 by the Association of Cotton Textile Merchants of New York. Production during October was 253,109,000 yards, or at the rate of 63,277,000 yards weekly. This was an increase of 11% over the weekly rate for September. Billings were 246,562,000 yards, or 97.4% of production. Stocks on Oct. 31 were 166,668,000 yards, the lowest figure for any month except the 160,121,000 yards recorded in the September report. Sales, however, were only 149,657,000 yards, or 59.1% of production. Unfilled orders Oct. 31 were 347,123,000 yards, as against 444,028,000 yards Oct. 1. The Census Bureau report issued on Nov. 15 showed that the amount of cotton consumed in the United States during October amounted to 502,244 bales of lint and 57,955 bales of linters, compared with 461,023 bales of lint and 57,955 bales of linters in October 1931. The report also showed that the exports of cotton from the United States in October 1932 were 1,008,023 bales, as against 1,014,180 bales in October last year, notwithstanding that China took only 13,821 bales as against 113,320 bales the previous year, and Japan 199,680 bales against 216,255 bales. For the three months of the new crop year ending with Oct. 31 cotton exports were 2,193,842 bales against 1,783,402 bales in the same three months of 1931, in face of the fact that China took only 59,854 bales against 274,459 bales, and Japan 361,551 bales against 431,684 bales. The takings for the Far East may have diminished, not merely because China has raised a larger crop, and India also, but because of the depreciation of the Japanese yen and the further decline in the prices of silver. Egypt continued its efforts to restrict the output of Egyption cotton, and the Agricultural Department at Washington, it was announced Nov. 21, had been informed by cable that an Egyptian decree had been signed restricting cotton acreage for next year to 40% for Sakellaridis and 50% for other varieties of the cultivated area. Print cloths at Fall River for 28-inch 64x60 were marked down on Nov. 9 from 2⅝c. to 2 9/16c.; on Nov. 21 to 2½c.; on Nov. 28 to 2⅜c., and on Nov. 30 to 2 5/16c. The price of 27-in. 60x60 was reduced during the month from 2½c. to 2 3/16c., and of 30-inch 40x30 7-ounce Osnaburgs from 5¼c. to 5c.

The decline in yen exchange forced lower prices for raw silk. Here in New York Japanese double extra 13-15 deniers were quoted at $1.42½@$1.47½ Nov. 30 as against $1.55@$1.60 Oct. 31; $1.75@$1.80 Sept. 30; $2@$2.05 Aug. 31; $1.40@$1.45 July 30; $1.12½@$1.17½ June 30; $1.10@$1.15 May 31; $1.35@$1.40 April 30; $1.50@$1.55 March 31; $1.67½@$1.70 Feb. 29; $1.87½@$1.90 Jan. 30; $1.85@$1.90 Dec. 31 1931; $2.20@$2.25 on Nov. 30, and also on Oct. 31 1931, and comparing with $4.70@$4.75 on Jan. 31 1930. In the 20-22 deniers, Japanese crack double extra were quoted at $1.42½@$1.47½ Nov. 30 against $1.45@$1.50 Oct. 31; $1.60@$1.65 Sept. 30; $2.00@$2.05 Aug. 31; $1.45@$1.50 July 30; $1,17½@$1.22½ June 30; $1.10@$1.15 May 31; $1.32½@$1.37½ April 30; $1.42½@$1.47½ March 31; $1.70@$1.80 Feb. 29; $1.95@$2.00 Jan. 30; $1.85@$1.90 Dec. 31 1931; $2.30@$2.32½ Nov. 30; $2.10@$2.15 Oct. 31 1931, and comparing with $4.60@$4.65 on Jan. 31 1930. On the National Raw Silk Exchange the December option for silk closed Nov. 30 at $1.36@$1.38 as against $1.44 bid on Oct. 31.

Crude rubber prices continued to rule low, in part because of the further weakening of sterling exchange. Ribbed smoked sheets for spot delivery were quoted at 3¼c. bid and 3⅜c. asked on Nov. 30 against 3½c. asked Oct. 31; 3⅝c. bid and 3 11/16c. asked Sept. 30; 4⅜c. Aug. 31; 3 3/16c. asked July 30; 2 9/16c. bid and 2 11/16c. asked June 30; 2 11/16c. bid and 2¾c. asked May 31; 3 1/16c. asked April 30; 3 1/16c. bid and 3 3/16c. asked March 31; 3⅝@3 11/16c. Hides prices, after a sharp advance the first half of the month, moved lower the latter part. As against 4.90 Oct. 31, the December option (old) sold up to 5.50 Nov. 12, and then under extensive liquidation sold down to 4.15 on Nov. 30.

Activity in the Iron and Steel Trade Sinks to a Low Level—Non Ferrous Metals Also Move Lower After Some Recovery the Middle of the Month.

The general setback experienced in trade found most pronounced expression in the iron and steel trade. The state of this trade is perhaps best indicated by quoting from the weekly market reports of the "Iron Age." In its issue of Nov. 3 the "Iron Age," speaking of conditions on Nov. 1, stated that with many buyers awaiting the outcome of the Presidential election before making further commitments, new steel business had declined, yet steel ingot production gained a point from the previous week to 20% of the country's capacity, mainly because of recent orders from the automobile industry. Pig iron output in October, figured on a daily basis, had gained 5.3% over that of September, and the month's average was 21.5% above the low point of August. The "Age" also said: "While steel and pig iron production is gathering momentum very slowly, the broad outlook is fairly encouraging for further moderate gains, considering that railroad equipment programs are becoming more numerous, that automobile production of new models is expanding, and that some construction projects sponsored by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation will be affording mill rollings of steel by the end of the year." In its issue of Nov. 17 the "Iron Age" observed that new business in steel products had continued to decline in nearly all markets except Cleveland, where automotive requirements were paramount. A policy of caution among buyers, which began to affect orders adversely during the latter half of October, had not been altered even with the election uncertainty out of the way. On the contrary, the placing of some tonnage under consideration before the election had been indefinitely postponed. In its issue of Dec. 1 the "Age" was prompted to remark that although steel ingot production in some districts had recovered slightly from the holiday week slump, the downward trend of recent weeks in orders for finished steel products had almost reached the point of the midsummer stagnation and a poor December for the steel industry was plainly indicated. For the country as a whole, steel ingot output was estimated at 17% of capacity against 16% the previous week, but it seemed certain, it was stated, that incoming orders were not sufficient to maintain even this rate in the final month of the year. Hopes for the usual seasonal recovery beginning in January were still entertained, but the virtual withdrawal from the market of the largest groups of consumers excepting the automobile industry, gave no assurance that there would be more than a mild upturn such as was experienced in September and October. The tendency of prices continued downward. The American Sheet and Tin Plate Co., a subsidiary of the United States Steel Corp., on Nov. 17 announced the price of tin plate for delivery over the first half of 1933 and made the quotation $4.25 per standard box of 100 pounds, a reduction of 50c. Advices from Pittsburgh stated that this was the first price change since Oct. 1 1931, at which time a 25c. reduction went into effect. It was also stated that the new price was the lowest since 1916, when during the first nine months of the year a price of $3.60 prevailed. The "Iron Age" made the composite price of finished steel Nov. 29 1.948c. per pound, the same as a month earlier, but comparing with 2.008c. a year previously. The composite price of pig iron was put at $13.59 a gross ton, the same as a month previously, but comparing with $14.96 12 months before. The composite price of steel scrap was put at $7.37 a gross ton against $7.58 a month earlier and $8.75 at the corresponding date in 1931.

Prices of most of the non-ferrous metals also moved lower. Copper for domestic delivery in Connecticut was offered at the close of the month at 5.25c. per pound, and metal was available for shipment over the first quarter of 1932 at that figure. In fact, some little business was placed at $5.20. A World Copper Conference for world copper curtailment became deadlocked at the end of the month. Electrolytic copper here in New York was marked up on Nov. 11 from 5c. to 5⅛c., and on Nov. 15 to 5¼c., but marked down again on Nov. 16 to 5⅛c., on Nov. 28 to 5c., and on Nov. 30 to 4⅞c. Lake copper at New York was marked up from 5¼c. to 5⅜c. Nov. 11, and to 5½c. Nov. 15, but reduced again to 5⅜c. Nov. 16, and to 5¼c. Nov. 29. The price of lead in New York was raised from 3.00c. Nov. 9 to 3.15c., but lowered again to 3.00c. Nov. 18. Tin at New York, after moving up from 23.35c. Nov. 1 to 24.15c. Nov. 14, dropped to 22.10c. Nov. 29, and was 22.50c. Nov. 30.

Petroleum and Its Products—Weakness of the Price Structure—Texas Railroad Commission Given New Powers to Curtail Production.

There was some weakening in prices for refined products during November, one evidence of which was seen when on Nov. 30 gasoline price reductions were announced by the Standard Oil Co. of New York in various sections of its territory. Yet efforts to curtail production, at least in the case of crude oil, continued active. The Texas House of Representatives on Nov. 10 passed the corrected oil and gas conservation bill for which a special session of the Texas Legislature had been called. The bill, as enacted, retains authority for the Texas Railroad Commission in pro rating oil and gas production, to consider economic waste and reasonable market demand along with physical waste, the changes having been made to conform to a Federal decision nullifying the old enforcement. On Nov. 15 the Texas Railroad Commission gave notice that a State-wide hearing would be held in Austin, Nov. 26, preliminary to promulgation of oil production allowable under the new law, which gives the Commission authority to limit crude oil production to market demand. On Nov. 29 the Texas Railroad Commission set the output of crude oil for the State of Texas at 849,625 barrels daily, to be effective Dec. 1. The allowable flow for East Texas was cut 10,000 barrels, to 325,000 barrels daily. This was the second cut for this field, a recent ruling having slashed the flow 40,000 barrels. In the following we show all the principal price changes of the month, both in the case of crude oil and the refined product:

Crude Oil.

Nov. 22—Humble Oil & Refining Co. posts 10c. to 20c. reduction in Gulf Coast heavy crudes, new prices being 60c. a barrel for below 20 gravity and 70c. a barrel for 20 to 24.9 gravity. Mirando crude was cut 10c. a barrel.

Nov. 29—Vickers Petroleum Co., Wichita, and Eldorado Refining Co., Eldorado, Kan., announce return to former crude price schedule ranging from 76c. to $1 a barrel, in effect prior to Oct. 15, at which time a 12c. advance was posted.

Gasoline and Kerosene.

Nov. 1—All markets increase third grade gasoline 2½c. a gallon in St. Paul and Minneapolis, Minn.

Nov. 2—Standard Oil Co. of New York cuts tank wagon and service station gasoline price ½c. a gallon in Utica.

Nov. 16—Standard Oil Co. of New York posts ½c. advance in tank wagon and service station gasoline prices.

Nov. 21—Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey reduces tank wagon and service station gasoline prices 2c. a gallon in Washington, D. C.

Nov. 22—Major companies reduce service station prices on all grades of gasoline 2c. a gallon, and tank wagon price 1½c. a gallon on regular and premium grades in Franklin County, Ohio, which includes Columbus. New prices are 19c. for ethyl; 16c. for regular, and 14c. for third grade, all including 3c. State tax and 1c. Federal tax.

Nov. 25—Standard Oil Co. of Ohio advances gasoline in Montgomery County 1c. a gallon on ethyl and X-70, new prices being 21c. and 18c., respectively. Super Green advanced 2c. a gallon to 17c., all prices including State and Federal taxes. This advance puts prices up to State-wide level.

Nov. 28—Major oil companies in Detroit area post 1c. advance in service station gasoline prices, making new schedules 13½c. for regular and 16½c. for premium grades, including State and Federal taxes.

Nov. 28—Reductions ranging from 1c. to 4½c. have been posted throughout States of Washington and Oregon as result of keen competition in gasoline distribution.

Nov. 30—Standard Oil Co. of New York posts reductions of ½c. a gallon on U. S. motor gasoline, tank car and ¼c. a gallon on Socony brand, tank car; also 1c. reduction in tank wagon and service station prices in Buffalo. In Providence and Haverstraw tank wagon and service station prices were reduced ½c. a gallon.

American Federation of Labor Declares for 30-Hour Week—Also for Jobless Insurance—President Green's Remarks.

One of the events of the month was the action of the American Federation of Labor in declaring for a 30-hour work-week. The morning papers on Tuesday, Nov. 29, contained Associated Press dispatches from Cincinnati the day before saying that under the impassioned leadership of William Green, President of the organization, delegates to the national convention of the American Federation of Labor, late on that day, had "thundered their approval" of a 30-hour work-week. The proposal, we were told, met unanimous approval on roll call. "We must let the world know we demand action in response to our appeal to reason or we will secure it through force if necessary," Mr. Green declared, in recommending adoption of the resolution for a six-hour day, five-day week work schedule. Debate on the resolution, it was stated, extended only to a committee's recommendation that officers of the Federation be given authority to forward the program. There was no opposition to the proposal itself. Mr. Green, urging universal adoption of the shorter working week, asserted the Federation would call upon major political parties to make good their promise for shorter work-week legislation at the coming session of Congress. He declared the Federation would request the Federal Government—the greatest employer—to make the 30-hour week effective among Federal employees. The committee report, unanimously approved by the convention, called for universal adoption of the short week as "the only means whereby prosperity can be restored." It emphasized that "such reduction in labor hours should carry with it no reduction in pay." Instead of adopting the committee's recommendation that officers of the Federation be instructed to make the program effective in any manner they saw fit, the delegates ordered the executive council to appear before Congress and "industry generally" for presentation of the convention's "demand" for action. Mr. Green, asked to explain what he meant by "force of some kind," said only that he referred to "economic force" and refused to amplify the explanation.

On Nov. 30 the American Federation of Labor went a step further and voted for jobless insurance. The Cincinnati correspondent of the New York "Times," under date of Nov. 30, stated that by an overwhelming vote the American Federation of Labor convention had reversed its past policy and gone on record as favoring compulsory unemployment insurance under State auspices. Mr. Green, we were told, stressed the recommendation that industry be assessed the entire cost of the insurance which, according to the proposal, would be, it is stated, at least 3% of the payroll, and Thomas Donnelly, of the Ohio State Federation of Labor and a member of the Ohio Commission on Unemployment Insurance, declared that if the State of Ohio had started in 1921 to create an unemployment insurance fund there would have been $184,000,000 available for the unemployed by 1929.

According to the New York "Times" correspondent, "leaders in the campaign for retrenchment in Government expenditures—in particular corporations and spokesmen for concentrated wealth—were warned that if their ideas were carried out to their ultimate conclusion they might arouse public opinion to demand 'the more equitable distribution of wealth among all classes of our citizens.' This would mean that 'there can be no justification for a millionaire while there is poverty in the land; a mansion will have no moral right to exist while a hovel is to be found; boulevards cannot be justified while slums remain.'"

One railroad President had the courage to speak out and say what a 30-hour week would mean for the railroads, in which union labor, as represented by the Brotherhoods, is also endeavoring to find a solution for the railroad problem of unemployment by seeking to put into effect the shorter day and the shorter week. Associated Press advices from Chicago, Nov. 29, said that bankruptcy, in the opinion of Fred W. Sargent, President of the Chicago & North Western System, would overtake American railroads if the 30-hour week were adopted with no reduction in wages. Commenting on the action of the convention of the American Federation of Labor at Cincinnati in approving the universal shortened week as an objective of the nation's labor, the railroad executive said it would strike a fatal financial blow at rail transportation. The convention's stand that reduction in working hours to 30 weekly "should carry with it no reduction in pay," Mr. Sargent asserted, would be such a further heavy burden on the harassed transportation companies that it would, he said, "completely bankrupt the railroads." On the other hand, Mr. Sargent contended that only a reduction in wages would bring improved finances to the rail lines.

U. S. Treasury Buys $10,000,000 3½% Notes of Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

The Treasury Department purchased an additional $10,000,000 of 3½% notes of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation bringing total cash advances to the Corporation to $1,185,000,000, according to Washington advices Nov. 17 to the New York "Herald Tribune" which added:

As of Oct. 31 the Corporation had a cash balance of only $30,942,020. Outstanding loans amounting to $1,144,058,980 compared with cash advances from the Treasury of $1,175,000,000. Since that date, however, the Corporation has made no large loans and the cash balance has been swelled by the additional money from the Treasury and repayments on outstanding loans.

Federal Home Loan Bank Board Approves First Application for Loan.

The first application for a loan to an institution has been approved by the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, and regional banks expect to begin lending a substantial volume of money, that "ought to be well into the millions very promptly," Franklin W. Fort, Chairman of the Board, announced orally Nov. 29. The "United States Daily" of Nov. 30, from which we quote, also stated:

No loan has yet been actually made, either to an institution or an individual, Mr. Fort said. Thus far only one application, from an institution in the Third District, with headquarters at Pittsburgh, has reached the Board, although many have been received by the regional banks.

Capitalization Assured.

The minimum capitalization of the 12 District banks placed at $134,000,000 has been assured, the Chairman declared. "Substantially" over $9,000,000 in capital stock was subscribed by institutions eligible for membership in the System, and the Federal Treasury is authorized to supply the remainder.

"All the regional banks have now been fully staffed," Mr. Fort stated, "Either they have money available through subscriptions or are able to obtain it from the Treasury, and the Board is ready to grant admissions to the System. After institutions have been duly admitted, the money will begin flowing out."

Delay Explained.

Delay in lending money, it was explained, has been due to the necessity of attending to vital details, not to any indisposition to make use of the System.

Nine of the regional banks have fairly sizable sums available for lending, but two of the banks will have to obtain funds from the Treasury before they can make loans, it was pointed out. This is because of State restrictions that prevented subscriptions to the System by building and loan associations, savings banks and life insurance companies. The two banks are at Portland, Ore., and Boston.

Interest rates to be charged for loans will vary in the different districts in accordance with State laws, but 5% should be the maximum rate, Chairman Fort believes.

Functions of Board.

Mr. Fort likened the Home Loan Bank System to a jobber of money. It jobs the money to the wholesalers—the building and loan associations, insurance companies and savings banks—and they in turn retail it to individuals.

First preference in granting loans is to be given borrowers who will reloan the money for purposes that will lead directly to the employment of labor, the Chairman said.

Heavy Oversubscription of November Financing for Federal Intermediate Credit Banks Consisting of About $5,000,000 2½% Debentures.

The November financing for the Federal Intermediate Credit banks consisting of a new issue of approximately $5,000,000 of 2½% collateral trust debentures to be dated Nov. 15 1932 and maturing in one year, offered on Nov. 1, was more than five times oversubscribed, it was announced by Charles R. Dunn, fiscal agent. In October the banks offered $9,100,000 of the 2½% debentures. During the first 10 months of 1932 sales of these debentures aggregated approximately $185,660,000, with rates varying from 5% in January and February down to 2½%, the rate which has prevailed during the past four months and is the lowest on the banks' debentures since their establishment in 1923. This rate, it is noted, has been made possible by the amendment in May of the Federal Reserve Act which makes the debentures eligible collateral for 15-day loans by member banks of the Federal Reserve System. After the maturities of Nov. 15 it was stated there would be approximately $66,000,000 of debentures outstanding, representing the entire indebtedness of the banks, compared with $86,965,000 on June 30.

It should be added that on Dec. 1 Mr. Dunn announced the sale of approximately $13,000,000 of 2½% collateral trust debentures dated Dec. 15 1932, and due in nine and twelve months. Mr. Dunn reported that orders were received for more than two and one-half times the amount of debentures sold. According to Mr. Dunn, the demand for the debentures came principally from corporations and institutions with large amounts of idle funds.

Initial Distribution of 1½% by American Securities Investing Corp. Formed Under Presidency of T. W. Lamont of J. P. Morgan & Co.

The directors of the American Securities Investing Corporation, the so-called bond pool organized by banks here the previous June under the Presidency of Thomas W. Lamont of J. P. Morgan & Co., met on Nov. 10 and declared an initial distribution for the first half year of operations of 1½% on the corporation's outstanding income debentures, payable on Dec. 1. From the New York "Times" of Nov. 11 we quote:

The pool was organized with subscribed capital of $100,000,000, of which $23,000,000 has been paid in from time to time. The distribution, which is being made on the entire outstanding amount of debentures, amounts to about $345,000, which is at the rate of 3% annually.

This payment does not represent the full earnings of the corporation for the period. A large part of these earnings is not at this time available for distribution because, although they have piled up in the form of accrued interest on the bonds in which the corporation's funds are invested, in the case of many bonds the dates on which the coupons are payable have not yet been reached because none of the corporation's money has been invested for a full period of six months and much of it has been invested for a much shorter period.

The pool began operations early in June, at a time when the bond market was close to its lows for the depression to date. As soon as the announcement of the formation of the organization was made bond prices started up and soon thereafter the general recovery in security prices set in. As a result of this movement the pool never got a chance to get all its capital to work under the conditions it was formed to take advantage of. In recent months the corporation has not been very active, but it has retained all the investments it made.

Foreign Developments.

The outstanding developments in the foreign field in November were the reopening of the intergovernmental debt question, the general elections in Germany culminating in the resignation of the Cabinet of Chancellor Franz von Papen, and the consideration of the Lytton Report on Manchuria by the League of Nations. Business in other countries continued in a low state of activity, and, while some of the post-Lausanne trade gains were not held, evidence was abundant that business was better than during the near-panic phase of the early summer. The pound sterling as noted in the early part of this article underwent a drastic decline, falling to a new historic low under $3.15, as compared with the previous low of $3.18, established Feb. 4 1918. Other European currencies also were weak.

The votes cast in the Nov. 8 election in this country had not been completely tabulated before Great Britain and France handed notes to our State Department asking for a re-examination of the entire question of the war debt settlements and for a suspension, in the meantime, of the payments due this country Dec. 15. These notes were delivered at Washington on Nov. 10 by Sir Ronald Lindsay, British Ambassador, and Paul Claudel, French Ambassador. The two governments had been waiting until the national election in this country was over before pressing their case for a postponement and review of the debt payments, as they realized that the debt question might embarrass the candidates for office if it were raised before Nov. 8. The text of the two notes was made public Nov. 14, and it was at once apparent that Britain and France had broached the debt question in rather similar language. This fact served as a reminder that Britain and France had announced a consultative agreement last July after the Lausanne Conference. The Belgian Government, on Nov. 15, associated itself with the British and French and filed a debt note at Washington.

The Bitish note pointed out that the hopes raised by the moratorium on intergovernmental payments initiated by President Hoover in June 1931 had not been realized and that the economic troubles had not yet come to an end. The note, which was signed by Sir Ronald, alluded to the fact that on the occasion of Premier Laval's visit to this country a statement was issued jointly by M. Laval and Mr. Hoover which recognized that "prior to the expiration of the Hoover year, some agreement on intergovernmental obligations may be necessary covering the period of the business depression. The initiative on this matter should be taken early by the European powers principally concerned within the framework of the agreements existing prior to July 15 1931." Attention then was called by Sir Ronald to the Lausanne Agreements of July 9 last aiming at the ultimate termination of all reparations payments. The note expressed the firm conviction that the regime of intergovernmental obligations, as now existing, must be reviewed and that, pending this review, the Dec. 15 payments should be postponed. The French note made substantially the same points, referring to the Hoover-Laval communications of Oct. 25 1931, to Lausanne and to the "economic and financial difficulties which stand in the way of a resumption of normal relations between nations."

In reply to the British note, Henry L. Stimson, Secretary of State, stated that the attitude of the President was "that for any suggested study of inter-governmental financial obligations as now existing, some such agency as I have referred to (the World War Debt Funding Commission) should be created to consider this question individually with each government as heretofore. The President is prepared to recommend to Congress that it constitute an agency to examine the whole subject." Secretary Stimson declared, with reference to the request for suspension of the Dec. 15 payment, that "no facts have been placed in our possession which could be presented to the Congress for favorable consideration." He said that if the payment were made "the prospects of a satisfactory approach to the whole question, in my opinion, would be greatly increased." The reply to the French note followed rather similar lines, although the suggestion was not so strong that additional facts be placed in the hands of the United States which might justify a decision in favor of postponement and review.

The British and French Cabinets, upon receipt of the replies by Secretary Stimson to their first notes, immediately set to work to restate their case. The second British note was received in Washington by Sir Ronald Lindsay late Dec. 1 and made public on Dec. 2, while the second French note reached here early on Dec. 2 and was given out later the same day.

Results of the German Election—A New German Ministry.

German voters on Nov. 6 cast 35,379,011 votes to elect a Reichstag, giving evidence, by the fall of 1,500,000 in the number of votes since last July, that they were weary of national elections. The voting robbed the National Socialists, led by Adolf Hitler, the Socialists and the Catholic Centrist Party of votes, while the strength of the Communists and the Nationalists increased. Owing to the fall in the number of votes, the new Reichstag has only 582 members, against 608 in the last Reichstag, with the National Socialists having 195 Deputies, against 230; the Socialists, 121, against 133; Communists, 100, against 89; Catholic Centrists, 70, against 75; Nationalists, 51, against 37, and Bavarian Peoples' Party, 18, against 22.

After the failure of protracted negotiations with party leaders, designed to secure the aid of the powerful Parliamentary groups for the regime, Chancellor Franz von Papen and his Junker Cabinet resigned on Nov. 17. The resignation was submitted, it was understood, when the Junker Cabinet heads were unable to secure the support of President Paul von Hindenburg for their plan to dissolve the new Reichstag and rule by dictatorship. President von Hindenburg called Herr Hitler in for a conference on Nov. 21 and offered him the Chancellorship on the condition that he could obtain enough pledges of support from other party leaders as to give him a majority in the Reichstag. This condition Herr Hitler was unable to meet, as the Catholic Centrists and the Nationalists, under Dr. Alfred Hugenberg, declined to co-operate with him. General Kurt von Schleicher, Reichswehr Minister in the von Papen Cabinet, then set about trying to form a Ministry but also failed. In spite of a rebuff by Herr Hitler, General von Schleicher at length was appointed Chancellor on Dec. 2.

The Council of the League of Nations Considers the Manchurian Question.

The Council of the League of Nations began, on Nov. 21, to hear arguments on the Manchurian controversy by Yosuke Matsuoka and Dr. Wellington Koo, respectively the Japanese and Chinese spokesmen, preparatory to consideration of the Lytton Report. The day before the sessions of the Council got under way Japan released a 27,000-word document containing its "observations" on the Lytton Report, and China released a 1,500-word statement giving its views on the same report. In the bulky document Japan made a blanket denial of wrongdoing or treaty violation in the Manchurian venture, upheld Manchukuo as a really independent state, charged the Lytton Commission with failing to sift the evidence adequately and declared that China was in a chaotic condition. China based its case on the Lytton Report, saying: "We may not agree wholly on all points, but we do not consider it in the right spirit for a party to a dispute to challenge the findings of a neutral commission of inquiry" A week later, Nov. 28, the Council voted to transmit the Lytton Report and the minutes of its session to the League Assembly, and a meeting of the latter body was called for Dec. 6 to take up the report. Japan's objection to this transfer was less strenuous than had been expected.

Bureau of the General Disarmament Conference Resumes Its Activity.

The international search for a suitable formula for reduction in armament was resumed formally at Geneva on Nov. 3 with the assembling of the Bureau of the General Disarmament Conference to consider further steps to be taken in the plenary sessions. Germany did not attend the sessions, as it had withdrawn from the Conference until its demand for equality of armament had been granted. The French presented their plan for disarmament on Nov. 14. Embodying the familiar French thesis, it called for an international "police force" under control of the League of Nations and for special treaties guaranteeing French security. France declared itself ready to reduce armaments and armies to a defensive scale and to concede equality rights to all nations only on the condition that the Kellogg-Briand treaty was amplified and instrumented and effective application made of Article 16 of the League Covenant. On Nov. 17, Sir John Simon, British Foreign Secretary, placed a British disarmament plan before the Bureau. By it the German demand for equality of armament would be satisfied by permitting the Reich to have the same kind of armament as other nations. Sir John proposed that European states join in a treaty or convention for the settlement of present or future difficulties by other means than a resort to force. He said that limitations of armament could then be made effective, with German armaments limited by the same disarmament agreement which bound other nations. The war debt problem and the political crisis in Germany kept the leading European governments so absorbed in the latter half of November that little progress was made in discussing limitation of armament. Plans were laid, however, for a five-power conference at Geneva early in December, for the purpose of considering means of bringing Germany back to the Conference. If this aim were achieved, it was intimated that the delegates might leave Geneva and work out further plans for a time through diplomatic channels.

THE NOVEMBER FINANCING OF THE U. S. TREASURY.

The financing by the United States Government during November was confined to the sale of four issues of Treasury bills sold on a discount basis, (all to replace maturing issues of the same class of obligations, and these bills were in such active demand, owing to the continued congestion of funds at the monetary centers, that in the case of the last of these four sales another new low record was established in the cost of this class of borrowing by the United States Government, the final sale of the month having been on a bank discount basis of only 0.13% per annum—that is, only a little higher than ⅛ of 1% per annum. On Nov. 1 Secretary of the Treasury Ogden L. Mills announced a new issue of 91-day bills to the amount of $75,000,000, "or thereabouts," and stated that the new bills would replace an issue of $75,200,000 which would mature on Nov. 9. Tenders for the new bills were invited at the Federal Reserve banks and their branches up to 2 p. m. Nov. 4. The bills were to be dated Nov. 9, on which date payment for the same was required, and to mature on Feb. 8 1933. The tenders for this issue of bills aggregated $229,939,000. The amount accepted was $75,056,000, and the average price realized by the Government was 99.945, or an average discount basis of 0.22% per annum. This, while extremely low, was not quite so low as the rate realized by the Treasury at the concluding sale in October, when the average rate on a bank discount basis was 0.20% per annum, and compared with a sale of $75,110,000 of 91-day Treasury bills dated Oct. 19, when the Treasury received an average price which made the rate on a discount basis only 0.14% per annum, establishing a record-breaking low figure at that time in the disposal of bills on a discount basis. The succeeding sales in November, however, were at progressively lower rates until, as already stated, another new low record in all time was established. On Nov. 9 Mr. Mills, Secretary of the Treasury, gave notice that he would receive subscriptions for $75.000.000 of 91-day bills up to 2 p. m. Eastern Standard time on Nov. 14. The proceeds were to be used to replace a similar amount of bills maturing on Nov. 16, this latter being the date of the new bills, which were to run until Feb. 15 1933. The tenders for this offering aggregated $311,766,000 and the Treasury accepted $75,480,000 of the same at an average price of 99.948, making the average rate on a bank discount basis 0.21%.

On Nov. 17 still another offering of these bills was announced by Mr. Mills. These were 92-day bills and bids were invited for $60.000.000, "or thereabouts." It was stated that the proceeds were to go to meet an issue of bills maturing Nov. 23. This last was the date of the new bills, and they were to mature on Feb. 23 1933. Subscriptions were received up to 2 p. m. Eastern Standard time on Monday, Nov. 21. On this offering the tenders aggregated $270,688.000, and the allotment totaled precisely $60,000,000, the average price realized being 99.937, or an average rate on a bank discount basis of about 0.17%. On Nov. 22 Secretary of the Treasury Mills announced the fourth offering of bills, and on this the best figures yet obtained were realized. These were 91-day bills, and were offered to amount of $100,000.000, "or thereabouts." They were to be dated Nov. 30 1932, and to mature on March 1 1933, and it was stated that these bills were designed to meet a maturing issue of $100.500.000. Tenders were invited up to 2 p. m. on Nov. 28. On this occasion the amount of bills applied for was $302.630,000, and the Treasury Department accepted an even $100,000,000. The average price obtained was 99.966, making the average rate on a bank discount basis only about 0.13% per annum, establishing, as already stated, a new low record for this class of borrowing, thereby making an even closer approach to the rezo point.

It is of course apparent on the face that to borrow at a cost of only about ⅛ of 1% per annum is an abnormally low basis, but to impress the reader with the innate cheapness of the thing we will repeat an illustration given by us in our review covering the month of October. The price realized by the Government on this final disposal of bills in November was, as just noted, 99.966, which means that the Government realized $99.966.000 on its sale of $100,000.000 of bills. This, it will be noticed, is only $34.000 less than the full $100,000.000 represented by the face of the bill—bills sold on a discount basis carrying no interest—and accordingly it appears that the Treasury obtains the use of $100.000.000 for a period of 91 days for the trifling sum, relatively speaking, of $34.000.

The abnormally low figure at which the Government has been able to conduct this class of borrowing prompted the Treasury Department to issue a statement saying, according to the "United States Daily," "security houses such as investment banks have become interested in short-term Government loans during the depression, helping the Treasury to float 91-day bills at record low discount rates, according to information made available at the Treasury Department. Treasury bills, attractive because of their soundness and liquidity, have appealed to commercial banks in normal times while investment houses placed their funds in securities of long maturity, the information shows. Entrance of investment houses into the field of competition for Treasury bills has helped reduce the discount rate on them to record low levels."

Though the Treasury did no major financing during November, contenting itself with the placing of Treasury bills for the purpose of meeting maturing issues of such bills, the Treasury Department had large amounts of Government deposits available with the banks, and these were heavily drawn upon during the month. As noted in our review of events during October, the Treasury Department disposed of $508,338,600 of 4½-year 3% Treasury notes during the month mentioned. The Government deposits growing out of the sale of these 3% Treasury notes aggregated $131,000,000, of which $62,000,000 were on deposit in the New York Federal Reserve District. This was in addition to the $563,944,000 Government deposits (of which $278,779,249 were in the New York Federal Reserve District) growing out of the sale in September of $834,401,500 of five-year 3¼% Treasury notes and $451,447,000 of 1¼% one-year Treasury certificates of indebtedness in September. The first draft upon the deposits growing out of the September sales did not occur until Oct. 20, when a call for repayment on Oct. 24 of $33,836,600 was made, of which $16,725,400 represented deposits in the New York Federal Reserve District; this was followed by a call on Oct. 27 for repayment on Oct. 31 of $15,813,200, and the same amount on Nov. 1 1932. Thus the bulk of the large deposits growing out of the September and October sales of Treasury notes and Treasury certificates of indebtedness remained available to the Government. As a matter of fact, after the Oct. 27 call the Treasury Department still reported $657,736,000 of Government deposits throughout the country, of which $314,732,356 represented deposits in the New York Federal Reserve District, these figures including some Government deposits growing out of earlier sales by the Government of one kind or another. During November a number of drafts were made on the deposits growing out of the September sale of 3¼% Treasury notes and the 1¼% one-year Treasury certificates of indebtedness, but no drafts whatever were made against the deposits growing out of the sale of 3% Treasury notes in October. After a call on Nov. 23, for repayment on Nov. 28, of $11,248,900 of deposits (of which $5,591,800 was in the New York district) there still remained to the credit of the Government $525,968,300 of Government deposits throughout the country (of which $249,225,056 was in the New York district) and comparing with the $657,736,000 of Government deposits still remaining after the Oct. 27 draft, to which reference has been made, it would appear that during November Government deposits throughout the country were drawn down in amount of $131,767,700.

NEW SECURITY ISSUES AND DIVIDENDS IN NOVEMBER.

Domestic offerings during the month of November were limited in number and as in previous months consisted in the main of public utility and municipal offerings. One offering of size was the $27,500,000 Toledo Edison Co. issue of 5% 1st mtge. gold bonds at 95½ and int., to yield 5.30% and due Nov. 1 1962. The offerings of $2,000,000, or over, for November comprised the following:

PUBLIC UTILITY FINANCING.

$27,500,000 Toledo Edison Co.—New issue of 1st mtge. gold bonds, 5% series due Nov. 1 1962, priced at 95½ and int., to yield 5.30%. By a syndicate headed by Chase Harris Forbes Corp., and including Guaranty Co. of New York, the N. W. Harris Co., Inc., and Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc.

4 500,000 Niagara Falls Power Co.—Ad'tl issue of 1st & consol. mtge., series A, 5% gold bonds at 99½ and int., due July 1 1959. Sold privately by a group composed of J. P. Morgan & Co., Bonbright & Co., Inc., and Schoellkopf, Hutton & Pomeroy, Inc.

3,200,000 Louisiana Steam Generating Corp.—1st mtge. 6% gold bonds at 95 and int., to yield 6.91% and due Nov. 1 1939. By a syndicate including Stone & Webster and Blodget, Inc., Chase Harris Forbes Corp. and Brown Brothers Harriman & Co.

MUNICIPAL FINANCING.

$28,200,000 New York, N. Y.—Temporary loan consisting of $21,500,000 5¼% special corporate stock notes awarded to the National City Co. and the Chase Harris Forbes Corp., both of New York, jointly. Re-offered to yield 4.75%. The notes mature on June 14 1933. In addition the following issues of revenue bills and special corporate stock notes were sold during November:
$3,500,000 5% revenue bills of 1932, due Nov. 15 1933.
2,500,000 5% revenue bills of 1932, due Nov. 1 1933.
700,000 5% special corporate stock notes due Nov. 1 1933.

6,000,000 Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District, Calif., 4¼% bridge bonds, with an average maturity of 30½ years, were sold during November to the Bancamerica Co. of San Francisco and associates at a price of 96.18, or an interest cost basis of less than 5%. No part of the issue has been placed on the market as yet. This issue was originally sold to the banking group in September 1932 at 92.30, or a basis of about 5.27%. The award was declared illegal, however, as Masslich & Mitchell, bond attorneys of New York, held that the financing could be accomplished only at an interest cost basis to the district of not more than 5%. The second sale was then consummated, as referred to above.

3,200,000 Mississippi (State of) 6% deficit and insane hospital construction bonds purchased during November, at a price of 96, by a syndicate headed by Stranahan, Harris & Co. of Toledo. The bonds, the balance of an issue of $6,000,000, were taken on option by the bankers in September, when a block of $2,800,000 was actually purchased and reoffered for investment.

2,534,000 White Plains, N. Y., bonds, comprising $1,435,000 4.40s, due serially from 1939 to 1967, incl., and $1,099,000 4½s, due from 1934 to 1943 incl., awarded to a syndicate headed by Halsey, Stuart & Co. of New York at 100.10, a basis of about 4.411%.

1,318,000 Woodbridge Township, N. J., 5% bonds sold at par to the State Sinking Fund Commission. The total includes $784,000 assessment bonds due from 1933 to 1941 incl., and $534,000 capital improvement bonds due from 1934 to 1950, incl.

Changes in dividend declarations in November were not as numerous as in previous months and were again mostly of an unfavorable nature. The following table, divided into two sections, namely, "Favorable Changes" and "Unfavorable Changes," gives the more important of the changes:

THE COURSE OF THE STOCK MARKET DURING NOVEMBER.

The New York stock market during November was a dull affair, with two well defined movements, nevertheless, first upward and then downward, though with the range of prices less wide than is ordinarily the case, and disappointing throughout. There were few favorable developments to influence the course of prices, and no little accumulation of bad news and with the dealings confined almost entirely to professional traders, who apparently were without definite views as to the immediate course of prices and who stood ready at all times, as is generally true in dull periods, to make quick changes in their position on the market from day to day. In the case of the selected lists of stocks that are used as a basis for calculating averages, the low figures of the month, as a rule, were reached Nov. 3, and the high figures Nov. 12, with a gradual sagging of prices thereafter back almost to the lowest figure of the month. During the first three days of November the market was depressed and lower, as a result mainly of a renewed decline in commodity prices, particularly wheat and cotton, and with the Presidential election, which became very excited, acting as a bar to industrial revival and with the stock market reflecting the same disposition to await the outcome of the contest and to proceed slowly in the meantime. In addition, there were some special depressing influences. On Nov. 1 news came that a dozen banks in Nevada were in difficulties and sought assistance from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, and that as a measure of relief the chief executive of the State had declared a moratorium, or a business and bank holiday, extending until Nov. 12, throughout the State. Parenthetically it may be said here that this bank holiday had to be extended again and again as the month progressed. On Wednesday, Nov. 2, announcement was made that the St. Louis-San Francisco Railway had been placed in the hands of a receiver to force through the company's readjustment plan for a drastic lowering of fixed charges as required by the Inter-State Commerce Commission. In the foreign exchange market the pound sterling continued to rule low.

After the third of the month, however, the stock market changed its course, and a period of recovery occurred. But this lasted only about 10 days. Quite to the surprise of the speculative fraternity, prices turned upward on Friday, Nov. 4, and the rise was continued on Saturday, Nov. 5, and extended into Monday, Nov. 7. This was the time immediately preceding the holding of the Presidential election, which took place on Tuesday, Nov. 8. No great significance, it should be stated, was attached to this recovery, though it had not been expected. It was generally recognized that it reflected an oversold condition of the market and signified the covering of outstanding short commitments by those who were unwilling to take chances as to what might happen after the election. On Wednesday, Nov. 9, with the election results definitely known, stock prices, after evincing a rising tendency during the early hours, took somewhat of a plunge downward in the afternoon under the leadership of the railroad shares, which displayed special weakness for the reasons stated below, and it was then remarked that the market was on this occasion acting differently from the way in which it had acted in previous Presidential years, when, almost invariably, prices showed an advancing tendency as soon as the election uncertainty was over. But the market was to redeem itself and act true to tradition on Thursday, Nov. 10, and again on Friday, Nov. 11. Prices then moved up and displayed a strongly rising tendency. The special weakness in the railroad list on Wednesday, Nov. 9, was due to the publication of a statement in the daily papers that morning saying that there was a possibility that the Coolidge Railroad Committee, which was engaged in examining the status of the railroads for their security holders, would make its conclusions available within 10 days. The statement also carried the covert suggestion, evidently designed to affect the market, that the Committee might recommend the writing down of capital structures. The statement was unfounded, but evidently accomplished its purpose of unsettling the market the day after election. A prompt denial came in the morning papers on Thursday, Nov. 10, and then the railroad stocks bounded upward, carrying the whole market with them and permitting it to act in its normal fashion and indicate by a rise in prices relief that the election uncertainty was over.

The market continued firm on Saturday, Nov. 12, but thereafter completely reversed its course under an accumulation of bad news, with the result that under a constant sagging of prices virtually the whole of the advance established in the period from Nov. 3 to Nov. 12 was lost, leaving prices in most cases close to the low levels of the month recorded on Nov. 3. The depressing influences were many. Commodity prices again took a downward turn; the iron and steel trade, which had shown a little greater activity at the beginning of the month, lapsed back into extreme dullness; general trade showed decided evidence of slackening instead of continuing the manifestation of greater activity which had come with the advent of the summer months; the pound sterling took a further downward plunge, which continued day after day until the pound touched a new low level in all time on Nov. 29 at $3.14½, and the inter-Allied governments, two days after the election, sent notes to Washington asking for a postponement or suspension of the December installment of the payments due the United States, as also a complete re-examination of the whole question of intergovernmental debts, with a view to their reduction or complete cancellation. Under the weight of these depressing influences, prices sagged lower and still lower, with only occasional feeble rallies. There were some days the latter part of the month when prices of stocks not merely sagged, but suffered a severe shake-down. One of such days occurred on Wednesday, Nov. 23 (the day before the Thanksgiving Day holiday), when President Hoover, after his conference the day before with President-elect Roosevelt on the subject of foreign debt payments to the United States, issued a lengthy statement indicating opposition to postponement of the payments due in December, but reiterated the views previously expressed by him in favor of the appointment of a Commission to review the whole subject of intergovernmental debt payments. The effect of this, it was seen, would be to keep the whole matter alive for some time to come, whereas the business world and the security markets alike desired relief from these foreign troubles which had been such a depressing agency for so long. The result was to cause recessions in the prices of active stocks running all the way from 1 to 4 points. On Friday, Nov. 25, however, after the Thanksgiving Day holiday, the stock market steadied itself after a further decline in the morning—only to turn lower again the remainder of the month as commodity prices once more displayed weakness, with stocks especially depressed on the closing day, Wednesday, Nov. 30, as there appeared no relief from the unfavorable developments noted. The bond market, too, except for the gilt-edged issues, was under pressure all through the month, and this was not without influence in affecting stock prices.

The New York "Times" averages of 50 selected stocks reflect pretty accurately the general course of prices during the month. The average of the 25 railroad issues included in the compilation was at its lowest at 19.52 Nov. 3, and at its highest at 25.04 Nov. 12, with the close Nov. 30 20.07. The low for the 25 industrial stocks was 83.89 Nov. 3, and the high 99.20 Nov. 12, with the close Nov. 30 84.88. The low for the combined 50 stocks was 51.70 Nov. 3, and the high 62.12 Nov. 12, with the close Nov. 30 52.47. The drop to nearly the low figure touched on Nov. 3 will not escape attention. As far as individual stocks are concerned, American Tel. & Tel. (the dividend on which was declared on Nov. 16 at the old rate of $2.25 a share) sold up from 98⅝ Nov. 3 to 112¾ Nov. 12, with the close Nov. 30 at 102½. United States Steel sold up from 31⅛ Nov. 3 to 39¾ Nov. 11, and closed Nov. 30 at 31¾. J. I. Case Threshing Machine advanced from 31¾ Nov. 3 to 47⅛ Nov. 12, and closed Nov. 30 at 36. American Can advanced from 48 Nov. 3 to 57⅝ Nov. 12, and closed Nov. 30 at 49⅛. Allied Chemical & Dye was 67¾ Nov. 3 and 82½ Nov. 12, with the close Nov. 30 at 71¼. E. I. du Pont de Nemours rose from 31⅛ Nov. 3 to 39⅞ Nov. 12, and closed Nov. 30 at 34 ex-div. General Electric advanced from 14⅛ Nov. 3 to 18¼ Nov. 12, and closed Nov. 30 at 14⅛. Consolidated Gas of New York rose from 52½ Nov. 3 to 61¼ Nov. 12, and closed Nov. 30 at 55. North American advanced from 24½ Nov. 3 to 32 Nov. 12, and closed Nov. 30 at 25¾. Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing advanced from 22¼ Nov. 3 to 32 Nov. 12, and closed Nov. 30 at 24⅝. In the railroad list Atchison common moved up from 35¼ Nov. 2 to 47¾ Nov. 12, and closed Nov. 30 at 36⅞. New York Central got down to 19 Nov. 3, advanced to 26⅞ Nov. 12, and closed Nov. 30 at 21⅞, while Union Pacific rose from 57½ Nov. 3 to 76½ Nov. 12, and closed at 65 Nov. 30. The gold mining stocks pursued a course of their own, owing to the continued depreciation in silver and the depreciation also of the pound sterling, and so did the so-called brewery stocks, or shares of companies that seemed likely to benefit by the legalization of the manufacture and sale of beer. Among the former may be mentioned Homestake Mining, which shot up from 131 Nov. 2 to 162⅝ Nov. 29, and closed Nov. 30 at 160. In the other group may be mentioned Owens-Illinois Glass, which advanced from 29 Nov. 3 to 42¼ Nov. 10, though it fell back to 31⅝ at the close Nov. 30. Perhaps the fluctuation in one other stock ought to be mentioned, namely, the Radio Corporation of America. A sharp decline in this occurred, caused by the announcement that a consent decree had been entered into in the anti-trust suit against the company, and the companies which have been holding control of it, namely, the General Electric Co. and the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Co. The court order provides for the disposal of the holdings of the two latter companies, which together own 51 4/10% of the stock of the Radio Corp. by pro rata distribution to General Electric and Westinghouse stockholders, 50% of such holdings to be distributed within three months and the remaining 50% in three years. This meant, of course, a large increase ultimately in the floating supply of Radio, and, accordingly, the stock naturally moved down. From a high of 9 Radio stock tumbled to a low of 5⅝ Nov. 29, with the close Nov. 30 at 5⅝.

Trading during the month was of only moderate volume. On the New York Stock Exchange the transactions during the month aggregated 23,054,483 shares as against 37,355,208 shares in November 1931; 51,946,840 shares in 1930; 72,455,420 shares in 1929, and 115,360,075 shares in November 1928. On the New York Curb Exchange the business aggregated 3,263,964 shares in November 1932, which compare with 5,483,335 shares in 1931; 13,348,200 shares in 1930; 29,529,500 shares in 1929, and 36,695,100 shares in 1928. On the New York Stock Exchange 35 shares reached new low levels for 1932 during the month, and 31 shares new high levels, while on the New York Curb Exchange new low records for the year were established in the case of 51 stocks, and new high records in the case of 37 stocks.

The bond market was weak, as already noted, in the case of all the low-priced issues—very decidedly so—but displayed strength as far as the high-priced issues were concerned, and also in the case of United States Government issues. In the following table we show, as usual, the fluctuations in the different issues of United States obligations, and also a large list of railroad and industrial bonds and a considerable number likewise of foreign bond issues:

THE MONEY MARKET DURING NOVEMBER 1932.

Extreme ease was still the ruling characteristic of the New York money market, and whatever changes occurred in rates (which, however, were not numerous) were confined almost entirely to the quotations for commercial paper. These were towards still lower levels, though the previous rates were already at inordinately low depths. The New York Federal Reserve Bank, in its "Monthly Review" dated Dec. 1, says that the return of currency from hoarding was less rapid in November than during the preceding three months [This assumes that some money still remains hoarded, which would appear to be open to question.—Ed.] and currency movements were largely dominated in November by seasonal influences. As a consequence, the amount of bank reserves, after rising substantially from the latter part of July to the end of October, showed, it is stated, little change during November. The volume of member bank credit, we are told, also was maintained at a level close to that of late October. The weakening in European exchanges in the latter part of November, it is added, was accompanied by a renewed increase in the gold holdings of the United States, chiefly as a result of the release and sale to the New York Reserve Bank of gold previously earmarked for foreign account. These releases of earmarked gold amounted in November to $49,000,000, and together with imports of $20,000,000 and a smaller amount of domestic production resulted in a total increase of $76,000,000 in the monetary gold stock of the United States during November. Since the middle of June, it is pointed out, the country's gold stock has increased approximately $430,000,000, and the net loss of gold since the beginning of the year has been reduced to about $120,000,000. The gain of gold by the United States since June has resulted, it is explained, from a generally favorable balance of payments on the various merchandise and other transactions with other countries, rather than from a new accumulation of foreign short-term funds in this market.

In its further analysis the New York Reserve Bank goes on to say that by the beginning of November the total amount of member bank reserves had been restored to a level approximating that which was maintained for some time previous to the heavy currency withdrawals and gold outflow in the autumn of 1931. The factors in the restoration of member bank reserves to this level, it is declared, were gold imports and releases from earmarked, the unseasonal reduction in currency circulation since July and the increase in National bank notes outstanding. During November there were moderate seasonal withdrawals of currency, it is stated, from the banks at the beginning of the month, and again just before the Election Day and Thanksgiving Day holidays. "This currency demand, together with a small increase in member bank reserve requirements that accompanied a further growth of deposits, approximately offset the gain of gold during the month, and a small amount of additional National bank note issues. As a result, member bank excess reserves for the country as a whole showed only minor fluctuations during the month." The further observation is made that "in New York the reserves of member banks were reduced approximately $90,000,000 during the early part of November, due in part to seasonal currency demands, and more largely to an outflow of funds to other districts, which resulted partly from commercial transactions and partly from Treasury operations. Subsequently, however, the reserves of the New York banks were increased substantially by the proceeds of the gold movement, together with a return flow of funds from other districts, but the excess reserves of these banks did not regain the high level reached at the end of October."

The foregoing deals with the technical consideration affecting the course of money movements, but the underlying source of weakness in the money market was the same as in previous months, namely, that there was no demand for banking accommodation on the part of either the mercantile or the financial world or the security markets, that Stock Exchange speculation was absolutely dormant, that prices were falling and were down to abnormally low levels, both in the commodity and the security markets, while on the other hand there was a huge congestion of unemployed funds at the great financial centers, in part resulting from the absence of demand for the reasons enumerated, but also in no inconsiderable degree due to the Federal Reserve policy of acquiring enormous amounts of United States Government obligations which were coming upon the market in growing volume because of the heavy budget deficits of the Federal Government and paying for the same with Federal Reserve credit.

The changes in money rates during November were not important, as already stated, but where any occurred they were towards still lower levels than those previously prevailing. On call loans at the Stock Exchange there was again no deviation from the established figure of 1% per annum, but outside the Stock Exchange loans were all the time available at ½ or ¾ of 1% per annum. The time loan rate on security collateral also remained unchanged at previous figures, namely, at ½ of 1% per annum for 60 to 90 days, ¾ of 1% for four months and 1% for five to six months, though these quotations were almost entirely nominal, there having been little or no demand for this class of accommodation, and only an occasional actual transaction being reported. For commercial paper, quotations for choice names of four to six months' maturity fell from a range of 1¾@2% to 1½@1¾%. This occurred in the early part of November, and the New York Reserve Bank is authority for the statement that shortly after this general reduction in the rate for the usual grade of prime paper, some high-class paper of the ordinary four to six months' maturity began to be offered and sold at 1¼%, and some sales of choice paper of less than 90-day maturity were negotiated at 1%. As for many months back, the investment demand from the banks for high-grade commercial paper greatly exceeded the amount of this type of paper which the dealers were able to obtain from the class of commercial and industrial concerns using the open market, and consequently the total turnover in the market remained of limited proportions. Reports received by the New York Reserve Bank from commercial paper dealers showed a small increase in the volume of commercial paper outstanding during October, the amount Oct. 31 being reported at $113,200,000 as against $110,100,000 on Sept. 30, but comparing with $213,000,000 on Oct. 31 of the previous year. The New York Reserve institution also found a reduction of nearly ½ of 1% in the average rates charged by New York City banks on commercial loans made directly to their customers. In other words, at the middle of November the charge averaged 3.54% as against 3.96% at the middle of October, while 12 months before, on Nov. 15 1931, the charge averaged 4.50%.

No change whatever occurred during November in open market rates for bankers' acceptances. There was at all times an active demand for bills, but supplies of bills were very scarce, inasmuch as the accepting banks retained the greater part of their acceptances within their own vaults, leaving an extreme paucity of bills for outside investors. The American Acceptance Council on Nov. 17 made public its usual monthly compilation, and this showed an increase of $15,000,000 in the volume of acceptances outstanding during October, the amount at Oct. 31 being reported at $698,620,369 as against $683,189,146 on Sept. 30, but 12 months before, on Oct. 31 1931, the amount still stood at $1,039,784,979. The amount of bills held by accepting banks increased from $572,000,000 at the end of September to $605,000,000 at the end of October, this being made up of $198,600,000 in own bills held and $406,400,000 of bills of other banks purchased for investment. It will be observed that with no more than $698,620,369 of bills outstanding, the accepting banks' holdings at $605,000,000 constituted 87% of the whole. Open market rates for acceptances continued unaltered throughout the month at the figures established on Oct. 13, namely, at ⅝ of 1% bid and ½ of 1% asked for bills running 30 days, 60 days, and 90 days; ¾% bid and ⅝ of 1% asked for bills running 120 days, and 1% bid and ⅞ of 1% asked for maturities of 150 and 180 days. The buying rates of the Federal Reserve banks for acceptances also remained as before, that is, at 1% for maturities of one to 90 days, 1⅛% for 91 to 120 days, and 1¼% for maturities from 121 to 180 days. At these figures virtually no bills found their way into the Reserve banks, which reported their holdings Nov. 30 at $34,880,000 against $33,695,000 Oct. 26, the total in each case, however, being made up mainly of foreign bills. Taking the latest figures available the amount of these foreign bills stood at $30,659,000 Oct. 31 against $30,849,000 on Sept. 30. The holdings of the Reserve institutions of acceptances for account of foreign central banks further declined during the month from $37,993,000 Oct. 26 to $32,329,000 Nov. 30.

There were again no changes during the month in the rediscount rates of any of the 12 Federal Reserve banks, these remaining at 3½% everywhere except at New York and Chicago, where the rate remained at only 2½%.

THE RETURNS OF THE FEDERAL RESERVE BANKS—BROKERS' LOANS IN NEW YORK CITY.

Changes in the condition statements of the Federal Reserve banks during November were slight and without special import. The volume of Federal Reserve notes in circulation increased the early part of the month, when there was a demand in connection with the Election Day holiday, but decreased the latter part of the month in face of the holiday demand in connection with Thanksgiving Day. From $2,688,871,000 Oct. 26 the amount of Federal Reserve notes in actual circulation increased to $2,715,299,000 Nov. 9, and then fell back to $2,692,286,000 Nov. 30. Federal Reserve credit outstanding, as measured by the bill and security holdings, changed irregularly and narrowly, the changes apparently carrying no special significance, the amount Nov. 30 at $2,200,030.000 comparing with $2,212,391,000 Oct. 26. The different groups of items making up the totals also showed relatively unimportant changes. Thus the holdings of United States Government securities stood at $1,850,766,000 Nov. 30 and at $1,850,949,000 on Oct. 26. In like manner the acceptances holdings (made up mainly of foreign bills which have to be constantly renewed) were reported at $34,880.000 Nov. 30 and at $33,695,000 on Oct. 26. The discount holdings, representing direct borrowing by the member banks, were somewhat smaller at $308,973,000 Nov. 30 as against $322,322,000 Oct. 26. Gold reserves increased in every week except the final week of the month as a result of the large imports of the metal and the release of gold held here under earmark for account of foreign central banks. From $2,092,623,000 Oct. 26 the gold holdings of the 12 Reserve banks increased to $3,053,152,000 Nov. 23, with the amount Nov. 30 $3,049,324,000. With gold reserves larger and the volume of Reserve notes in circulation smaller, the effect was to raise the ratio of reserves to liabilities, though, on the other hand, the deposit liabilities increased with the growth in member bank reserves. Some increase also occurred in the deposits of foreign banks kept with the Reserve institutions. The total of deposits of all kinds stood at $2,484,226,000 Nov. 30 as against $2,469,993,000 Oct. 26. Foreign bank deposits increased from $9,852,000 Oct. 26 to $29,869,000 Nov. 23, and were $25,947,000 on Nov. 30. As a result of all this the ratio of total reserves to deposits and Federal Reserve note liabilities combined was 62.6% Nov. 30 as against 61.9% Oct. 26. The increase in foreign bank deposits appeared to follow, in part at least, from the further diminution in the acceptance holdings for foreign central banks, the amount of these holdings for foreign account Nov. 30 being $32,329,000 as against $37,993.000 Oct. 26, and no less than $134,053,000 on Dec. 2 of the previous year. The amount of United States Government securities held as part collateral for Federal Reserve notes was reduced from $451,200,000 Oct. 26 to $414,400,000 Nov. 30.

As to brokers' loans in New York City these remained small, with unimportant changes from week to week, and with the amount Nov. 30 $353,000,000 as against $352,000,000 Oct. 26, these figures being derived from the weekly compilations of the New York Federal Reserve Bank. As to the monthly returns of the New York Stock Exchange, these showed that borrowings of Stock Exchange members on collateral, contracted for and carried in New York as of the close of business Nov. 30, aggregated $337,612,558, which compared with $324.702.199 Oct. 31, but with $379.801.583 on Sept. 30, and no less than $1,040,407.879 on Sept. 30 of the previous year.

COURSE OF STERLING EXCHANGE DURING NOVEMBER.

The feature of sterling exchange during November was the further startling collapse in the value of the British currency unit, the pound sterling, following the bad break in October. But far worse than that, the value of the pound tumbled to figures so low that all the bad records in that respect in the past were broken, even that which previously had stood as the minimum, namely, the post-war low of $3.18, reached on Feb. 4 1920. The last half of the month the sterling rate touched new low levels almost every day, the decline reaching sensational proportions, sometimes as much as 3 to 4c. to the pound in a single day, the Bank of England and the British authorities apparently extending no support whatever. This is the season of the year when the pressure on nearly all the leading European currencies is severe by reason of trade considerations, and in the absence of support the sterling rate kept dipping lower and still lower in striking fashion. The agitation of the question of debt payments to the United States from which the British Government and the French Government and some other minor countries asked relief accentuated the weakness. The British Government, in a note dated Nov. 10, asked for a suspension of the payments due to the United States on Dec. 15, amounting to $95,550,000, and for a reconsideration of the whole question of intergovernmental debt payments, with the view to their complete cancellation, was potent mainly as a depressing influence by inducing drives against the sterling rate by some bear operators, but while this served to accentuate the drop it cannot be said to have been the underlying cause of it. The main reason for the utter collapse was that the British Government not only undertook to minimize the constant depreciation in the value of the pound, but actually appeared to be indifferent to it and wholly without concern regarding it. As one evidence of this, Neville Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, in a speech in London on Nov. 23, took occasion to say that there was nothing extraordinary about the low current quotation for sterling which he averred should cause neither doubt nor anxiety. "In the first place, at this season, when remittances have to be made for purchases overseas, there is always seasonal pressure upon us. When we were on the gold standard the result was that we were accustomed to lose gold in the autumn. Now that we are off gold the same cause is reflected in the drop in sterling." And this was the attitude that had been manifested for a long time previously, at least back to the beginning of the summer. What was worse, was that during the interval since then the British authorities kept iterating and reiterating that there was no intention of an early return to the gold standard which was diametrically opposite to the belief which prevailed throughout the whole financial world in the spring of 1932 and which carried the value of the pound up to $3.83¾ on March 28, an advance of 59½c. from the low figure of $3.24¼ reached on Dec. 7 1931. Then suggestions of an early return to the gold basis began to be deprecated, British statesmen even seeing an advantage in a depreciated British currency unit because it facilitated trade with the Far East. Thereupon the pound began its downward descent which eventuated in the collapse of the rate in October, and was now followed by the still greater collapse in November. The final blow was dealt the pound when at the conclusion of the Ottawa conference in the early part of August Neville Chamberlain flatfootedly declared that there was not the remotest chance of a return by Great Britain to the gold standard in the near future. This was long before the question of the debt payments became a live subject.

Confirmation of all this is found in the fact that the pound touched a new low figure with each succeeding month after last April. It touched a low of $3.65¾ on May 2 of 3.58⅞ on June 30, of $3.49½ on July 29, of $3.44¾ on Aug. 6 of $3.44 11-16 on Sept. 30, of $3.27¼ on Oct. 26 and finally of $3.14½ on Nov. 29. We have discussed this phase of the subject in our general remarks in the early portion of this article but deem it important to emphasize here the fact that the complete break-down of the pound sterling cannot be ascribed to the prospect that Great Britain might have to make, or conclude to make, arrangements to meet the December installments of the payments to the United States. It is the long train of circumstances preceding the dispatch of the British and French notes to the United States that must be accepted as accounting for the eventual utter collapse. Very naturally as the financial public commenced to realize that the date for the resumption of gold payments, was getting farther and farther away, distrust began to deepen and this in itself was sufficient to keep sterling on its downward course.

Dealing specifically with the course of sterling exchange during the month of November, it deserves to be noted that beginning with the middle of the month the trend was almost uninterruptedly downward. On Nov. 14, there was a temporary upward spurt and cable transfers on London reached the highest figure of the month at $3.34⅜, but the next day (Nov. 15) the rate dropped to $3.31⅝; on Nov. 16 it fell to $3.30½ and on Nov. 17 to $3.27¾; on Nov. 18 and Nov. 19 there was a slight rebound to a higher level, the low point on the 18th having been $3.28¾ and on Nov. 19 $3.28⅝. Thereafter the course was again downward, a new low figure being recorded with each succeeding day, with one exception, until Nov. 29. On Nov. 21 the low point was $3.27; on Nov. 22, $3.26⅜; on Nov. 23, $3.25⅛; on Nov. 25, $3.20 3/8; on Nov. 26, $3.21 1/8; on Nov. 28, $3.17 5/8 and on Nov. 29, $3.14 1/2, this last establishing a new low record in all time. On Nov. 30, a sharp recovery ensued, with the range for the day $3.19@$3.20 3/4.

Coincident with the collapse in the pound, silver prices dropped to record low quotations in New York, though not in London. On Nov. 29 the New York price for the metal was 25 3/8 cents, from which there was an upward reaction to 25 1/2 cents on Nov. 30, but with a drop to still lower figures in the early days of December. In London there was a drop to 17 13-16d. per oz. on Nov. 28, but with a recovery to 17 7/8d. on Nov. 29 and Nov. 30, this, however, being in the depreciated value of the pound. Last April, May, June and July the London price frequently ruled below 17d. per ounce. Of course, with the English pound dropping constantly lower the price for gold in London shot up to new high levels, it selling at 128s. 4d. on Nov. 28; 129s. 3 1/2d. on Nov. 29, and 130s. 8d. on Nov. 30, from which there was a drop to 127s. 8 1/2d. on Dec. 1.

London, besides its other troubles, had some heavy payments to arrange for at the close of November, though there was no evidence that these affected the sterling rate unfavorably. On Nov. 30 there was a heavy turnover in London, estimated at approximately £700,000,000, which was paid by the Bank of England on Government loan operations in addition to ordinary transactions. The chief disbursement consisted of repayment of the principal of the unconverted 5% war loan amounting to approximately £165,000,000, the balance outstanding of £13,000,000 of the 4 1/2% war loan, £140,000,000 of the 4 1/2% treasury bonds and £50,000,000 war loan interest. The chief payments to the Bank comprised approximately £157,700,000 installment due on the new 3% conversion loan and £142,500,000 for the final installment on 2% Treasury bonds. This turnover is believed to have been the largest ever made in London. Preparations were so carefully planned, however, that the whole proceedings had only slight effect on the money market, which nevertheless had been firming up during November so that discounts in the London open market for short bills on Nov. 30 were quoted at 7/8 @ 15-16 of 1% against 1/2 to 3/4% at the end of October and at 15-16@1% for three months' bills as against 3/4@13-16% on Oct. 31. The Bank of England showed only slight changes in its gold holdings from week to week the same as in preceding months. For the week ended Nov. 9 it showed a loss of £16,965; in the week ended Nov. 16 a gain of £8,313; in the week ended Nov. 23 a loss of £26,072 and in the week ended Nov. 30, a loss of £7,513. What the changes were in the gold and exchange holdings of the Exchange Equalization Fund has not transpired. There were further gold shipments to the United States of $2,400,000 from England during November. As to the gold movements into and out of the United States as a whole the following is the outline furnished by the New York Federal Reserve Bank in the usual form.

"During the month of November the monetary gold stock of the United States rose about $76,000,000 further, or slightly more than the October increase. From the mid-June low point there has been a gain of about $430,000,000 to this country's gold stock, representing a recovery of approximately three-quarters of the loss during the first part of this year, and of about 40% of the decline between September 1931 and June 1932.

"Gold released from earmark accounts of foreign central banks contributed the larger part of the gain during November; about $48,600,000 was so released and most of the proceeds were paid out in the New York money market. In addition, imports of gold at New York totaled $16,600,000, of which $5,200,000 came from Canada, $4,900,000 from India, $2,400,000 from England, $1,500,000 from Holland, $990,000 from Newfoundland, $625,000 from Mexico, and $350,000 from Uruguay. At San Francisco, $2,900,000 was imported from China and $490,000 from Australia."

It will be observed from the foregoing that the largest imports of the month, to amount of $5,200,000, came from Canada. And the fact is that the Canadian dollar became more and more depreciated as the month progressed, until on Nov. 29 it was quoted at a discount of 16 3/8% as against 9 5/8% on Nov. 1; on Nov. 30 the rate was a little better, with the discount, however, still 14 3/4%.

THE CONTINENTAL AND OTHER FOREIGN EXCHANGES.

The exchanges on the Continental centres of Europe were all under the influence of the collapse in the sterling rate and were weak and lower in common with sterling. This was so even as regards the French franc, which for so long has been inclined to pursue a course of its own. Cable transfers on Paris in the early days of November were still quoted at 3.93c. and a small fraction above. At the close of the month the rate was down to 3.90 3/4@3.91. The par of the French franc is 3.92. The French franc and the other Continental units were under seasonal pressure, the same as the pound sterling, and the agitation of the question of inter-governmental debt payments, with the uncertainty as to whether the Dec. 15 instalments due by the Allied countries to the United States would have to be met, thereby necessitating arrangements to that end through the foreign exchanges and possibly some direct shipments of gold to the United States, proved an unsettling influence all around, but far and beyond all this, the way the value of the pound sterling kept melting away, in and by itself acted powerfully to pull exchange rates down all around. The latter part of November no currency unit anywhere was at par with the American dollar, and when the French franc dropped below 3.91c. rumors began to spring up of probable gold shipments from France to this country. However, bankers pointed out that the rate would have to drop much lower before such a movement could be undertaken with profit. As it happened, on Nov. 1 the freight rate on westbound gold shipments was increased so as to make it identical with the rate on eastbound shipments. The effect of the higher charge was to lower the gold import points from the Continent. The theoretical point at which French francs could be shipped without loss was calculated as about 3.90 3/4c. for those institutions having unusual facilities. In other quarters it was estimated that the gold import point was about 3.90 1/8 to 3.90 1/4. But even though the rate might sink below the import point of gold from Paris, the movement might yet be suspended, it was felt in certain quarters, inasmuch as the temper of public opinion in France at the moment was such that an outcry of popular protest might be aroused. Editorial comment in the Paris newspapers was almost uniformly opposed to the payment of the Dec. 15 maturities to the United States, and in such circumstances shipments of gold would in the popular mind be connected with the payment of the December instalment due from France. Nevertheless, in certain banking circles it was felt to be only a matter of time when the French franc could no longer be defended by means of the release of gold held here under earmark for French account, and when, hence, actual gold shipments would become a necessity. The Bank of France in the meantime kept making further additions to its huge stocks of the metal. In the week ended Nov. 4 it reported a gain of 126,809,757 francs; in the week ended Nov. 11 a gain of 197,623,991 francs; in the week ended Nov. 18 a gain of 74,843,125 francs; in the week ended Nov. 25 a gain of 33,275,388, and in the week ended Dec. 2 a gain of 18,000,000 francs.

The German mark was perhaps least affected by the weakness of the pound sterling and of other currency units, in part, of course, because foreign exchange in Germany is under the strict control and regulation of the Reichsbank, but also because the ituation of the Reichsbank appears to be improving. The inconclusive nature of the general election in Germany on Sunday, Nov. 6, with the subsequent resignation of the von Papen Ministry, and with the later appointment by President von Hindenburg of General Kurt von Schleicher as Chancellor, who was Reichswehr Minister in the von Papen Cabinet and is to be his own Minister of Defense in the new Cabinet, appeared to be without influence in the foreign exchange and general financial situation. As a matter of fact, German exchange actually showed an advancing tendency and cable transfers on Berlin on Nov. 30 were made at 23.76@23.77 1/2 against 23.74 1/2@23.75 1/2 on Nov. 1. On Nov. 16 the range was as high as 23.77 1/2@23.80. On Nov. 14 the Bank for International Settlements extended for another three months the credit of $90,000,000 advanced to Germany, the extension being subject to the approval of the central banks of France and England and the Federal Reserve banks of the United States, which approval was obviously a matter of course. The credit was opened originally on June 26 1931, in the amount of $100,000,000, and has had to be repeatedly renewed since then. The Bank of Germany in its statement for the first quarter of November reported a decrease in gold and bullion of 31,000 marks, in that for the second quarter a gain of 7,869,000 marks, in the third quarter a loss of 6,542,000 marks, and a gain of 8,619,000 marks in the final quarter of the month. Note circulation decreased 117,811,000 marks in the first quarter, 88,655,000 marks in the second quarter, 107,332,000 marks in the third quarter, but with an expansion of 224,906,000 marks in the fourth quarter of the month.

Austrian exchange was, as usual, without changes of consequence, with cable transfers quoted Nov. 30 at 13.94 1/2 @14.11, the same as on Nov. 1. Announcement was made Nov. 24 by the trustees of the Austrian Government guaranteed loan of 1923-1925 floated under the auspices of the League of Nations that with the failure of the Austrian Government to remit on the four monthly instalments due on the service of the loan since July 1, they had been obliged to draw on the reserve account to meet the half-yearly coupon due Dec. 1. J. & W. Seligman & Co. as fiscal agents notified holders of the Province of Lower Austria secured sinking fund 7 1/2% gold bonds that owing to foreign exchange regulations now in effect in Austria no funds are available for the payment in dollars of interest coupons maturing Dec. 1. The fiscal agents were advised that the Province had deposited with the Austrian National Bank an amount in Austrian schillings equivalent to the dollar amount required to pay in full the interest and sinking fund charges due Dec. 1 and that coupon holders who are willing to accept payment of their coupons in schillings subject to the Austrian foreign exchange restrictions on the use of schillings could forward their coupons to the Lower Austrian Discount Bank in Vienna for payment.

Speyer & Co. and the J. Henry Schroder Banking Corp. announced on Nov. 8 that they had received as trustees of Kingdom of Bulgaria 7 1/2% stabilization loan of 1928 funds to pay 50% of the Nov. 15 coupons. Early the next month (Dec. 2) the same bankers announced that as fiscal agents for the two Bulgarian League loans they had received a communique issued by the League Loans Committee (London) on Nov. 21 respecting the Bulgarian 7% Refugee Settlement Loan of 1926 and the Bulgarian 7½% Stabilization Loan of 1928. The communique pointed out that under the arrangement in the communique issued by the League Loans Committee (London) on July 22 1932, the Bulgarian Government undertook to transfer 50% of the service of the two Bulgarian League loans up until Sept. 30 1932. Since then, pending a new arrangement, the Bulgarian Government had continued to transfer 50% of the monthly service up to and including the payment due Nov. 15. But as the Bulgarian budget and exchange have now grown still worse, the Bulgarian representatives had asked for further alleviation of the debt service. Accordingly a proposal had been accepted that the Bulgarian Government transfer a sufficient sum to make up 40% of the service of the two Bulgarian League loans, November 1932 to April 1933 inclusive—the remaining 60% of the service to be invested in levs in Bulgaria in the manner approved by the League financial committee.

Default on two Yugoslavian dollar loans aggregating $45,250,000 was announced Nov. 1, when interest and sinking fund payments due on that date were lacking. Like other Central European government defaults on external loans, this one was due to the inability of the authorities to obtain the necessary foreign exchange for the payments. Yugoslavia attempted to overcome this obstacle by negotiating a further loan in France, but the efforts were unsuccessful. The defaulted dollar loans comprise $30,000,000 7% bonds and $15,250,000 8% bonds, both issued in 1922 and due 1962. Dr. Milan Georgevitch, Finance Minister, announced the defaults through bankers here, and he indicated at the same time that the sums due had been deposited in dinars in a special blocked account of the National Bank of Yugoslavia. "The Government wishes to assure holders of these bonds," he said, "that its failure to make the present payment arises from circumstances entirely beyond its control. As a result of the world-wide financial and economic crisis, which has been particularly acute in Central Europe, foreign trade, tourist traffic, emigrant remittances and other activities from which means of effecting international payments are normally derived have suffered a substantial reduction. The cessation of reparations payments and lack of foreign capital have further diminished the foreign balances usually available for payments on the external debt. The Minister of Finance is desirous of arranging such temporary measures as can be taken during the present abnormal period in the best interests of bondholders. The Government does not desire to impair its obligations, but rather to find some method of meeting the present crisis."

Speyer & Co., the National City Co. and J. & W. Seligman & Co. announced early in November that the $7,500,000 Greek Government 6% secured Treasury gold notes had been extended to May 4 1933, with interest at the same rate, all holders having agreed to this extension.

Italian exchange, which had held pretty steady in previous months, showed some weakness toward the end of November, in common with the general downward tendency of all the exchanges, though the decline may have been somewhat accentuated by preparations to meet the debt instalment due the United States on Dec. 15, which, it was announced, would be made by the Italian Government, though the amount due was relatively small, $1,245,437. The lire on cable transfers was quoted at 5.07¼@5.07⅝ Nov. 30 against 5.11¾@5.12⅛ Nov. 1.

Rates on the Continental centres of the countries which remained neutral during the war, all moved lower in common with the general downward trend. The Scandinavian exchanges suffered most severely, inasmuch as these always follow more or less in the wake of the pound sterling, though on this occasion the Swedish crown, for some unexplained reason, actually moved higher. The Danish crown for cable transfers was down to 16.64@16.70 Nov. 30, as against 17.14½@17.26 Nov. 1, and the Norwegian crown ranged at 16.44@16.50 Nov. 30 as against 16.78@16.88 Nov. 1. On the other hand, the Swedish crown on cable transfers was 17.42@17.50 Nov. 30 as against 17.22@17.36 Nov. 1, and at one time (Nov. 14) sold as high as 17.64@17.70. Sweden extended the period of gold suspension to March 1 1933 and Norway and Denmark were expected to do the same. These Scandinavian countries passed off the gold standard in September 1931, in response to similar action by Great Britain. Swiss francs and Holland guilders followed the general downward trend, both being adversely affected by the break in sterling exchange, though in part also suffering from seasonal pressure and likewise a movement of funds from Holland and Switzerland to other markets for more profitable employment. Swiss francs on cable transfers were 19.22½@19.23 Nov. 30 as against 19.27½@19.29 Nov. 1. Dutch guilders for cable transfers were 40.19@40.20 Nov. 30 against 40.20½@40.24½ Nov. 1. The Dutch guilder showed a rising tendency in the early days of the month, and after dipping quite low during the middle of the month, in part as a result of seasonal pressure and in part owing to transfers to other markets, recovered the latter part of the month. Spanish pesetas moved within a narrow limit, with the range Nov. 30 8.16@8.17 against 8.19@8.19½ Nov. 1.

Exchange on South American countries was devoid of any new features, with the quotations nominal, the same as in previous months, all foreign exchange operations being under the control of Government boards. One development of the month was the announcement from Buenos Aires that Otto Niemeyer, Vice-President of the Bank of England and recently financial adviser to the Australian and Brazilian Governments, had been engaged to make a study of financial and economic conditions in Argentina. Sir Otto was retained as the result of the request forwarded by Finance Minister Alberto Hueyo to Dr. Juan Malbran, Argentine Ambassador to England. In tendering the services of Sir Otto, Montagu Norman, Governor of the Bank of England, stated that the Bank was desirous of being in some way connected with a central bank of Argentina which might be created. The engagement of foreign counsel followed the resignation of five members of an honorary advisory board whose advice was rejected by Senor Hueyo.

In rates on the Far East the feature was a further severe break in the Japanese yen and general weakness in the rates on the silver-using countries, owing to a new decline in the price of silver. The Japanese yen for checks was down to 19.94@20.20 Nov. 29, as against 21.09@21.50 Nov. 1. The Japanese authorities had appeared to be indifferent to the continued shrinkage in the exchange value of the yen, but were finally spurred to action as the Japanese unit moved lower and still lower. On Nov. 24 a wireless message from Tokio to the New York "Times" stated that the Japanese Government had taken measures on that day to protect the yen from attacks of speculators by undertaking to learn their identity. Banks were ordered to make daily reports of all transactions in yen exchange, with the amount, the rate and the reason for the transaction. Tael on Shanghai for checks were quoted at 28.11@28.50 Nov. 30, against 29.67@30 1-16 Nov. 1. The Hong Kong dollar for checks was quoted at 21.59@22 1-16 Nov. 30, against 22.66@23 1-16 Nov. 1. The rupee on Bombay for checks suffered, of course, from the collapse of the pound sterling, leaving the quotation 24.10@24 5-16 Nov. 30, against 24.88@25 1-16 Nov. 1. The price of silver in London, as related elsewhere, suffered a further decline and Nov. 30 was quoted at 17⅞ pence per ounce, against 18⅛ pence on Oct. 31. But the decline in the London price was not so striking as the decline in New York, since the London price is quoted in depreciated sterling, while the price in the New York market is on a gold basis. The New York price Nov. 30 was 25½c. an ounce and Nov. 29 25⅜c., as against 26⅞c. on Oct. 31. these being the lowest quotations ever recorded in the New York market. In London, on the other hand, quotations in April, May and June were frequently below 17 pence, against the 17⅞ pence ruling at the end of November.

The tables on pages 18 to 40 furnish a complete record of the transactions on the New York Stock Exchange during November and range since Jan. 1. They need no extended introduction, as they are self-explanatory. The tables embrace every security dealt in on the Exchange. We give bonds first, using the classification adopted in the official list. The black-faced letters in the column headed "Interest Period" indicate in each case the month when the bonds mature.

In accordance with the rule adopted by the New York Stock Exchange in 1909, all quotations for interest-paying bonds are at a price to which accrued interest must be added. The exceptions to the rule are income bonds and bonds on which interest is in default. A few other bonds, like the Holland-American Line 6s, for special reasons, are also quoted "flat," but where this is the case the quotation "flat" will be found against the name of the issue. This method of quoting bonds became effective Jan. 2 1909.

For footnotes to tables see last page of bonds and last page of stocks.

NOTE.—State and City Securities.—Sales of State and City securities occur very rarely on the New York Stock Exchange and usually only at long intervals, dealings in such securities being almost entirely at private sale over the counter. The Stock Exchange record hence is imperfect and misleading, and accordingly we omit it here. Bid and Asked quotations, however, by active dealers in these securities will be found on a subsequent page under the general head of "U. S. & Municipal Bonds."

General Quotations

OF BONDS AND STOCKS

In the earlier part of this publication complete records of the dealings on the leading stock exchanges of the country, for the latest month and for the calendar year to date, are furnished. In this department of General Quotations we combine in one comprehensive whole, securities of all classes and descriptions, not only those dealt in on the exchanges, but also leading unlisted and inactive securities. The following is an index to the different classes of securities quoted:

Quotations from all Stock Exchanges are as near as possible for the closing day of the month preceding the date of issue. As the New York Stock Exchange began with Jan. 2 1909 to quote all bond prices "and interest," we have adopted the same method and no longer employ a designating mark to indicate the fact except where there is a deviation from this rule. The reader will understand, therefore, that unless the letter "f" is prefixed to the price, he must pay accrued interest in addition to the price. This, however, does not apply to income bonds or bonds in default, in which cases the price includes the interest, should there be any.

The letter "f" prefixed to bond prices denotes that the quotation is a flat price—that is, that the accrued interest forms part of the price, and therefore the purchaser does not have to provide for it separately in making payment. As already stated in the case of income bonds and bonds in default, the price is always "flat," and no designating mark is employed to indicate the fact.

Quotations for equipment bonds are based on average maturities

Quotations for guaranteed stocks are "and dividend"; that is, the accrued dividend must be paid in addition to the price. Stock prices marked thus (d) are per share. All others are per cent except bank stock prices, which are quoted per share unless otherwise stated.

It should be borne in mind in the use of these tables that the quotations for many inactive and unlisted securities are merely nominal, but in all cases the figures are obtained from sources which are considered reliable.

The following abbreviations are often used, viz.: "M" for mortgage, "g" for gold, "gu" for guaranteed, "end" for endorsed, "cons" for consolidated conv" for convertible, "s f" for sinking fund, "l g" for land grant, "op" for optional.

The black-faced type in the letters showing the interest period indicates the month when the bonds mature.

NOTICE.—All bond prices are "and interest" except where marked "f" and income and defaulted bonds.

Industrial and Miscellaneous Securities

Under the heading "Industrial and Miscellaneous Securities" we include all issues which do not appear under the previous two headings, namely "Railroads (Steam)" and "Public Utilities." In the case of stocks, however, we put "Textile Manufacturing," "Insurance," "Mining," "Real Estate and Land," "Title Guarantee and Safe Deposit Companies" under separate heads, then follow with the rest of the "Industrial and Miscellaneous."

NOTICE.—All bond prices are "and interest" except where marked "f" and income and defaulted bonds.

United States and Municipal Bonds

In reporting below prices for State and municipal securities, we give bid and asked quotations wherever they can be obtained. The custom, however, is to quote municipal securities on the basis of the return they yield per annum. Therefore in most cases it will be found that instead of actual prices we have inserted in the column headed "To Net" certain figures to indicate the interest rate at which business in the bonds is being done. Thus 4.35% means that the particular security can be bought or sold at a price that will yield the purchaser or seller 4.35% per annum to the maturity of the issue. Where two figures appear, as for instance "4.25% to 4.35%," the rate of return varies according to the maturity—the shorter maturities yielding the lowest rate, and the longer maturities yielding the highest return.

In State and municipal bonds the custom has always been to quote them "and interest." That is, the accrued interest must in all cases be added on.

Note.—Owing to the present demoralized condition of the municipal bond markets, brokers and dealers find it difficult, and in many cases, almost impossible to make quotations for municipal bonds Bid prices, especially for the smaller municipalities are practically out of the question and sales or terms are simply a matter of bargaining between buyer and seller In fact the absolute lack of demand often causes good bonds to be offered at almost any price.

STATE AND NATIONAL BANK STATEMENTS

Quotations in this department are given per share, not per cent, except for stocks of Canadian Institutions, and are as near as possible for the closing day of the month preceding date of issue, though often are nominal. An asterisk (*) denotes sales.

Figures of deposits, capital and profits for the National banks are from the Comptroller's last call; for all other institutions they are the latest obtainable, direct returns being procured by us where no periodic statements are required. For the Clearing House banks of New York, Philadelphia and Boston, deposits are taken from the latest weekly statement.
